No. 31,335

PARIS, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 18, 1983

ESTABLISHED 1887

MOUNTING GUARD — British police patrol the fence surrounding Greenham Common air base to deter protests against the U.S. cruise missiles that arrived there this week.

U.S., Soviet Continue Nuclear Talks But Russian Walkout Is Still Possible

By John Vinocur New York Times Service

GENEVA - U.S. and Soviet negotiators met Thursday for the 104th plenary session of their talks on intermediate-range nuclear weapons, their second meeting since the first delivery of new U.S. missiles to Europe, and agreed to hold another round of discussions

As usual, the negotiators made no substantive comments on the course of the discussions, but Pani H. Nitze, the chief U.S. delegate, said, "we're contiming." The nego-tiators had also met for a 35-minute missiles, part of a planned 572 ing it unclear whether the Russians cruise and Pershing-2s destined for are talking about the arrival, the Western Europe, arrived Monday in Britain. The Soviet Union has repeatedly warned that it would break off the talks if the U.S. deployment started and said it would take countermeasures, such as basing its own missiles in other Warsaw Pact countries.

Over the past few weeks, Ameri- is favorable, would not be opera-can and West European officials tional until late December. In Italy, have speculated that next Wednesday's session here could be the last in December are not expected to be in the current round of talks.

The most conclusive indication ments by Soviet representatives that the talks would be senseless ganization began stationing the cruise and Pershing-2s it regards as a counterweight to the Soviet SS-20s already in place.

Soviet comments about the circumstances in which the talks could end have been made since the negotiations began almost two years ago, and have been repeated as recently as last month.

But, for some analysts, there has been imprecision in the language of the Soviet public statements, leavdeployment or the operational capability of the weapons.

The cruise missiles that have arrived in Britain are not yet opera-tional. Pershing-2 missiles, to be deployed in West Germany if a vote following a debate in the Bun-destag next Monday and Tuesday is favorable, would not be opera-

If the Soviet Union is to follow that the Soviet Union might abant the line it has developed in public, don the discussions in their current then leaving the talks after next form has come in frequent statements by Soviet representatives pear, for some analysts, to have the that the talks would be senseless advantage of consistency, while once the North Atlantic Treaty Or-ganization began stationing the disapproval of the West German decision to deploy the missiles, re-garded as a virtual certainty.

**R

Although NATO experts have repeatedly said that they expect some kind of Soviet suspension, they also note that a basic aspect of the original Soviet position on in-termediate-range weapons has al-ready changed although the Rus-sians had insisted it was final. After NATO decided in December 1979 to deploy Pershing-2 and cruise missiles if adequate reductions in the Soviet SS-20s could not be negotiated by the end of 1983, the Russians said that they would never negotiate on the issue. But, within months, the Soviet decision was reversed and steps were taken by the end of 1980 to start the current Geneva talks. Under the circumstances, NATO has reasoned that once the deployment has been taken as a fait accompli by the Russians, and the effectiveness of the implicit threats accompany-

(Continued on Page 2, Col. 1)

Opposition In Bonn Set To Reject Missiles

By Henry Tanner

BONN --- A large majority of the delegates to the Social Democratic Party's special congress in Cologne will vote Friday and Saturday against the deployment of Ameri-can Pershing-2 and cruise missiles in West Germany. A one-sided vote had been forehadowed in statements by party leaders and resolutions passed by regional party assemblies in every part of the country. And on Thursday the party's national committee voted, 27 to 5, against the missiles. Former Chancellor Helmut Schmidt voted with the minority This means that West Germany's second largest party, which was in power until a year ago, is breaking ranks with the declared policies of the governments of all the NATO countries and is breaking also with its own past.

Mr. Schmidt, when he was chancellor, was one of the chief authors of the 1979 NATO "double-track decision," which called for Soviet-American negotiations and deployment of the new missiles by the end of this year if the talks failed.

Mr. Schmidt now is virtually isolated within his own party. Even such close friends and associates as former Defense Minister Hans Apel are expected to vote "no," Richard Löwenthal of Berlin, one of the party's venerated "wise old men," who has persistently urged stiff resistance to Soviet expansion-ism, declared a few days ago that in today's circumstances, he would have to abstain in the vote on the stationing of the Pershings.

While Mr. Schmidt is certain to reiterate his pro-deployment stand at the party congress, he is also expected also to accuse the Carter and Reagan administrations in strong terms of having betrayed the intent of the original North Atlantie Treaty Organization decision hy failing to follow through with intelligent negotiating policies that could have prevented the issue

(Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

Yasser Arafat, the PLO leader, speaking at a news conference Thursday at his headquarters in Tripoli, Lebanon.

Arafat Says He'll Defend Tripoli Against Syrians

Washington Post Service

TRIPOLI. Lebanon - Yasser trafat, the chairman of the Palestine Liberation Organization, threatened an Armageddon in this port city on Thursday following the fall of his last stronghold in Leba-what he described as a Syrian plan to invade and conquer Tripoli. Mr. Arafat said that Syria and Libya and their Palestinian allies had brought up a new mechanized preparing to enter the city.

The aim of the Syrians is to disarm the city," Mr. Arafat said.

"I told the Lebanese leaders that am a sword in their hands." he added, "They can use the sword in the moment where and when they hope to use it."

As Mr. Arafat spoke, snells fell near the downtown neighborhood he has made his base. Earlier in the day his gunners had begun oum-In a press conference, Mr. Arafat meling the lost stronghold, the volunteered to be a "sword" for nearly oarren Badawi refugee Tripoli, to defend the city against camp, which Syrian and Libvanbacked Palestinian rebels took over Wednesday.

Mr. Arafat accused the Syrians of being the first to violate a cease-fire. "The aim of the Syrians is to hrigade, which seemed to him to disarm the city," he said. "This is a confirm his belief that they were signal that their target is to in-

A woman in head scarf wailed (Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

French Planes Hit Pro-Iranian Base on Raids in East Lebanon

By Glenn Frankei Washington Post Service

BEIRUT - French planes Thursday bombed a military barracks occupied by pro-Iranian Shiite Moslem radicals in eastern Lebanon in what France said was a pre-emptive strike to prevent a terrorist altack on its troops.

Super Etendard bombers from the aircraft carrier Clemenceau struck at a former Lebanese Army barracks now under control of Shiite militants on the outskirts of the city of Baalbek in the eastern Bekaa valley, according to state-operated Beirut radio.

It said the barracks was partially destroyed in the bombing. The area was immediately sealed off and there were no firm casualty reports, although radio accounts indicated dozens of persons may have been killed or wounded.

[Gunmen fired three rocket-propelled grenades at French positions in central Beirut Thursday night, several hours after the French rain in eastern Lebanon, Beirut radio said. The report did not mention casualties, Renters reported from Beirut.]

It was the second consecutive day of air strikes against pro-Iranian militants behind Syrian lines in Lebanon. Israeli warplanes Wednesday struck two training camps in the Bekaa run by the militants, whose Islamic Amal movement is a splinter group of the larger, mainstream Amal Shiite organization.

Several hundred Iranian Revolutionary Guards are also believed to be stationed in the area, but there have been no reports on how many were killed or injured in the two air raids. Iranians arrived in Lebanon sbortly after the Israeli invasion started in June 1982.

Fifty-eight French soldiers were killed Oct. 23 in a suicide mission against their harracks seconds after 239 Americans were killed in a similar attack on U.S. Manne headquarters. French officials vowed retaliation for the attack, but the communique indicated that Thursday's air raid was designed to forestall a future terrorist attack, not to

The main French target Thurs day appeared to be the Sheikh Abdullah Barracks, which since September has been operated by Islamic Amal militants under the command of Hussein Museyi, Mr. Musavi has decied involvement in last month's attacks, although he applauried them and the Nov 4 car bombing of an Israeli military headquarters in the southern port of Tyre that killed 29 Israelis and 32 Palestinian and Lebanese de-

France Feared New Attacks France sent planes against guerrilla targets in Lebanon because it feared fresh attacks on its forces

there as well as to avenge past at-tacks against them. The New York Times reported from Paris. Speaking on television Wednes-day. President François Mitterrand hinted at Thursday's assault when he said that last month's suicide attack on the French peacekeeping force in Lebanon would "not go A communique issued by the Defense Ministry in Paris explained the action by saying "tt is important above all to prevent new terrorist actions against the French forces in Lebanon by intervening French officials said they had reason to believe that further suicide attacks were being prepared against their troops and had acted in part to deter them. U.S. Reprisal Unlikely U.S. officials said that ferael's air attack on Mosiem radicals in Leba-

(Continued on Page 2, Col. 6)

Rival Cypriot Officials Exchange Accusations

United Press International said, "and, if possible, induce the UNITED NATIONS, New York — Greek and Turkish Cyprion Leaders traded massing cettleot leaders traded accusations ment Thursday over the establishment of an independent Turkish-Cypriot republic in Cyprus, charging each other with dividing the Mediterra-

The United Nations secretarygeneral, Javier Pérez de Cuellar, told the Security Council he would meet with the Cypriot officials to an attempt "to weather the present crisis." The council was considering a British-sponsored draft reso-Intion that "deplores the declara-tion of the Turkish-Cypriot authorities of the purported secession" and calls the creation of the Turkish Republic of Northern Cy-

It called on all countries "not to recognize any Cypriot state other than the Republic of Cyprus."

Rauf Denktash, the Turkish Cypriot president of the newly created republic in the northern part of the island, is already in New York and Spyros Kyprianou, the Greek Cypriot president of Cyprus,

"I am determined to pursue my efforts in order to weather the present crisis," Mr. Pérez de Cuellar was expected to arrive before the

INSIDE

Tax credits to help parents with children in private schools are rejected by Senate. Page 3.

Admiral Stansfield Turner, the former CIA chief, said the U.S. will not use nuclear arms to defend Europe.

Experts say a one-digit error is the likeliest explanation of why a Korean jet flew into Soviet airspace Sept. 1. Page 4. BUSINESS/FINANCE

■ The British government is keeping a tight clamp on the budget and threatening to raise Page 11. ■ GM agreed with a U.S. agency on a plan to handle car defects complaints. Page 14.

■ Bethlehem Steel is planning a lawsuit aimed a further restricting steel shipments to the United States.

WEEKEND

Taste," a design show at the Victoria and Albert Museum in London, is not to everybody's. reports Mary Blume. Page 7.

The foreign minister of Cyprus, George Iacovou dismissed Turkish-Cypriot calls for a federated Cyprus as attempts to "camouflage partition" of the island that has been divided for 19 of its 23 years as an independent state.

He described the Turkish Cypriot action Tuesday as part of "sinister plans to wipe out any Greek-Cypriot rights in Turkish-occupied Cyprus.

Mr. Denktash previously said he was prepared to hold talks with the Greek Cypriots to create a federated republic. He said at a press conference that the Cypriot government for 20 years treated his people as an "ethnic non-entity" with no part in the administration of the island.

"We didn't divide the island," he said. "They did."

"We asserted out rights," Mr. Denktash added, "and hope that now Greek Cypriot leaders will be able to see us for what we are: the co-founder partner of the independence and sovereignty of Cyprus ready and willing to carry on talks to re-establish the partnership re-

Mr. Denktash blamed the UN General Assembly's adoption last May of a resolution demanding the withdrawal of the 20,000 Turkish troops from northern Cyprus for exacerbating the crisis. "This gave the butcher the knife to continue the slaughter," he said. Kypriano Hints at Sanctions

Marvine Howe of The New York Times reported from Nicosia: Mr. Kyprianou has pledged to reverse, through peaceful means, Tuesday's declaration of independence by Turkish Cypriots.

He said there were many "effective, peaceful" steps that could be taken. He cited Britain's actions in dealing with the former breakaway state of Rhodesia, implying that some form of economic blockade was being considered.

Greece said Thursday it planned to ask the European Community to impose economic sanctions against Turkey in retaliation for its recogintion of the Turkish Cypriot state.

Minister Andreas Papandreou, Greek Cypriot cause. He later met with Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher in London on Thursday to secret "revolutionary commitbefore flying to New York for talks tees" based in African capitals in-the 10 richesi Western powers and Switzerland.

Spyros Kyprianou, left, Cyprus's Greek Cypriot president, in Athens with Prime Minister Andreas Papandreou before

London talks with Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher.

The new negotiations are being conducted under the mandate give torically low levels.

Industrial Nations Plan Monetary Reform Talks

By Paul Lewis

New York Tunes Service PARIS - Senior treasury officials from the worlo's major financial powers agreed Thursday to open a new round of negotiations on reforming the international monetary system. The aum of the negotiations is to make currency exchange rates more stable, help the International Monetary Fund exercise tighter discipline over its member countries' economic policies and ensure that the world has sufficent liquidity to underpin the emerging economic recovery. Lamberto Dini. deputy governor of the Italian central bank, said at the end of a meeting of the so-called deputies of the Group of Ten. of which he is chairman. the 10 richest Western powers and annual IMF ministerial meeting, went on, will now search for the which asked the deputies to drawn causes of this continuing instability up proposals for improving the and try to determine whether it is working of the system.

This mandate came after President François Mitterrand of France, with backing from several other industrial and developing countries, hlamed the prolonged world recession on the malfunctioning of the international monetary system and called for "a new Breston Woods Conference" to draw up a more stable world monetary system.

The Group of Ten deputies plan These are the three areas where to complete their work early next we will try to identify ways of im-proving the system's working." year, when they will present specif-ic reform proposals to the ministers of the Ten.

On Thursday, Mr. Dini said that all members of the Group of Ten are "unhappy at the excessive variability of exchange rates," despite a The Group of Ten is made up of striking convergence in the economic preformance of the major Western countries, all of which have brought inflation down to his-due to "insufficent economic policy coordination" between the major powers, or to "structural factors," such as differences between openness of individual economics to foreign trade. Officials close to the talks said that most European countries believe the dollar is overvalued and exchange rates volatile largely because of a bad "policy mix" in the United States, where a huge, stimulatory budget deficit is offset by a tight monetary policy, which keeps interest rates high and the dollar high. This forces European countries to follow overly restrictive monetary policies to prevent an inflationary decline in their currennational capital markets or in the

Mr. Dini described the search for the root causes of currency instability as "closely linked" to the second area of the reform discussion: making the the IMF more effective in en the Group of Ten at September's The Group of Ten deputies, he carrying out its duty to exercise annual IMF ministerial meeting, went on, will now search for the "surveillance" over members' exchange rates to ensure they are sta-

> Monetary sources said one idea the Ten will consider would provide for the IMF to meet regularly with major Western countries in a group and give them advice on how to make their economic policies compatible.

Finally, Mr. Dini said the Ten will be trying to forecast the likely availability of foreign exchange reserves and other sources of international liquidity in the 1980s to see whether there will be sufficent financing available to keep trade expanding and economies growing.

Some monetary experts think the major Western nations should agree to make another issue of Special Drawing Rights, the internationally created reserve unit sometimes known as "paper gold," 10 ensure the recovery does not run out of steam because of a sbortage of liquidity. But others oppose the idea, arguing that it would be infla-

Senate Approves $8.4-Billion Rise In Funds for IMF

WASHINGTON - The Senate approved Thursday, by a 67-30 voie, a plan for $8.4 billion in supplemental financing for the International Monetary Fund.

The plan was in a package of amendments proposed to a supplemental appropriations bill. Final Senate action on the appropriations bill was expected later. Then the entire package is to be sent to the House of Representatives for consideration.

Earlier Thursday, Howard H. Baker Jr., the Senate majority leader, said he believed the Senate would approve a $8.5-billion increase in the IMF contribution before Congress adjourned Friday.

Mr. Baker, a Tennessee Republican, said he expected the Senate to attach the IMF funds to the supplemental money bill, along with some housing funds. Democrats in the House have demanded the housing funds in return for support of the IMF bill. The current U.S. contribution is $16 billion.

O'Neill, Democrat of Massachusetts, said Thursday that the Reagan administration was "doing some work" in a last-minute effort to get the IMF money. He said he was not sure whether the compromise on housing and the IMF had enough votes to pass both houses.

(Reusers, AP)

Sudan Reports Rebel Attack in South; Army Says It Freed 2 Captive Britons sy, the Chevron Oil Co. office and technicians were seized by the Peo-

By David B. Ottaway

CAIRO - The Sudanese govrnment reported Thursday that rebel forces based in Ethiopia had launched an attack into southern Sudan and had been repelled with heavy losses

The attack came two days after the border. Il technicians working for Western companies were kidnapped, apparently by the same rebel group, in separate incidents. Two technicians who were kidnapped in one incident were freed by commandos, the army said.

The Sudanese information minister, Mohammed Khogali Saliheen, said at a press conference in colonel, Joseph Garang, and that it attacked Thursday morning near miles (32 kilometers) from the Ethiopian border west of Gambela.

Mr. Saliheen accused Ethiopia Mr. Kyprianou flew to Athens and Libya of being behind the aton Wednesday for talks with Prime tack and said that a second rebel force had massed near Asosa, north considered the main backer of the of Gambela, in preparation for another attack into southern Sudan. He said that terrorists belonging tended to blow up the U.S. Embasother American targets in Khartoum. He did not identify the capidan. He accused Ethiopia and Lib-

Mr. Saliheen said government troops had inflicted heavy casualties on the rebels, but he did not make clear whether all the insurgents had been driven back across

The Sudanese Army reported later that anti-terrorist commandos attacked the insurgents, who on Tuesday seized two British technicians working for Chevron, and seven Frenchmen and two Pakistanis working on a canal project for a French company.

The statement said that the commandos inflicted heavy casualties commanded by a dissident army on the dissidents holding the Britons and that Britons were flown to Bentiu, where Chevron has a base the southern village of Nasir, 20 camp near its main oil field. There was no word on the French and

The kidnappings were announced Wednesday by the Suda-nese leader, General Gasfar Nimeiri, at a press conference m Paris. He is on a state visit in France before traveling Saturday to Washington for talks with President Ronald Reagan and other U.S. officials.

General Nimeiri said that the 11

ya of being behind the kidnappings. The insurgents, be said, had issued a 48-hour ultimatum demanding that the government revoke its recent decision to apply Islamic law nationwide and that it stop work on the new pipeline from the south to the Red Sea. A third de-mand, he said, was that France end its aid to Sudan. The new fighting in the southern Sudan followed months of political unrest and a breakdown in public order stemming from political and economic grievances against the central government. It also comes against the background of a 17-year civil war fought between the African- and Christian-led south against the Arah and Moslem north from 1955 until 1972, when General Nimeiri accepted a special autonomous status for the entire south.

In early June, General Nimeiri reversed his policy toward the south and redivided it into the three former districts. Then, in September, be imposed Islamic law on the south as part of a nationwide reform, provoking further resent-ment among the Christians there.

QUEEN IN INDIA — Queen Elizabeth 11 of Britain talked with Prime Minister Indira Gandhi in New Delhi as the queen began a 10-day visit to India on Thursday.

Central Office: Franklurt am Main/Dusseldorr Branches abrusu enterens. Bahrain, Bogota Cano Caracas, Chicago Losid Inco. Madrid, Milan New York: Osaka Paris São Paulo, Tokyo, Representative Offices Bahrain, Bogota Cano Caracas, Chicago Losid Inco. Milan New York: Osaka Paris São Paulo, Tokyo Toronto Subs. Johannesburg, Lagos, Los Angeles, Mexico, Músscow Nagova, Nairobi Peking Rio de Janoiro, Sentiago Sydney Tehrain, Tokyo Toronto Subs. Geneva, Hong kong, London Lipiembourg, Singapore Toronto, Zurich

rut's

House Speaker Thomas P.

Walle Kills Legist

Julion Tax Ch

White H

---

Alary Indiana

AT PROPERTY AND

CARRIED THE PARTY OF

A STATE THE

the state of the s

Parliacit. a Manage

THE PARTY NAMED IN

... ibas 100

wat encounty to

-----

. No Issue and

THE MANAGERY.

See services pour line

THE PROPERTY AND A

Mr. Resignations

int was appearable

中 图 2 二十年 4

AND THE PERSON NAMED IN COLUMN

ATTENDED TO THE PARTY OF THE PA

The repairs the

To be the second section of

THE RESERVE

Latitude States were

TO PER OF THE PARTY OF

and being the same tax being same to be same

e the House de

President Chaim Herzog of Israel at UN General Assembly.

(Continued from Page 1) ing a suspension in talks exhausted.

negotianous would eventually rein their present form, however.

The finest

Scotch Whisky

money can búv

CHARLES MACKINLAY & CO. LTD.

IVE GENERATIONS OF EXPERIENCES INCE 1811

If you purchased this Trib at a newsstand, you're already enjoying a rare bargain—the whole world in just a few tightly written, fact-packed pages. You're reading a product created by scores of journalists working day and night from dozens of distant datelines to bring you a compact compilation which can be purchased for the price of a cup of coffee.

But why not double the hargain? Enjoy twice as many newspapers with double the headlines, business trends, candid commentary, high fashion and comic strip hi-jinks,

By subscribing to the International Herald Tribune for six months or a year, you save almost half the newsstand price on

Please circle below the time period and reduced subscription price selected.
(Rates valid through April 30, 1984)

3,050 6,600 1,400 1,080 900 400 72 10,800

90 195,000

6,600 450 1,160 10,000 16,260 1,160 356

280

390

1 1 year | 6 months | 3 months

5,400 45 97,500 3,300 225 580 5,000 8,130 580 178

140

t95

and Art Buchwald three times a week, too.

COUNTRY

Spain.....Sweden.....

Switzerland S.
Rest of Europe, North Africa, former French Africa, U.S.A., French
Polynesia, Middle East

Rest of Africa Canada, Latin America, Gulf States, Asia.....

Those discussions might not be

U.S., Soviet Continue Talks on Nuclear Arms acknowledged the possibility of meiding together the intermediate force talks with those involving intercontinental strategic missiles,

known by the acronym START, that have been running in separate

The U.S. and Soviet START negotiators, who also met Thursday.

will gather again Tuesday, but the fare of their talks are also uncer-

Pravda accused Washington

Thursday of playing with nuclear weapons numbers to distract public attention from the arrival in Western Europe of the first cruise missiles. Reuters reported from

In an editorial released ahead of Friday's edition of the newspaper,

Prayda said the latest instructions given hy Washington to arms negotiators in Geneva were based on tricks designed to cheat the public

President Ronald Reagan's pro-posal that the United States and the Soviet Union should each have

NEW YORK'S

HOTEL BARLYLE

MADISON AVENUE AT 76TH ST., NEW YORK 16621 CABLE: THECARLYLE NEWYORK TELEX: 620692

Twice As Much

Art for Your Money

Herald Tribune

To: Subscription Manager, International Herald Tribune, 181 Avenue Charles-de-Ganile, 92521 Neurlly Cedex, France. Tel.: 747, 12.65. Tex.: 612832.

1,815 400 300 250 110 2,950 2,950 1,815 124 320 2,750 4,480 320 2,750 4,480 98

77

107

Card expiry date

Job/Profession

Company activity

Address

hút parallel sessions here.

Pravda Attacks U.S.

Moscow

American negotiators have always 420 warheads would give NATO

Israeli President Asks Arabs to Negotiate

cities. He is expected to meet Tuesday with President Ronald Reagan

As Mr. Herzog was introduced to the General Assembly, an objectinn to his presence was raised by an Iraqi representative, Wissam

Zahawie, who said that, according to various UN resolutions, Israel's claim that Jerusalem was its capital

The president of the General As-presence, as the head of state of a

UN member country, "in no way prejudices United Nations resolu-

As Mr. Herzog rose to speak, a

Paul H. Nitze

Bonn Opposition Set to Reject U.S. Missiles

accusation against the Reagan ader convinced that arms control ministration is that it came to pow-and that it wasted a valuable two

Hints that this may be Mr.

schmidt's position at the congress were contained in a speech he made several weeks ago to the Military Academy in Hamburg and another speech in Berlin in honor of Robert

McNamara, the former defense secretary, who said on the same occasion that the Pershings and cruise missiles were not needed in years before it changed its mind, the U.S.-Soviet SALT talks. His Europe from the military point of Washington.

was "null and void."

By Richard Bernstein New York Times Service

UNITED NATIONS, New York - President Chaim Herzog of Israel, in a speech that was applauded by some delegates and poycotted by many others, has appealed to Arab countries to negotiate their differences with his gov-

Mr. Herzog, speaking Wednesday in a half empty General As-sembly Hall, said: "For years, we maintained that dialogue is the only road to peace and that negotiations, however protracted and difficult must lead to positive results." "Let us begin to talk," he said.

"Let us open a dialogue; let us forget the bitterness of the past." The Israeli head of state was at the United Nations on the third day of a largely private 11-day visit two-to-one superiority, the Soviet

Mr. Andropov, the Soviet presi-dent has said that Moscow is prepared to see only 140 triple-warhead SS-20 missiles - a total of 420 warheads — in the European

Liberal members of Congress

Thursday appealed to President

Ronald Reagan to delay the scheduled deployment of Pershing-2 and month, Reuters reported from

A letter signed by Senator Mark

vio O. Conte, a Republican - rope.

egon and three legislators from urged Mr. Reagan to postpone sta-Massachusetts — Senator Edward thoning the missiles for six months M. Kennedy, a Democrat; Repre- if the Soviet Union agreed to dissentative Edward J. Markey, a manule 20 percent of its SS-20 mis-

Democrat, and Representative Sil-siles now targeted on Western Eu-

President Jimmy Carter for having talks of any kind were undesirable each copy. Up to 42% off, to be precise. Twice as many Tribs for your money.

Join the global who's who of thought-leader readers who turn to each morning's Trib for the latest in objectively reported world news, briskly written opinion, the day's closing business tabulations, buy-and-sell reports from the interna tional market-place, at-the-stadium recaps of just-completed matches, what's happening in the world of culture—and all in an international perspective.

Double the value of the Trib by halving its price.

Subscribe now so you don't miss a single issue. Major credit cards accepted. Just fill out the coupon below and mail. For maximum savings, subscribe for a full year. This cut-price

□ Yes, I would like to accept your bargain offer. Please send me the International Herald Tribune for the time period and at the reduced price circled on this coupon.
 □ My payment is enclosed. (Check/money order to the I.H.T.)

0

Nationality

subscription offer is for new subscribers only.

Please charge my | 1964

O. Hatfield, a Republican from Or-unfortunate way now.

(Continued from Page 1)

from coming to a head in such an

Mr. Schmidt reproaches former failed to respond to European pleas that he include the Pershing-2s in

HARRY'S N.Y. BAR ®

5 Rue Dounou, PARIS

Just tell the taxi driver

'sank roo doe noo"

or Folkenturm Str. 9, Munich cruise missiles in Europe next

■ Congressmen Urge Delay

Communist Party daily said.

part of the Soviet Union.

Washington.

number of delegations, including most of the Arab countries and Iran, walked out of the hall. In all, about 70 of the United Nations' 158 countries were not present for the speech. Most of them, including to the United States. Much of his all the East bloc countries, simply itinerary will be taken up by meetings with Jewish groups in several did not attend the session.

against Israel. He reiterated Israel's cause has invariably failed." intention of eventually withdrawing all its forces from Lebanon and said Israel would not renounce the Israeli-Lebanese withdrawal agreement signed by the two countries earlier this year.

Egupt "a great leader of towering sembly, Jorge Enrique Illueca of Panama, said that Mr. Herzog's stature," Mr. Herzog reaffirmed his country's commitment to the Camp David agreement that established peace between Israel and Egypt and provided for negotiations on the autonomy of the occu-Organization agreed to participate in the autonomy talks, the Palestinians "would now have been living in a regime of full autonomy."

Mr. Herzog criticized what he promise," he said. "The net result-called the United Nations" "cam-has been that Israel has invariably paigns of calumny and vilification" succeeded and the Palestinian

Mr. Herzog, a former Israeli ambassador to the United Nations, said he was "grieved and pained" that so many delegates refused to attend the session. "There are countries whose delegates have left Calling the late Anwar Sadat of this hall who apply for, and receive, technical and agricultural aid from Israel, who send students to train in Israel, and yet, who left this hall for no other reason than fear."

Of the Israeli-Lebanese agreement, Mr. Herzog said, "How tragpied West Bank. He contended ic it is, against the background of that, had the Palestine Liberation the human misery which has been the lot of the Lebanese people since 1975, to observe that an agreement which will advance the cause of peace in Lebanon is the main target The tragedy of the Palestinian of the Syrian government, in pursupeople has been their leadership, ance of its policy of absorbing Lebwhich has invariably rejected com- anon and creating a Greater Syria."

Arafat Says He'll Defend

(Continued from Page 1) and warbled loudly, often drowning out Mr. Arafat. In Arabic, a talist Moslem city. Because Mr.

Arafat has been an arbiter of local political disputes for years and the backer of the currently dominant

In spite of the Social Democrats'

Bundestag next week permitting

But there will be a bitter debate

This is a change of incalculable

It will never again be possible for

The citizens have become too sensitive." he added, referring to the

The switch from a clear "yes" to clear "no" on the missiles took the Social Democrais about 10 months. During the national elec-tion campaign in February and carly March the missiles were a key

At the very top of the party, it was Willy Brandt, the former chancellor and still party president, who issue along with unemployment.

■ Soviet Shift Reported

Reuters reported from Bonn.

■ Warning by U.K. Cardinal

Press International reported.

the Social Democratic Party.

consequences in the view of many

West German politicians and oband the concluding vote will show a shing-2s next month.

young man passionately shouted at the besieged leader. Mr. Arafat insisted it was not his last stand in the Middle East. "We are five million Palestinians direct party to the struggle.

Constantly reminded of their tactic of shielding themselves in this area," he said in the entrance of a refugee huilding. "You cannot liquidate five million Palestinians. We are not the red Indians, you can

"The idea is to protect yourself Mr. Arafat said he would leave if and to protect the identity of our struggle," said an Arafat aide on Tripoli leaders asked him to, but he has received support for his cause Thursday. "I can't put my guns on from the leaders of this fundamenattack in an desperate bid to break wounded in a two-day rebel assault against the now largely deserted in Badawi on the northern outskirts ["Our forces launched a counter-attack from inside Badawi toward the north and northeast where the rebels are," an Arafat aide said.]

Israeli troops broke up Palestinian demonstrations in the West Bank and the Gaza Strip on Thorsday, using tear gas and rubber bul-lets, when frenzied protests against Sources in the occupied areas hind the back of the public, wrote said demonstrators bearing por-Theo Sommer, one of the most re-traits of Mr. Arafat threw incendi-

Shiite Base

But they denied Wednesday that

Mr. Kohl said Thursday that Prayda Sees U.S. Attack Moscow had withdrawo its insis-

Dusko Doder of The Washington

U.S.-Soviet arms talks in Geneva, newspaper Pravda said Thursday that Syria and "Lebanese progres-He said the Soviet Union was sive forces" were facing an "immineni" attack by U.S. and Israeli ing concern about the situation in the Middle East, suggested that the assault would focus on Syrian Syria itself.

"We are talking, first of all, about the direct participation of American armed forces in the

Tripoli Against Syrians

that the PLO chairman will not be

More than a week ago, as Arafat forces began to retreat from the Syrian-backed rebels, they pulled their heavy guns into Tripoli, among a civilian population not a

among civilians, PLO operatives

[Reports on the fighting Thursday said about 600 guerrillas koyal to Mr. Arafat launched a counterout of the Badawi refugee camp, according to United Press Interna-

[Lebanese security sources said at least 345 Palestinian guerrillas and civilians were killed and 805 opposition, Chancellor Helmut Kohl will have a majority in the

[Mr. Arafat's aides said a force estimated at 600 loyalists was left him to reaffirm the government's determination to go through with the deployment of the first Per-

divided house. For the first time in many years, the consensus among ■ Israelis Stop Demonstrators the major parties on defense strategy and West Germany's role in NATO will have been broken.

the PLO showdown in Tripoli were directed at Israeli motor traffic, NATO politicians and strategic ex- The New York Times reported began Oct. 25. perts to make important nuclear from Tel Aviv. decisions like this in secret, "bespected German commentators, in any bombs and stones at military the weekly Die Zeit Thursday, and civilian vehicles.

peace marches of the last months as French Bomb

(Continued from Page 1)

non has made any similar U.S. re-taliation most unlikely, The Washington Post reported from the Reagan administration knew was the first to move against the about the Israeli action in advance or that Israel was acting on behalf of the United States.

tence on including British and French nuclear weapons in the Post reported from Mascow: The Soviet Communist Party advancing new proposals "one minute before twelve." He added, forces. "In the last phase of Geneva negotiations, the Soviets made the issue of French and British weapons a central point. Now the Soviet Union is inclined to take this point forces in Lebanon rather than on away in its negotiating strategy and perhaps hring others to the fore."

Cardinal Basil Hume, archbishop of Westminster and England's planned action." Prawla said. It leading Roman Catholic, warned gave a list of U.S. naval vessels off anti-nuclear protesters Thursday the Lebanese coast and said that all leading Roman Catholic, warned anti-nuclear protesters Thursday that they do not have "the right available information indicated seriously to defy the law," United that "practical" preparations were under way for such an attack.

protest, raising the possibility of a postponement of the confirmation. Find Reported in U.S. Campaign Probe WASHINGTON (AP) - Secret foreign policy documents from the arter administration have been discovered in files from President nomination comes to a vote.

Ronald Reagan's 1980 election campaign, according to the head of a House of Representatives inquiry. "We've found some your eyes only type of stuff," said Representative Donald J. Albosta, Democrat of Michigan and chairman of the human resources subcommittee of the Post Office and Civil Service Committee.

WORLD BRIEFS

Clark Confirmation Hits Snag in Senate

WASHINGTON (WP) - William P. Clark's expected confirmation as interior secretary has run into political trouble in the Senate, and Majority Leader Howard H. Baker Jr., Republican of Tennessee, said Mr. Clark might not be confirmed before Congress adjourns for 1983.

President Ronald Reagan told Mr. Baker that Mr. Clark's confirmation is his top legislative priority for the rest of the session, which is scheduled to end this week, according to a White House spokesman Mr.

Clark is expected to win confirmation by a large margin once his

Mr. Baker said Wednesday Mr. Clark faces "some trouble" because critics of departing Interior Secretary James G, Watt want the Senate to vote first on a resolution telling Mr. Clark to reverse several of Mr. Watt's policies. Mr. Baker has not agreed to schedule a vote on the resolution.

and several of its sponsors have threatened to filibuster the nomination in

That means classified — the highest classification," he said. Mr. Albosta, whose panel is trying to learn how Carter materials reached Mr. Reagan's campaign, said Wednesday that he had turned over information to the Federal Burean of Investigation, but he declined to say whether it involved the secret documents. Lane Bonner, an FBI spokes man, said he had no comment on Mr. Albosta's statement.

militiz in the city, the likelihood is U.S. House Finds No Data Tampering WASHINGTON (NYT) — The House ethics committee has reported that an investigation found "absolutely no evidence whatsoever of a pattern of improper alteration" of official congressional hearing tran-

> The finding Wednesday was contained in a report on an investigation that began last summer into allegations of malicious doctoring of transcripts. The committee did document one instance — the one that prompted the investigation — in which a congressional aide, since dismissed, had altered a 1982 transcript involving the Environmental > Protection Agency.

>
> After that alteration, involving Representative Robert S. Walker, a conservative Republican from Pennsylvania, was found, several other conservative Republicans asserted that official transcripts had been tampered with. But the bipartisan committee said it had found no evidence of malicious intent or efforts to alter the meaning of testimony.

Greeks Demonstrate at U.S. Embassy

ATHENS (NYT) — Hundreds of thousands of people shouting anti-American slogans marched on the U.S. Embassy Thursday night, while a special military plane was taking home the body of an American naval officer who was assassinated Tuesday. Prime Minister Andreas Papandreou ordered an intensified investigation earlier Thursday into the murder of Captain George Tsantes, who was killed along with his Greek driver, on his way to work at the office of the U.S. Military Assistance Group to Greece.

The demonstrators, mainly from youth groups of the governing Socialist Party and the Communists, marched from the Polytechnic School through the center of the capital to the embassy, where they dispersed peacefully in the late hours. The march marked the 10th anniversary of the repression by the military dictatorship of a student protest.

Snipers Fire on Americans Off Grenada ST. GEORGE'S, Grenada (AP) — Snipers wounded two U.S. paratroopers early Thursday on a troy island just off Grenada's northeastern coast, U.S. military anthorities said.

A spokesman, Major Douglas Frey, said the soldiers were marning an observation post when they were fired upon. "They were wounded very slightly... one in the arm, the other in the leg," by small arms fire, he said. Neither was hospitalized.

Major Frey said the men were members of the 82d Airborne Division. He did not indicate who the snipers might have been and did not name the island. No other details were available. Officials have reported 18 American servicemen killed in the U.S.-led invasion of Grenada, which

No Videotape on Aquino, General Says

MANILA (UPI) — A general told an official inquiry Thursday that there was no videotape of the murder of the Philippine opposition leader, Benigno S. Aquino Jr., although there were at least two cameras stationed near where Mr. Aquino was shot.

"We only record events of actual emergencies, such as hijackings," Brigadier General Luther Custodio told the inquiry into Mr. Aquino's assassination Aug. 21 at Manila International Airport. General Custodio was in charge of the airport security operation for Mr. Aquino's arrival, including the deployment of 1,199 troops.

He said there were at least two cameras near the scene but that they did not take pictures. "We cannot record everything," General Custodio told the special prosecutor, Andres Narvasa. Existence of the secret, closedcircuit television system was disclosed last month by its West German.

Burmese Said to Attack Border Rebels

BANGKOK (WP) — Burmese troops have launched an offensive, near Burma's border with Thailand, against rebels of the Karen National Union, according to reports from the border area. The guerrillas have held a French couple hostage for a month to press their demand for an end to foreign aid for the Rangoon government.

Details of the fighting remain sketchy but, according to reports reaching Bangkok on Thursday, 20 to 30 Burmese soldiers and 10 Karen rebels were killed when 400 to 500 Burmese troops overran a guerrilla camp Tuesday in southern Burma.

The fighting marks the latest flare-up in a conflict that started when Burma gained independence from Britain in 1948. The insurgents, who seek an autonomous homeland in Karen state, drew some international attention last month when they abducted a French engineer, Jacques Bossu, and his wife from the site of a coment factory project in southeast-ern Burma and threatened to put the couple on trial.

Accord on U.S. Animal Gunshot Studies

WASHINGTON (WP) - House and Senate conferees have agreed to prohibit the Defense Department from using cars and dogs in laboratories where animals are shot to give military medical students practice in treating gunshot wounds.

The conferees, meeting in closed session Wednesday to resolve differences in the House and Senate-passed versions of the defense appropriations bill, rejected a more stringent version of the ban passed by the House, which would have prohibited wound experimentation on any animals. The agreement must go back to each chamber for approval.

Defense Secretary Caspar W. Weinberger called a temporary halt to "wound ballistic research" last summer after it was disclosed that as many as 80 anesthetized dogs were to be shot at the military medical school in Bethesda, Maryland. A Defense Department spokesman said the Pentagon was now studying the use of animals in research and medical training.

THE CARAVEL HAS EVERYTHING

AND OFFERS EVERYTHING

CARAVEL HOTEL

nes: 729.0721-9, 729.0731-9. Telen: 21-4401 CH GR.

2, Vassileos Alexandron Ave. Gr. 116-10 Ath

MUSUM MOSQUE ON

THE ROOF GARDEN OF

THE CARAVEL HOTEL.

WHICH OFFEIS YOU

415 ROOMS, 57 SUITES

SWIMMING POOL, T.Y.

AND MINE BAR

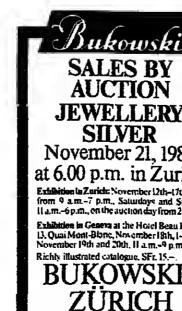

24 HOURS ROOM SERVICE ...

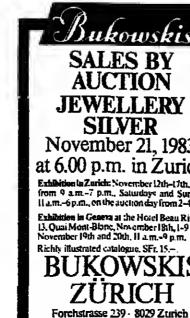

100% FRE PROOF.

AND EVERYTHING FOR

A SAFE STAY

Bukowskis SALES BY AUCTION JEWELLERY SILVER November 21, 1983 at 6.00 p.m. in Zurich Exhibition in Zurich: November 12th-17th, daily Exhibition is Genera at the Hotel Beau Rivage, 13. Quai Mont-Bione, November 18th, 1-9 p.m., November 19th and 20th, 11 a.m.-9 p.m. Richly illustrated catalogue, SFr. 15.-BUKOWSKIS

U.S. profile straight Copyright public and resi ĭ : ... 7..... ĻdE → Boot . Drifte المناعر ... c for-

Craxi's First 100

1300

( Z ...

Section.

2 252 47

150

---

ಿಹೇದಿ.

and the second

tion. . .

i frataria i i

Sec. 6-1-11

Direct Line

E Trees

Ed Youth Carry

Soviet sondhers rate and the presents of in Lebanon to pact Mr. Cras has be ing topokulan by the own inductive un > 121 150 has recentled seewith 21. surprising their their the Parme TANK MINE SORDE WE have privately found . The trace ALL STREET 211057 The proper and *** *****

BOT OF A SEC. SHAPE months in Market . which the opposit Charles of the west Zod-Boronia i i i i na Nase i Community have the withdrawal of The November and the second Alleren over recorded in-

Mr. Cress. who Excell to man be west gested that he was THE WILL ! I THE WILD dental to the alternation see the deployment siles in five course grade place andress Aziaous Dressy. O samed two recomming Someone from his Land should be the state owner of 112 more at a time cannot be

thor Says Moulin er Beatings by H

Si fork — Jean Moulin. committed straight authors services and authors services for large or the and did not it if himthe satisfies who interthat is the evidence and the
the plant op over
the plant op over
the interrogating him

The plant of the protion of the plant op over
the interrogating him

The plant op opening the protion of the plant op opening the
the interrogating him

The plant opening the protion of the plant opening the
the plant opening the protion of the plant opening the the plant opening the protion opening the plant opening the the plant opening the plant opening the the plant opening the plant opening the plant opening the the plant opening Groups that of Lores. data desired the state of the s dillion last week when he was De

Moulin, who was De the part to the Resistance had committed smeade and reid at the part of injune; caused by the deal against the wall of the many that his Resistance had been against the wall of the many that his Resistance had been many than his Resistance had been many that his Resistance had been many than derlands that his Recis-My Murphy and he interwho were with Moulin the difects on adding interrogation sealing sealing interrogation sealing interrogation sealing interrogation sealing interrogation sealing interrogation sealing s

And Shamir to Meet The Assessment Press SALVOTON. - President an and prime Minis i 19 in Washington, a Spokesman said Mr. Shamir took office that cutting at to charge of ormes Other puople il viewed said libration that the state in the said libration that the state in the determine what gave hat said a state in the said in the said in the said libration in the said libration in the said in the s Mer World War II. he was a m absentia of killing the death penalty has bolished in France specied killing of tours-

مكذا بن الأص

18-11-83

PALACE SWITZE

On Tuition Tax Credits Sought by White House

By Steven V. Roberts New York Times Service

WASHINGTON - As CORgress strained to clear its agenda before its recess, the Senate rebuffed President Ronald Reagan by defeating a bill that would have provided tax credits for parents who send their children to private

The 59-38 vote dealt a grave blow to tuition tax credits, a measure Mr. Reagan had placed at the top of his own legislative priority list. Senator Bob Dole, a Kansas Republican, said the issue was now probably dead unless supporters could convince Congress that it would not barm the public schools. The vote came as lawmakers in both houses wrestled with a string of fiscal issues they want to resolve before they adjourn for the year, probably on Friday. A compromise was reached between White House and congressional officials on legis-lation authorizing new federal sub-sidies for 100,000 housing units across the United tates.

Senate leaders said Wednesday night that they had also reached a deal to permit passage of legisla-tion raising the national debt ceil-ing and allowing the Treasury to continue borrowing money.

The Treasury would start runming out of money within two weeks, and congressional leaders have said that the debt ceiling increase is the one bill that must pass before adjournment. Senate action on the measure has been stalled by Republican conservatives for two

The stumbling block was apparently cleared away when Senate leaders agreed to allow Senator William L. Armstrong, a Colorado Republican, the chance to offer a proposal that would give the president enhanced powers to withhold federal expenditures if Congress

By Patrick Worsnip

Reuters

became Italy's first Socialist prime minister in August, has made foreign policy the country's leading issue while maintaining relative

Mr. Craxi's first 100 days in office were marked Saturday with arguments over foreign affairs flaring between the five parties of the gov-erning coalition and an eerie truce at home between the two largest parties, the Christian Democrats

This is the opposite of the situation in recent years in Italy, where the middle-of-the-road parties have agreed on a discrect foreign policy ithin the Western alliance while

Mr. Craxi, 49, came to power promoting an image of a man with broad borizons and influential friends abroad, especially among the world's Socialist parties.

fighting fiercely over internal is-

and the Socialists.

calm on the domestic front.

ROME - Bettino Craxi, who agreed that last-minute efforts to cide within the next few weeks in pass a major package of new taxes favor of building a permanent six-and spending cuts to reduce the to eight-man orbiting space station and spending cuts to reduce the budget deficit could not succeed before the end of the session and would have to wait until next year.

Many legislators, including some Republicans, attributed the failure of the deficit-reduction efforts to Mr. Reagan's continued reluctance to back any tax increases as part of a concerted assault oo budget shortages. In a meeting Wednesday of the Senate Finance Committee, which failed to agree on a deficitreduction package, Senator John C. Danforth, a Missouri Republican, declared: "This administration is going nowhere in reducing the defi-cit. I think that's unconscionable."

With vacation only a few days away, the pace of legislative activi-ty picked up considerably as the makers took these actions:

 The House approved by voice vote a compromise measure to ex-tend the life of the Civil Rights Commission and revise its structure. Under the new version, which has already passed the Senate, Congress and the president would each appoint four members of the commission. The measure apparently ends a long battle in which Mr. Reagan tried to oust three members of the current commission and dominate the panel with his own appointees.

By a vote of 417-3, the House approved the conference report for appropriations covering the state, justice and commerce departments. This measure, the ninth of 13 appropriations bills to pass Congress, now goes to the president.

 The House also adopted a conference report on a $352.2-million supplemental appropriations bill by a vote of 372-51.

 A deal was also concluded in the House to permit passage of a exceeded its own spending targets. tax bill this week raising about $10 However, most lawmakers billion over the oext three years,

Geneva talks on reducing U.S. and Soviet medium-range missiles fail, and the presence of Italian troops in Lebanon as part of a four-nation

Mr. Craxi has broken from Italian tradition by trying to launch his own initiatives on both fronts. He has succeeded only in drawing criticism from both the left and right in Italy, and some Western diplomats have privately voiced skepticism of

The prime minister was the target of a 500,000-strong anti-missile march in Rome on Oct. 22, in which the opposition Communist Party played a major role. The Communists have also called for the withdrawal of Italian forces

Mr. Craxi, who is on the right wing of his party, at one stage suggested that he would be willing to see the deployment of the new missiles in five countries of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization de-from Lebanon.

peacekeeping force.

Senate Kills Legislation Reagan Expected to Seek $8-Billion Space Station

By Robert C. Toth and Sara Fritz

Los Angeles Times Service WASHINGTON - President Ronald Reagan is expected to deto begin operation in 1991 or 1992 at a cost of about $8 billion. Up to $200 million will be in-chided in the fiscal 1985 budget for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration project, a White House official said. The space station will consist of four to six cylindrical modules, each roughly 60 feet (18 meters) long and 15 feet in diameter, arranged around a central stem or base. All the material will be trans-also resupply and service the sta-

Glenn's "space glamor" to some moon and to the planets beyond,

The president Wednesday took Soviet Launches Target the first step toward the commercialization of space ventures previously controlled by the govern-ment. White House sources said that Mr. Reagan designated the Union launched a "target satellite"

COMMEMORATION — Senator Edward M. Kennedy

attending a congressional tribute Wednesday in Washington for John F. Kennedy, who was assassinated 20 years ago. The senator is accompanied by the slain president's daughter, Caroline, right, and his sister, Eunice Shriver.

day the government's endorsement crat, reacted by calling on the gov-ing the commitment for Sicily, nn-examination and rigorous check on less agreement is reached in Gene- its foreign policy line."

In Craxi's First 100 Days, Foreign Policy Is Italy's Major Topic of the NATO missile plans, includ-

During a visit to the United States last month, Mr. Craxi said he would be going to Hungary in an apparent mediation attempt.

to a visit planned for February, by which time some of the NATO missiles would already be in place. They also doubt whether Italy and

Mr. Craxi created a furor last week by having the Italian ambas-sador to the Soviet Union attend the Nov. 7 military parade in Moscow for the first time since a NATO boycott after the 1979 Soviet inter-vention in Afghanistan.

He attended a Soviet Embassy

reception in Rome on the same day

- the first time an Italian prime minister has done so - while at the same time issuing a statement urg-ing the Soviet Union to moderate

Diplomats said he was referring

U.S. cruise missiles in Sicily if the United States in Geneva. Bot he ported and assembled in a 200-mile the agency that will license compa(320-kilometer) high orbit using the agency that will license companies seeking to launch their own space shuttle vehicles, which will rockets in private ventures.

would probably be used to test an United States argue that once fullexisting Soviet anti-satellite weapon that has failed about half of its will never be possible to reach a

The U.S. station will be permaneatly manned, with individual Presidential aides have been modules serving as living quarters keenly aware that Mr. Reagan's and providing areas for such func-Democratic opponent in the elec-tion next year may be Senator John research. The initial configuration Glean, a former astronant, who has also can be expanded later to a 12already endorsed the space station. to 18-man station, with a total cost Mr. Reagan's sponsorship of the of $20 billion, to become a way project was expected to reduce Mr. station for manned flights to the

Charles Mohr of The New York Times reported from Washington: An expert on military technology said Wednesday that the Soviet Department of Transportation as into orbit Oct. 1. Such a target tests and has a limited altitude ceil- treaty agreement with the Soviet ing, the expert, who asked not to be Union, especially if early tests indinamed, said.

The Soviet leader, Yuri V. Andropov, amounced a unilateral moratorium on testing of anti-satellite weapons in space in August. A sizable number of members of Congress, scientists and others in the United States have urged Washington to observe the moratorium, on the ground that surveillance and reconnaissance satellites are vital to preserving peace.

Tests of a U.S. weapon meant to begin in August have been delayed, but no explanation for the delay

U.S. Judge to Rule State

By Jay Mathews

Must Pay Women More

Washington Post Service TACOMA, Washington - A U.S. district judge has decided that almost 15,000 women working for the state of Washington must be given substantial pay increases be-cause they have the same level of skills and handle comparable responsibilities as men who have more highly paid jobs.

Judge Jack E. Tanner announced Wednesday his intention to require the pay increases in a landmark case testing "comparable worth": whether women performing jobs such as secretary must be paid as much as men doing "comparable" jobs. Union studies cootend that a traditionally male job comparable to that of secretary would be truck

"This decision clearly has national significance," said Winn Newman, an attorney for the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, which sued the state. The union has filed suit on simi-due to Socialist objections.

major cities and regions.

lomals to be of marginal value.

Divisions have appeared in the cabinet over what Italy is doing. Defense Minister Giovanni Spadolini, leader of the small Republican governing group in Turin, and local ke ours."

inflation from 17 percent, the rate at the end of 1982, to 13 percent by two senior coalition parties are all the end of 1983 does look possible, the more remarkable given the poleumics between them up to last 40,000 billion lire ($24.75 billion)

June's elections, when the Chris- from the public debt appear less

The Christian Democrats al- will continue unless or until his lowed Mr. Craxi to be prime minis-ter on the understanding that he reduced to tatters or the Christian

The Christian Democrats also voiced a hope after the elections that the Socialists would ally themselves with them on local councils instead of with the Communists as they have done in a number of

The government goal of cutting

Political sources say Mr. Craxi's pact with the Christian Democrats

'administrative charges pending in Hawaii and Wisconsin, and in the cities of Los Angeles, Philadelphia and Chicago. Oregon, New York, Maryland, Florida, Idaho and Illinois have ordered studies of discrimination in female-dominated Judge Tanner, a Carter administration appointee who ruled Sept. 16 that the Washington state salary schedule showed "pervasive" dis-crimination, delayed his final order for injunctive relief for two weeks to study different pay increase plans prepared by the union. He urged the state in the meantime to consider settling out of court. The union has estimated that about 15,000 state workers, almost all of them female, should receive a 31-percent pay increase because they have been paid less than men in jobs requiring comparable skills, effort and responsibility. One union official said secretaries, most of whom are women, are paid about $500 a month less than truck drivers, most of whom are men.

cate the effectiveness of the U.S.

technology.
The Soviet anti-satellite weapon consists of a conventional explosive warhead mounted on a rocket adapted from an intercontinental missile. The rocket lifts the warhead into low Earth orbit, and it is directed by radar.

The U.S. weapon consists of a small, 18-foot rocket that would be unched at high altitude from an F-15 fighter plane. Its payload is a small cylinder, called a miniature homing vehicle, which carries no explosive but is designed to destroy a suclite by high-velocity impact.

Classified Data On U.S. Navy Jet Found in Trash

SAN DIEGO - Classified documents describing weapons on one of the U.S. Navy's most advanced fighters were found discarded in a trash bin outside a drugstore, officials said.

The documents, stamped "confidential," outlined systems for the Grumman F-14

Found Nov. 7, the papers apparently were thrown away in suburban Poway by an officer assigned to the F-14 training mit at the Miramar Naval Air Station in San Diego, a Navy spokesman, Lieutenant Commander Sally Robbins, said Wednesday. "I can say that the officer is in trouble," she added.

Navy officials in Washington have ordered an investigation. Last mooth, an engineer found hundreds of blueprints and technical manuals, including some dealing with the Tomahawk cruise missile, in a large trash container at a National City industrial park.

Democrats Offer Plan to Help Industry In Break With Old Policy, Local Control Called Key

By Robert A. Rosenblatt

Los Angeles Times Service WASHINGTON - Breaking with traditional party policy, Senate Democrats have issued a plan to revive U.S. industrial strength through voluntary cooperation among government, labor and ent, combined with financial aid to business and workers at the state level.

The legislators emphasized private arrangements and local control rather than the conventional Democratic policy of seeking a bigger role for the federal government in solving the country's economic

Some Democrats in the House of Representatives, in contrast, are promoting the idea of a federally financed bank to seek out and promote promising new companies while also providing help to some old-line businesses

"This is the first time the Democratie Party turned away from central planning." Senator Paul E. Tsongas of Massachusetts told a news conference at which the plan was announced. The Reagan administration formula for industrial growth "is no program at all," said Robert C. Byrd, a West Virginia Democrat and the Senate minority leader. Mr. Byrd appointed a study group in February to devise a party industrial policy. The Democrats hope that their plan will provide valuable ammunition for next year's election campaign, when unemployment is still expected to be comparatively

If enacted by Congress, the Democratic "Jobs for the Future Plan" would create a 20-member Council on Economic Competitiveoess and Cooperation, an independent agency composed of representatives of bosiness, labor, government and the public.

The advisory council would develop proposals to help specific troubled industries or economically distressed regions of the nation. It would make recommendations to the president and Congress in such diverse areas as "investment, job security, profit sharing, work practices, wages, training, government regulations and temporary trade

Congress would distribute $800 million annually to state economic development agencies. "These institutions would lend to, or invest in, businesses according to the state's own development strate-

The plan's focus is away from Acid rain, primarily caused by pollution from coal-fired power plants, is blamed for the deaths of centralized government bureaucracy that would meddle with private

Bettino Craxi Democrats feel they are not bene-fiting at the local level, or both. If that happens, the Christian

Democrats may decide the time has come to try to reclaim the prime minister's job for themselves.

U.S. Researchers Favor Immediate Acid Rain Controls The Associated Press

WASHINGTON - U.S. scientists responding to a survey strongly favor immediate controls to combat acid rain, an environmental group said Thursday.
The National Wildlife Federation said scientists, by a margin of 7-1, support pollotion controls over imply financing more research. gies, the Democratic report said, hundreds of lakes in the Northeast and Canada.

The degree of control receiving the most support among the scientists would cut pollution by 10 million to 12 million tons in 31 castern states and Canada, the federation

Such an approach would be at odds with that favored by William D. Ruckelshaus, admin the Environmental Protection Agency, who is pushing for cuts in sulfur dioxide emissions of two million to four million tons.

The News Media

Author Says Moulin Died After Beatings by Barbie

. He inherited two potentially layed by six months if the Soviet awkward commitments from his Union showed signs of compro-

predecessors: the stationing of 112 mise at arms control talks with the

NEW YORK - Jean Moulin, the French Resistance leader, died in 1943 of beatings inflicted by the former Gestapo chief of Lyons, Klaus Barbie, and did not kill himself as Barbie's attorney claims, according to a journalist who interviewed Moulin's fellow prisoners. "I feel that the evidence and the testimony that piled up ... over-whelmingly points to Barbie bru-tally and terribly beating Jean Moulin while interrogating him," Brendan Murphy, author of the book, "The Butcher of Lyons," said

Wednesday. Barbie. 70, is awaiting trial in Lyoos on charges of "erimes against humanity." including de-porting French Jews to Nazi death camps. After World War II, he was convicted in absentia of killing Moulin and was scotenced to death, but the death penalty has since been abolished in France. Barbie has denied killing or torturing Monlin

His attorney, Jacques Verges, created a furor last week when he claimed that Moulin, who was De Ganlle's delegate to the Resistance in France, had committed suicide upon being captured and held at Montluc prison in 1943. He said Moulin died of injuries caused by beating his head against the wall of his cell after learning that his Resistance comrades betraved him.

But Mr. Murphy said he interviewed members of the Resistance and others who were with Mordin at Monthuc and saw the effects on him of repeated torture, apparently inflicted during interrogation ses sions at the nearby Gestapo head-

Reagan and Shamir to Meet

ASHINGTON — President Rosald Reagan and Prime Minis-ted Vitzhak Shamir of Israel are to Inter Nov. 29 in Washington, a Thite House spokesmao said Thursday. The meeting will be their dirst since Mr. Shamir took office committed suicide is a "hypothesis without testimony," said Mr. Murphy, an American free-lance jour-nalist living in Paris. Frederic Dugonjoo, arrested along with Moulin and held in a facing cell, said he saw the Resistance leader return from interroga-tions in a "pitiful state," according to the Murphy book, just released in the United States. They [Gestapo guards] took him away a little before noon and brought him back that evening, at nightfall... He had bandages on his head, he was limping and he was in poor condi-

Other people Mr. Murphy interviewed said Moulin was so severely beaten that his eyes were sunk into his head and he could barely speak: The beatings were administered to determine whether Moulin, who gave his name to his captors as "Jean Martel," was the person code-named "Max," whom the Gestapo knew to be a Resistance leader, Mr. Murphy said. Moulin eventually was trans-

Ski weeks SF 1350 - (all inclusive) from January 8 to February 4 and March 4 to 11.

The Leading Viotels of the World

ferred to Paris for further interrogation but had been so badly beaten he proved worthless for that purpose, according to Mr. Murphy, who was commenting in an inter-

Rabbi Mordecai M. Kaplan, 102, Dies

Washington Post Service

WASHINGTON—Rabbi Mordecai M. Raplan, 102, the founder

washington Post Service

Bucharest in 1912, before completing his studies at the Julian Academy in Paris in the closing years of the Lander M. Raplan, 102, the founder my in Paris in the closing years of the Lander M. Raplan, 102, the founder
my in Paris in the closing years of the Lander M. Raplan, 102, the founder
my in Paris in the closing years of lander M. Raplan, 102, the founder
my in Paris in the closing years of
lander M. Raplan, 102, the founder
my in Paris in the closing years of
lander M. Raplan, 102, the founder
my in Paris in the closing years of
lander M. Raplan, 102, the founder
my in Paris in the closing years of
lander M. Raplan, 102, the founder
lander M. Raplan, 102, the founder
my in Paris in the closing years of
lander M. Raplan, 102, the founder lander M. Raplan, 102, the founder lander M. Raplan Nov. B in New York.

United States in Geneva, Bot he reaffirmed in Parliament on Mon-reaffirmed in Parliament on Mon-naldo Forlani, a Christian Demo-policy, something they themselves

ernment to carry out "a careful

Mr. Craxi's efforts to involve himself in the Lebanon conflict by inviting the Druze leader, Walid Jumblat, on a well-publicized visit to Rome were also deemed by dip-actions by medium-sized powers percent of their vote but remained like ours."

the largest party.

There is no place for spontaneous Naples.

tian Democrats lost more than 5 certain.

Rabbi Kapian, devoted his life to the statue of Spiru Haret, a scholar, interpreting and adapting Jodaism which stands in Bucharest's Unito 20th century America. An early versity Square. advocate of equality for women, he created the now widely used bas mitzvah ceremony for the confir-mation of girls, paralleling the bar mitzvah of boys. His daughter, Judith, was the first girl to participate

He influenced generations of rabbis through 50 years of teaching at the Jewish Theological Seminary in New York, where be was a pro-fessor of homiletics and philosophy Ion Jalea

VIENNA (Reuters) - Ion Jalea. the Romanian sculptor, died Nov. 6, the Romanian news agency Agerpres reported Nov. 9. Mr. Jalea started exhibiting in

IN EUROPE: NICE, LYONS, TOURS, ATHENS. NEXT OPENINGS: PORTO, LISBON.

of the Jewish Reconstructionist World War I. His most noted sie editor and critic for the now Movement, died of pneumonia works include the monument to Georges Enescu, a composer, and Betty Nuttall, 72, who in 1930 the Chicago Cubs to three pen-became the first Briton to win the U.S. women's tennis champion-in 1945, Tuesday night

PLO Figure Dies in Israeli Prison

United Press International TEL AVIV — The brother of Wednesday from a prison in the Sayed Abu Musa, leader of the Palestinian rebellion against Yasser Arafat, died in an Israeli prison Mr. Marjayah is the brother of where he was serving a 20-year sentence, Israeli newspapers said where he was serving a 20-year sen-ence, Israeli newspapers said hursday.

The reports said Ishak Musa

The reports said Ishak Musa

operating behind Syrian lines in Marjayah, 42, complained of chest Lebanon's eastern Bekaa Valley.

defunct Washington Star, Monday of heart disease Arno Bahadgyanyan, 63, com-poser of traditional Russian and Armenian folk music, Tass said

Charles John Grimm, 85, who led ### million annually. The tax of $1.25 tax on every $1,000 grossed by newspapers, ra-dio and television stations was vigorously opposed by the Los Angeles Times and the Los Ange Herald Examiner, which threat-ened to sue. Councilman Art Snyder said their "political machinadons have kept them tax free.

In June the council agreed to impose a tax on several businesse that have been exempt, such as the news media, railroads, liquor distri-bution firms and air freight compsnies. The entire tax package ap-proved Wednesday is expected to generate approximately $18.5 mil-lion of the city's $1.7-billion budget for the current fiscal year. The city is operating at a deficit of almost

THE JAZZ CROSSROADS

FOR RESERVATIONS, CALL MERIDIEN'S MURL INTERNATIONAL RESERVATIONS SYSTEM AT 757.15.70 IN PARIS, 491.35.16, IN LONDON.

THE PARIS MERIDIEN HOTEL IS A

TAURANT QUARTER, AND THEN DROP BY THE PATTO. THIS JAZZ

CROSSROADS CONTINUALLY FEATURES

MERIDIEN: THE TRAVEL COMPANION OF

CONTEMPORARY JAZZ GREATS IN A CLUB

HEN YOUR CONVENTION IS DONE FOR THE DAY, COME AND

DINE IN THE ELEGANT TRES-

HIGHLY PRIVILEGED PLACE.

A CHY WITHIN THE CITY

صكذامن الأصل

Japan Setfor 'Tanaka Election'

Bribery Case Looms Over Talk of Yet Unscheduled Poll

By William Chapman Washington Post Service

TOKYO - Japan's political parties are braced for what already is being called the "Tanaka elec-tion," a still unscheduled test of voting power fought over the scandal surrounding former Prime Minister Kakuci Tanaka, who has been convicted of taking a bribe.

Some picture it as a cleansing exercise to rid politics of the bad odor arising from his conviction in the Lockheed scandal. At the least, it is a confrontation needed to get the wheels of government moving

7% Cut in Arms Called Enough to End Hunger

VATICAN CITY — Scientists from the Pontifical Academy of Sciences said that witholding just 7 percent of global arms spending could resolve the problem of hunger in the world.

The scientists said Wednesday that they had "reached the conclusion that the immense dangers hanging over bumanity can be averted only by the acceptance, by all the nations of the world, of moral principles transcending ev-ery system and every speculation." In an address Saturday, Pope John Paul II told scientists everywhere that they should abandon research

No one believes a new election, if pelled from parliament. called, will rid politics of Mr. Tanawhere his popularity is said to be undiminished.

But the early guessing is that the ruling Liberal Democratic Party, which Mr. Tanaka once presided over and still dominates, would suffer some losses. A loss of 15 to 20 seats is widely talked of, says Yushiro Komiyama, an LDP spokesman who belongs to Mr. l'anaka's faction.

Mr. Komiyama thinks that many of the young voters who supported the party in the last election will

Prime Minister Yasuhiro Nakasone, who alone has the power to dissolve the lower house and call elections, does not want an election this early and has refused to state that he will call one. But almost everyone says he will be forced to do so and Dec. 18 is considered the

Mr. Nakasone had repeatedly expressed hope that the current members would serve out their full are backed by contributions from term until next summer, but Mr. Tanaka himself and the pressure of events are forcing him into a corner, Mr. Tanaka wants a vote again after a five-week deadlock quickly so he can be "purified" in that has paralyzed Japan's parliament, the Diet, since the day Mr. ents. That would give him more Tanaka's four-year sentence was ammunition to defend himself handed down by a court in Tokyo. against demands that he be ex-

The Diet has been incapable of ka himself. It is expected that he action since Mr. Tanaka's sentencwould be re-elected easily from his ing on Oct. 12 because opposition constituency in Niigata prefecture, parties have boycotted sessions, insisting that their resolution to remove Mr. Tanaka must be the first order of business. Legislation to cut taxes and reform the bureaucracy has been set aside and the LDP may decide on the unusual step of passing the bills without voting by the opposition.

Mr. Nakasone is said to prefer delaying an election until at least January, when the test would focus less on the bribery case and more on the policy initiatives the prime

The party can afford some losses. It now holds 286 seats in the 511-seat chamber. The Japan So-cialist Party, the largest of the minority parties, has only 100.

Although they do not expect a disaster at the polls, some LDP members are not cheerful at the prospects of an election in which money-politics" would be the central issue. Most of its candidates big business. Some already are making faint motions to distance themselves from the Tanaka im-

Former Prime Minister Kakuei Tanaka, whose bribery conviction is a factor in speculation on Japanese elections.

campaign posters carefully de-scribe him as a member of Takeo campaign official. "The main tar-Fukuda's faction, not Mr. Tanaget is the Tanaka faction, but the LDP itself has a character of corwrap the majority party in a cloak of Tanakaism. "Our main strategy campaign official. "The main tar-

Human Error in Navigation Program Called Likely Reason KAL Jet Strayed

By Richard Witkin New York Times Service

NEW YORK - Aviation experts say a new theory has emerged as the likeliest explanation of why a South Korean airliner flew into Soviet airspace Sept. 1. The theory is that a one-digit human error was made in putting the takeoff location into onboard computers.

The Boeing 747 was shot down by a Soviet fighter plane and all 269 people on board were killed. The Soviet Union has contended that the plane was on an espionage mission and deliberately entered Sovi-et airspace. U.S. officials have con-ceded that Moscow probably did not realize the jet was a commercial The new theory is said to be under study by a seven-member inquiry team from the International Civil Aviation Organization, a looked at. But the theory of human error is viewed by experts as the one best fitting the known facts. J. Lynn Helms, head of the Federal Aviation Administration, said then asked about the theory: "It is a very real possibility. I have not seen any that are more likely." But he emphasized that "the de-139 degrees 58 minutes west longi-tude instead of 149 degrees 58 min-modification offered two years earutes. In other words, the computers lier by the computer manufacturer, would have been programmed to Litton Industries, been made in the utes. In other words, the computers figure that Anchorage was 10 de-equipment abound the jumbo jet. grees, or 300 nautical miles, east of where it actually was.

With such an error, the computers would have guided the plane too far west before making a slight shift in course to the left onto the assigned heading toward Japan.

Such an error almost certainly would not have been made had a

Greyhound Runs Buses In U.S. Despite Strike

United Press International

PHOENIX, Arizona - Greyhound buses were on U.S. roads Thursday for the first time in two weeks with nonunion drivers, es-United Nations affiliate. Two or corted by police and security three other explanations are being guards, driving past angry pickets.

In negotiations at the end of Oc-tober in Scottsdale, Arizona, Grey-hound proposed a 9.5-percent pay cut, which union members turned down. About 12,500 employees of the nation's largest bus company, including 7,000 drivers, walked off their jobs Nov. 3. Greyhound reruption; many [in the LDP] are ICAO."

The reason the plane flew off course may never be known for certain. Hard proof may not be obtainable except from crash-resis-Efforts to retrieve the devices have

 The jet was to have flown along an airway whose center is within 35 miles (56.5 kilometers) of Soviet irspace. The airway, known as R (for Red) 20, would have taken the ane east of Japan's main island of Houshn and west from there to-

The crew members reported by radio what they thought their positions were as they pass way points. They might have susthey could not make contact with reports via longer-range high-frequency channels and via another South Korean 747 that left Anchorige after them.

fCAO official said, "you have to

SWITZERLAND Beoutiful sunny HOLIDAY APARTMENTS to 5 rooms, all with balance

ESTATE

ward-Winning Luxury Condominium Residences ... Spectacular views from each suite overlooking Toronto and Lake Ontario, 24-hour Concierge and security. Interior designer/decorator service available. Within walking distance

PRINCIPALITY of MONACO

For buying, selling, renting, monaging or insuring

REAL ESTATE

CONSULT:

AGEDI

(J. de Beer, President)

Exclusive Representative for the Principality of Monaco of SOTHEBY'S INTERNATIONAL REALTY

Free documentation upon request.

SPECIAL SPOT

15 min. from MONTREUX

VIEW and QUITENESS -

a charming 200 sq.m. villa (new)

- large living room with fireplace

4 bedrooms & first class fully equiped

mmobilier 2000 /a

True du les 1815 cierens

only S.Fr. 430,000.- tél. 0041/21/64 10 61

SWITZERLAND

FREE SALE TO

FOREIGNERS

& SKIS RESORTS

land: 700 sq.m.

kitchen

"L'Astoria" (5th Floor), 26bis Blvd. Princesse-Cho Monte-Carlo, MC 98000 MONACO Tel.: (93) 50.66.00 - Telex: 479417 MC.

of the financial and business district, shopping, dining and entertainment. A quality residential development by North America's largest private real estate company. Olympia & York Developments Limited, 1 First Canadian Place, Toronto Ontario Canada M5X 1B5 Phone: (416) 862-6222

Oklahoma

New modern one-story

418,800 sq. ft. air-conditioned building on 90 acres. Crane and rail. Plus outstanding paint system.

BINSWANGER

OFFICE/COMMERCIAL BUILDING

well located in the center of Income (rent) DM 750,000.— Sales price DM 9,200,000.—

MANFRED MIELBRECHT

Alles 38, 4000 Dutuskiorf, W. Germany_Tel.: [0] 211-324019.

HAMBURG

MANFRED MIELBRECHT
Internationale Vermögensanlagen

FOR SALE

IN THE REGION OF FRIBOURG

(Switzerland)

Modern premises (1,200 sq.m. covered) with annexes and a large energitive residential quarter located on 22,000 sq.m. of flat land completely feaced and partially planted with trees. Priviledged site in a central unique location with all facilities of communications and transport. Excellent

ADFICA S.A.

9 Avenue Vibert CH-1227 Caronge/GE

WATERFRONT

A Quiet Feeling Of Belonging...

The beauty of the apartments, the inviting warmth of the lobby, the comfort of the glassencircled Skyline Leisure and Health Club* with swimming pool, sauna, exercise rooms and sun deck, the Skyline Lounge for intimate or formal parties and meetings, the helpful concierge and staff...this is Dag Hammarskjold Tower-not merely New York's distinguished condominium residence, but a presence that respects your privacy and compliments your

New York's Distinguished Condominium Residence

DAG HAMMARSKJOLD TOWER

240 East 47th St. NY. NY. 10017

One Block from the United Nations. New fully completed Studio. One and Two Bedroom Apartments. $184,800 to $787,750. Models open daily and weekends by appointment 12121759-8844 Telex 237-867

Selling and Managing Agent Douglas Elliman-Globons & Ives. Inc. nt of R.H. Sandar Projects Inc The complete offering and terms one or a prospector available from the sponsor

Forbes Wagon Creek Ranch

Your legacy: A 40-acre ranch and a way of life

As big as all outdoors, Forbes Magazine is now offering substantial land for skiers, hunters, naturalists and lovers of America's magnificent Old West. For the pleasure of you and your family today, these ranches, adjacent to the Forbes Trinchera Ranch in Southern Colorado, will be an important legacy in the future of your loved ones.

Minimum-size family ranches are 40 acres, and vary up to 74 acres, with prices starting at $30,000. For details and our color brochure write or

01-223-9066

P. McCaldin/Forbes Europe Inc. P.O. Box 86C London SW 11 3UT, England

PRESTIGIOUS 6,000 sq.fr. office building for Sale near Chicago O'Hare International Airport.

Price LA million 312 772 7748 DLB.

2404 Dempster, Des Plaines, III. 60016 USA

SEND FOR A FREE COPY of the tional Bereid Tribune's INTERNATIONAL REAL ESTATE ACENTS, BROKERS AND DEVELOPER'S

CUIDE .

Write in Max Ferrero, trustional Bersel Trib I Ave. Charles de Gan

tices from only S.Fr. 178,000, 80% cheep mortgage. deal investment opportunity.

HIGH ALPS OF GRISON

IGB Consultants Ltd. P.O. Box 460, CH-8034 Zurich. Tel.: 69 33 96

GENTLEMAN'S FARM

eration in the Alentejo 2 km in city limits. Irrigation dam

Publicitas, CH-18000 Vevi

FOUR-STORY

OFFICE BUILDING, orea 2,600 sq.m. plus 3 floors of garage, parking and starage, available for lease, either comlete or by floor, in Athe

Syngrou Ave. .
For Information writes Tel.: 01-4820015, The: NIRE GR.

CITY OF LONDON -FREEHOLD OFFICE INVESTMENTS FOR-SALE

Within 1,300 maters of the Bank of England, superb returbished office building Approximately 6,400 sq.ft. producing on income of $44,000 P.A.X. fully let. Price: $650,000.

Approximately 6,300 sq.ft. produc-ing an income of $35,000 F.A.X. fully lef. Price: 2600,000. To be sold jointly or separately

For full details write: City Agents 4/6 Copinell Avenue, London BC

COMING IN DECEMBER

NORTH AMERICAN REAL ESTATE

a special report by the International Herald Tribuse

For advertising information

Sandy O'Hera international Lands Lyberte New York, N.Y. 10022

Td.: (212) 152 58 90 or your local IIII seed as a

WASIGN 135 156

piake by a Tai

L MAT A

---

indicated and and and and The Park, the technical. mentalistation anti articles REMARKS MOREST TO THE Some the real properties of aephilina tali new 🛂 🎎 Herald ....

Our exclusively de leather pocket d sthin, flat and el Cold recent . The care

mittals include

PLUS. Pages of useful palm albour greatures and greatures a pro-

International Herald Train chicajon in any other convenient dling in Europe included

Mistake by a Tass Computer Reveals Rogers Rejects Soviet Hunger for High Technology

By Robert Gillette Los Angeles Times Service

MOSCOW - The Soviet Union. which is struggling to keep up with Western computer technology, is showing keen interest in a new form of computer memory under development for the U.S. military. The memory device, which would operate on impulses of light rather than electronic signals, is potentially capable of holding trillions of bits of information in a space smaller than an ordinary home computer, whose memory is measured in thousands of bits. Successful development of the new "photon echo" memory, ac-cording to U.S. industry publica-tions, would greatly improve the gathering and processing of air re-connaisance and other forms of intelligence and would enable military commanders to keep close track of troops and materiel over an area the size of Europe. this week when Tass, the official news agency, inadvertently sent out, on its English-language news service, part of an internal report about the U.S. research effort.

Apparently as the result of a computer error at Tass headquarters in Moscow, about 400 words of the Russian-language report were relayed Monday to Tass printers in Western embassies and news of-fices before a Soviet operator discovered the error and cut the report

The highly technical report identified a company in Vienna, Virginia, near Washington, D.C., which is developing the optical computer policy statement, a top Defense memory, and described the system's dimensions and operating that "the death squads of the vioprinciples in detail.

The Tass report, clearly not in-tended for publication, said the new technology "makes possible the processing of electronic images" in El Salvador are actu-ally benefiting the leftist guerrillas and "more must be done" to re-strain them.

Fred C. Ikle, undersecretary of received with the help of air recon-defense for policy, said Wednesday naissance, almost in real time nn that by attacking the democratic board the aircraft, and [allows] the center in El Salvador with assassitransmission of reconnaissance in- nations and intimidation, "the vio- run," he said. formation to military units in the lent extremists" on both left and same form as in photographic air . right "are in fact working together"

Totally out of character with ordinary Tass articles, the technical House and following up a new ef-report was dispatched with articles fort by the U.S. Embassy in San about what it costs Moscow to Salvador to single out important clear snow from its streets every winter (45 million rubles, or $60 million) and the announcement of forceful statement by a senior Reaa new pamphlet called "December Is Near: Europe Must Choose," an attack on plans to install new U.S.

classified U.S. information. By deaths squads before their assassi-

Gold metal corners

Real Factor

ordinary Russians, apparently be-cause it also carries detailed reports ogy. of Soviet miltary capabilities.

Western analysts said the Tass evidence that the news agency's activities in the United States and other toreign countries range be-youd the gathering of news. "It tions. makes you wander what else In the latest such incident, West they're using their news wire for," one military attaché observed.

In addition to its news service, Tass prepares a classified daily news report for limited use by government and Communist Party of-Soviet interest in the new memo-ry technology was revealed earlier the color of the report's cover, it ficials. Known as "white Tass," by more closely resembles Western news reports. Access to "white Tass" is considered a sign of pres-tige in Soviet officialdom.

According to Soviet emigres and pany's knowledge.

Wednesday, however, further defectors, about a third of Soviet For Europe checking showed that it closely fol-lowed the contents of an article in of the KGB, the Soviet secret police the May 23 issue of Aviation Week and intelligence agency. The reand Space Technology, a U.S. technical journal known for its authorisources, are journalists approved taxive reports on military technolfur assignment abroad by the KGB ogy and one that the Russians are known to study with great care.

The magazine is not available to

The United States and its allies launched a drive two years ago to error adds to already considerable counter a large-scale Soviet effort to abtain strategic technology from the West, in many cases by circum-

> German officials, acting on a request by the U.S. Customs Service, were reported on Monday to have seized a $1.5 million computer system that was believed to be destined for the Soviet Union.

U.S. officials identified the system as a VAX 11-782 manufactured by the Digital Equipment Corp. They said a West German attempted to ship the computer to the Soviet Union without the com-

Neutron Bomb

NATO Chief Sees Bomb As Political Anathema

Limited Press International ROME - General Bernard W. Rogers, the supreme commander of NATO, Thursday described the neutron bomh as political anathema in Europe and said he strongly opposes introducing the weapon

General Rogers told members of Italy's military hierarchy that he ruled out the enhanced radiation bomb although he considers it the most efficient nuclear weapon available to NATO forces.

"In my U.S. role," the former army chief of staff said, "I plead with the United States, don't try to send any neutron weapons to Europe because they're anathema here. They wouldn't be politically

The general said he took this position "even though as a military commander, if you're going to fight a war you want to fight it with the most efficient weapons you've got and the most efficient weapon we have in the nuclear stockpile are the neutron weapons." The neutron termediate-range nuclear missiles bomb kills as effectively as nuclear scheduled to start next month and weapons while causing less blast damage to buildings. His address to an audience of invade Western Europe, NATO Italian military leaders, diplomats would run out of manpower and and members of parliament was weapons in a matter of days and sponsored by the Italian Institute would be forced to resort to tactical for Research on Defense.

U.S. General Bernard W. Rogers, the supreme allied commander in Europe, speaking in Rome on Thursday.

to strengthen its convention forces. If Warsaw Pact forces were to nuclear weapons, he said. for Research on Defense.

General Rogers, who succeeded General Alexander M. Haig Jr. as the commander of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization in 1979, underlined the alliance's need both to carry out the deployment of in-

U.S. A-Shield in Europe

Ex-Chief of CIA Doubts

DES MOINES, Iowa - The sion of Grenada on Oct. 25. United States will not use nuclear weapons to defend Western Europe for fear of direct Soviet retaliation on the United States, accord-. ing to the former central intelligence director, Stansfield

Admiral Turner, who headed the agency under President Jimmy Carter, said Wednesday that the United States has given its allies in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization a false sense of military security by promising to use its nuclear

"We've been misleading them for many years now," Admiral Turner said. "We keep telling them we're going to defend Western Enrope with our nuclear weapons so they think they don't have to buy conventional weapons. It really isn't true we're going to use nuclear weapons and expose the United Further, the retired naval officer said, a visible U.S. military presence in Europe has created the impression among Europeans that they do not control their own fate.

That helplessness explains what he called Europe's "incipient" reac-tion to the Soviet Union's shooting down of a South Korean airliner on

CHRISTIANIA BANK LUXEMBOURG S.A.

PRIVATE BANKING FOR THE EURO-INVESTOR

Eurodeposits · Securities · Precious Metals · Portfolio Management

Christiania Bank Luxembourg S.A. offers a full range of private banking services to the Euro-Investor. The Grand-Duchy of Luxembourg is one of the major financial centers of Europe. Tax regulations are favourable to the non-resident investor and the Banking Law of Luxembourg ensures confidentiality.

Christiania Bank Luxembourg S.A. is among the first Nordic banks to offer selected private banking services to international clients. It is a wholly owned subsidiary of Christiania Bank og Kreditkasse, a major Norwegian bank headquartered in Oslo. Christiania Bank has representatives and affiliates in London, New York, Houston, Sao Paulo, Hong Kong,

Singapore, Paris, Zürich and Stockholm

CHRISTIANIA BANK. 88 Grand-Rue, L - 1660 Luxembourg LUXEMBOURG S.A. Tel. (352) 471515

Please return the coupon below for more information:

Private Banking for the Euro-Investor

This offer does not apply to residents of Norway.

condemnation of the U.S.-led inva-

Admiral Turner, who spoke to a gathering of Drake University stu-dents, said an overhaul of the United States's relationship with its allies and more attention to the Soviet Union should be the country's top foreign policy priorities.

Instead, he said, the Reagan administration has become preoccupied with the "minor" issues of Central America, Grenada and

Two of the most disturbing foreign policy developments under President Ronald Reagan, Admiral Turner said, have been the increasing tendency to intervene in other countires - either militarily or covertly - and the willingness to accept increased tension with the Sovict Union.

2 Bombs Explode in Paris

PARIS — Two bombs exploded early Thursday ontside religious institutions in Paris, damaging the buildings. Police said the first explosion occurred outside the main residence of Roman Catholic clerical leaders near the Champs-Elysées. A guard was injured. Minutes later, a bomb exploded outside a Sept. 1 and the surprisingly strong Seventh-day Adventist Church.

U.S. Says Death Squads In Salvador Abet Leftists

By Hedrick Smith

New York Times Service WASHINGTON - In a major lent right" in El Salvador are actu-Fred C. Ikle, undersecretary of and that "both must be defeated." His speech, cleared by the White death squad activity, was the most gan administration officials on this

Mr. Ikle returned last week from missiles in Western Europe starting a trip to El Salvador where U.S. next month. officials said that he had sought to Western military officials were impress the defense minister and puzzled, fearing at first that the top army commanders of the need report might have been based on to take measures to curtail the

Plenty of space

address section

No sooner was it introduced than everybody wanted

Herald Tribune diary

started as a distinctive

Christmas present for a huge success that now we make it available to all our readers. This ingeniously designed diary is flat as can be-nest and huxurious-

Slips into your pocket

with instant "jotting"

including a built-in note pad.

without a bulge and is ready paper the second you need it.

The perfect Christmas gift for almost anyone . .

- Notepaper sheets are fitted on the back of the diary,

No curled up edges. No torn pages.
 Comes with notepaper retills

ersonalized with your initials

(up to 3) at no extra cost.

including yourself.

a simple pull removes

- Format: 8 x 13 cm.

few of our friends, was such a one! The International

Herald Eribune

Our exclusively-designed leather pocket diary is thin, flat and elegant.

nations or intimidation of trade union leaders and moderate politicians from the Salvadoran center discredited the government.

He spoke Wednesday night to the World Affairs Council in Dallas but the prepared text of his speech was made available here. In it he urged Congress not to cut back aid to Central American countries. "If we calibrate our support at a level so low that we are bound to be always short of success, we ask for defeat in the long

But the major departure in his speech was the strong attack on the rightist death squads in El Salvador where the administration has been increasingly concerned about the recent rise in the level of assassinaagrarian reform program. At one ments indirectly by opposing dem-point, he compared the violent ocratic governments.

Fred C. Ikle

right in El Salvador to fascists in tions and intimidation as Salvador- other countries who have historirightist officials responsible for an legislators have debated the cally helped communist move-

Contadora Group Seeks Immediate Peace Pacts

By Hedrick Smith

end to the conflicts in Central America has proposed that five governments in the region sign peace treaties immediately, according to Latin American diplomats.

They said the proposal Wednesday by Mexico, Panama, Venezuela and Colombia was in the form of a resolution proposed in the Organization of American States. The res-olution, which several other Latin American nations were reportedly ready to support, was also said to urge outside powers not to obstruct the peace negotiations.

The diplomats said the resolution also reaffirms the principles of nonintervention and self-determination — a point that some Latin American officials say they regard as an indirect criticism of the U.S.-led invasion of Grenada.

Foreign ministers of the resolu-tion's four sponsoring nations, which are known as the Contadora group, met Wednesday to review a draft peace treaty for the Central American region, prepared by technical experts.

Afterward, Roberto Layton, the Panamanian delegate to the OAS, sought the support of other delega-tions for a resolution urging Nica-ragua, El Salvador, Honduras, Costa Rica and Guatamala "to sign accords immediately" that would seek to halt the clandestine arms flow within the region and end outside support for guerrillas.

The Contadora group has turned to the OAS for the first time for Foreign ministers of Venezuela and troops on the ground, U.S. officials Panama have said they felt it was necessary to accelerate the peace WASHINGTON — The four the Oct. 25 invasion of Grenada nation group seeking to mediate an and the risk of cross-border con-flicts between Nicaragua and Hon-

> The new push by the Contadora group followed the endorsement by Nicaragua, Costa Rica, Honduras, Guatamala and El Salvador last month of a 21-point declaration of objectives to promote peace and reconciliation in Central America. ■ Pastora Warns on Invasion

Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times also reported from Wash-Edén Pastora Gómez, a Nicaraguan rebel leader, again warned the United States and Honduras on Wednesday not to invade Nicarawetinsuly into the whole Nicara-guan people" would light back and that his own anti-government force of about 3,000 guerrillas would join in resisting an invasion. "When we talk about an invasion of foreign forces," Mr. Pastora said Wednesday, "we're not just talking about the Sandinist forces [resistingl, we're talking about the force of the whole Nicaraguan people."

Known as Commander Zero,
Mr. Pastora was Nicaragua's deputy defense minister after the Sandinist government took power. He later turned against the govern-ment because of what he considers its rigid, Marxist drift.

Nicaraguan officials have contended that the United States and Honduras are planning a Grenada-style invasion to topple the Sandinists. About 800 U.S. Marines are scheduled to land in Honduras on formal backing of its efforts to promote peace in Central America.

Friday as part of a large-scale exermote peace in Central America.

ECONOMIC INTERDEPENDENCE AND THE FUTURE OF WORLD TRADE

The International Herald Tribune/Trade Net Conference January 19-20, 1984, The Shoreham Hotel, Washington, D.C.

George P. Shultz, United States Secretary of State, will give the keynote address at a conference sponsored by the International Herald Tribune and Trade Net on Economic Interdependence and the Future of World

JANUARY 19

KEYNOTE ADDRESS

George P. Shultz, United States Secretary of State. EMERGING PRIORITIES FOR OECD & GATT Moderator: Carl Gewirtz, Associate Editor, The International Herald Tribune.

Roy Demman, Head of the Delegation of the Commission of the European Communities, Washington, D.C. William B. Kelly, Deputy Director General of GATT.

J. Paul Lyet, Chairman, Sperry Corporation.

Sylvia Ostry, Special Advisor, Privy Council Office, Government of Canada, former Head, Dept. of Economics and Statistics, OECD.

Michael B. Smith, Deputy United States Trade Representative.

PROTECTIONISM: RHETORIC & REALITY Malcolm Baldrige, United States Secretary of Commerce.

Mamoru Tabuchi, Executive Managing Director,

Mitsui & Co. Ltd., Tokyo. President and Chief

Executive Officer, Mitsui & Co. (U.S.A.) Inc.

POLICIES & INCENTIVES
FOR INDUSTRIAL COMPETITIVENESS The European Viewpoint

Laurent Fabius, Minister, Industry and Research, France.
The United States Viewpoint.
Moderator: Myer Rashish, former U.S. Under Secretary of State for Economic Affairs. Jerry E. Dempsey, President, Borg-Warner Corporation.

Technology Group, Westinghouse Electric Corp. TRADE POLICIES & THE DEBT CRISIS Chan Ksi Yan, Secretary General, ASEAN. Key government official, Latin America.

Thomas J. Minrin, President, Energy and Advanced COCKTAIL RECEPTION

for international business leaders to participate in a high level review of world trade policies. Places at the conference are limited and we urge you to register without delay.

The conference represents an exceptional opportunity

JANUARY 20

FISCAL & MONETARY POLICIES: THEIR LINKAGE TO INTERNATIONAL TRADE Otmar Emminger, former President, Deutsche Bundesbank.

R. T. McNamar, U.S. Deputy Secretary of the Treasury. EAST-WEST TRADE & TECHNOLOGY TRANSFER Moderator: Donald M. Kendall, Chairman and Chief Executive Officer, PepsiCo., Inc. Don Booker, U.S. House of Representatives, Chairman, House Foreign Affairs Subcommittee on International Economic Policy and Trade.

Stephen D. Bryen, U.S. Dept. Asst. Secretary of Defense for International Economic Trade and Security Policy. Heinz Schimmelbusch, Member, Governing Committee, Metallgesellschaft AG.

U.S. & EEC TRADE POLICIES: CONVERGENCE & DIVERGENCE William E. Brock, United States Trade Representative. Etienne Davignon, Vice President of the Commission of the European Communities, Brussels.

POLICIES & INCENTIVES FOR EXPORT TRADE Moderator: Allen E. Puckett, Chairman and Chief Executive Officer, Hughes Aircraft Co. William H. Draper, III, Chairman, Export-Import Bank.
David C. Garliedt, President, Ingersoll-Rand Co.
Leonardus Heessels, Member, Management Board,
N.V. Philips Gloeilampenfabricket.

Paul A. Vander Myde, U.S. Assistant Secretary of Commerce for Congressional Affairs. THE CONGRESSIONAL AGENDA: DOES IT FACILITATE CORPORATE COMPETITIVENESS?

Robert J. Dole, United States Senate.

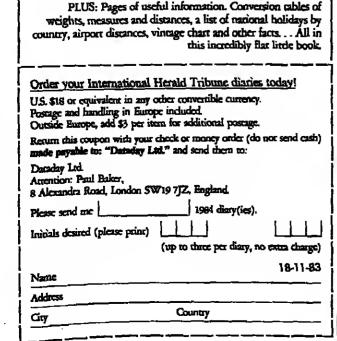

Chairman, Senate Finance Committee

REGISTRATION INFORMATION

The participation fee is $ 895 or the equivalent in a convertible currency for each participant. Fees are payable in advance, and will be returned in full for any cancellation that is postmarked on or before January 5, 1984. Please return conference registration form to: International Herald Tribune, Conference Office, 181 Ave. Charles-de-Gaulle, 92521 Neutly Cedex, France. Or telephone: (33-1) 747 1265. Telex: 612 832.

CONFERENCE LOCATION The Shoreham Hotel, Calvert St. & Connecticut Ave., N.W. Washington, D.C., 20008, U.S.A.
Telephone: (202) 234 0700. Telex: 7108220142.
A block of rooms has been reserved for participants. For further information, please contact the hotel directly.

CONFERENCE REGISTRATION FORM Please enroll the following participant for the conference. January 19-20, 1984. ☐ Check enclosed ☐ Please invoice 18-11-83 Surname First Name Position Company City/Country Telephone

P.O. Box 47o, Bin Yass hireet, Telex: 45779
For reservations call your nearest inter-Continental sales office.

Herald Tribune

Palestinians After Arafat

Already crippled by Israel, Yasser Arafat has been finished off by Syria, What General Sharon could not complete in the face of America's protest, President Assao has now completed, apparently over Soviet protest. The final blow to the only independent organization of Palestine Arabs has been delivered by other Arabs. Mr. Arafat, baving lived by Soviet arms, bas been crushed by Soviet arms. Long sustained by oil money from the Gulf, be has succumbed to superior force bought by oil money from the Gulf. Such is the bizarre ending of a movement that, for all its daring, never found a political vision.

Who defeated Mr. Arafat? Israel, America,

Egypt, the Soviet Union, Jordan, Lebanon. Syria, Lihva, Saudi Arabia — all had a hand. Above all, he defeated himself. Even if he now escapes the Tripoli trap, as he did the Beirut siege last year, he departs empty-handed.
In 15 years, Mr. Arafat's fighters failed to gain a single inch of land in the region once called Palestine. Now they have lost their last foothold even in any contiguous area. If the PLO regroups, it will be bound over to Syria. Four million Palestinians remain dispersed and stateless, hundreds of thousands in pathetic camps, outcasts even in Arab societies. Nor will Mr. Arafat find martyrdom in defeat. The terror by which he made himself known the world over was cruelly random. The political goals he finally professed were inco-herent or implausible. He was unwilling or unable to relieve his people's bomelessness by stages, or use his orestige to teach them coexis-tence with Israel. He departs without glimpsing the promised land, or pointing a way.

What then does Mr. Arafat's strange and violent passage prove? That the plight of the Palestinians is not a central concern of the Arab world, nor even a humanitarian concern. The outrage expressed over the murder of innocent Palestinians in Sabra and Shatila, when Israel could be partly blamed, has found no echo now that Syria sponsors assaults on Palestinians in camps called Beddawi and Nahr al Bared. Mr. Arafat's defeat also proves that, oratory aside, there is no such thing as "the Arah nation." It is 22 nations, waging wars among themselves for reasons that have little to do with Palestine.

Wise Palestinians, especially the millionplus in the West Bank and Gaza, will finally take charge of their own fate. Wise Israelis will encourage them, let them practice their own politics, find their own leaders and produce their own ideas for living in peace with Jordan and Israel. And wise Americans, baving seen cynical Arabs wreck a destructive Palestinian movement, will lend a hand in bringing a constructive one to life.

- THE NEW YORK TIMES,

Policing the Gene-Splicers

Genetic engineers working to improve crop plants now want to start releasing some of their creations from the laboratory into the field. The National Institutes of Health, the U.S. agency that oversees gene-splicing re-search, approved the first such releases. But it was promptly sued by critics who consider the action premature and bazardous.

Mosi organisms introduced into a new environment rapidly perish, but a handful survive. often with unwelcome results. Starlings and sparrows, let loose by a naturalist who wanted America to be home to all the birds mentioned in Shakespeare, have become serious agricultural pests. A fungus brought from Asia on nursery plants early in this century wiped out the common U.S. chesinut tree.

In its suit against the National Institutes of Health, the Foundation on Economic Trends cites several ecologists who stress the dangers of releasing genetically engineered organisms into the environment without careful study. Such concern seems widespread, According to a recent report prepared for the Environmental Protection Agency, "The consensus among ecologists is that the outcome of a species introduction is not predictable" but rather "a game of chance with the possibility of both high risks and benefits."

Genetic engineers believe, to the contrary, that the organisms they wish to release will be barmless. They say that adding genes for disease resistance to a corn plant is a specific intervention from which the plant cannot accidentally acquire the capacity to thrive in the wild and become a pest. And because the natural competitiveness of crop plants was bred out long ago. the engineers argue, such plants can grow only in cultivated conditions. So while the effect of adding a few genes may not be wholly predictable, say the engineers, it cannot present any greater threat to the environment than the manipulations of plant breeders during the last 10,000 years.

There are also plans to enhance agriculturalimportant bacteria. Is there a danger that, say, a nitrogen-fixing bacterium designed to live with wheat might jump to weeds and make them spread like wildfire? Could an altered bacterium expand from its ecological nicbe and start to compete where it would be less desirable? The engineers contend that competitiveness is so complex a quality that it could not be conferred accidentally,

Relying on such arguments, the National Institutes of Health committee has approved the limited release of a bacterium designed to prevent frost damage to crops, and a crop plant with genetically conferred resistance to disease. The differences between the ecologists and the genetic engineers may be more apparent than real. But those differences hould not lackadaisically be left unresolved.

It is in the interest of companies investing in agricultural genetics to press the National Institutes of Health to move beyond an ad boc. case-by-case method and develop a more sys-tematic approach. That could best be done by convening a conference of experts and baving them lay out a clear scientific rationale for the release of genetically engineered organisms into the environment. As long as the agency inadequately explains its actions, it can expect to perturb the public and confuse development of this promising field.

- THE NEW YORK TIMES.

Other Opinion

Is Andropov Really in Charge?

Soviet officials are assuring Western journalists that President Andropov will soon reappear in public. After more than three months absence, however, it is questionable whether he can establish his control over the Politburo on his return, since his health as he approaches 70 will remain in doubt. He bas not succeeded in replenishing the leadership with his own men, and even those who, like Geydar Alivev and Grigory Romanov, were promoted after the death of Mr. Brezhnev, are unlikely to pin their career on a man who appears to bave little future.

- The Times (London).

Last Saturday marked the first anniversary of Yuri Andropov's rise to power in the Soviet Union. That is one of the very few things we know for a fact about this enigmatic mystery man. Although policy statements continue to be issued in Mr. Andronov's name, there is considerable international unease over the lack of a visible leader in the Kremlin.

- The Bangkok Post.

One year after the world was transfixed by the reality of the long-awaited Brezhnev succession, it is now contemplating still another change in the top Soviet leadership. The world is bound to be nervous about any potential transfer of power in the Kremlin. Not only is the succession procedure somewhat obscure: so is the process by which a party secretary builds up his authority. Nevertheless, the pros pect of further change in a hidebound and militaristic system may bave its uses.

- The Baltimore Sun. Nicaragua Isn't Grenada

U.S. military power can provide a shield for weak, small countries in the Caribbean struggling to remain free. Political imagination and a reinvigorated foreign aid program can help the people of those island countries to realize their dreams of a better life.

The liberation of Grenada should be the occasion for a comprehensive political and economic program for the whole Caribbean. What it should not be is a model for American policy in other regions such as Central America. Freeing Grenada was feasible because it is small, and the United States could bring to bear overwhelming military preponderance. By contrast, an invasion of Nicaragua at this juncture would make no sense.

Nicaragua is far larger than Grenada and American casualties would be much heavier. The overthrow of the Marxist dictatorship there would only become feasible if the internal resistance becomes much stronger and better organized than it is now. President Reagan. who has climbed to power partly because his adversaries consistently underestimate him, is canny enough to see these facts. It is unlikely that he will launch a U.S. invasion of Nicaragua in the coming election year.

- William V. Shannon in The Boston Globe.

FROM OUR NOV. 18 PAGES, 75 AND 50 YEARS AGO

1908: Fleet May Stay in Pacific

MANILA - The New York Herald's correspondent on the Connecticut reports: "News of the death of the Dowager Empress and the Emperor has been received by the fleet with great interest. When inquiry was made whether the expected trouble in China would affect the plans for the fleet. Admiral Sperry responded that he had nothing to say." Many believe the situation will detain the ships in the Pacific, even if the oresent crisis seems to pass satisfactorily. The civil and military opinion is that America occupies a most advantageous position, which would be weakened by the fleer's withdrawal. Without leaving Philippine waters it can uphold the American guarantees of an open door and the integrity of China.

1933: U.S. Recognizes Soviet Russia WASHINGTON - Formal recognition by the United States of Soviet Russia, ending the 16-year supture between the two nations, has been announced by President Roosevelt. The agreement, under which diplomatic relations will be established, was reached at a White House conference between the President and Maxim Litvinov. Soviet commissar for foreign affairs. Later, pencils were poised as the president began to speak, but he hegan by reading an announcement of the steel industry's endorsement of its code. This resulted in laughter, breaking the air of tension. The president then announced the government's decision to recognize the U.S.S.R. and the appointment of William C. Bullitt as ambassador

INTERNATIONAL HERALD TRIBUNE

JOHN HAY WHITNEY, Chairman 1958-1982

KATHARINE GRAHAM, WILLIAM S. PALEY, ARTHUR OCHS SULZBERGER LEE W. HUEBNER. Publisher PHILIP M. FOISTE RENE BONDY Elecutive Editor FRANCOIS DESMAISONS Director of Circulation WALTER WELLS ROBERT K. McCABE Depute Editor Depute Editor

SAMUEL ABT CARL GEWIRTZ truemational Herald Tribune, 181 Avenue Charles-de-Gaulle, 92200 Neuilly-sur-Seine, France Telephone 747-12/6, Telex: 612718 (Herald) Cables Herald Paris.

Issuaute Editor

Gen. Mgr. Asia: Alain Lecous, 24-34 Hennessy Rd. Hong King Tel. 5-285618. Telex 61170, Mgr. Asia: Alain Lecous, 24-34 Hennessy Rd. Hong King Tel. 5-285618. Telex 61170, Managing Dir. U.K. Robin Mackician, 63 Long Acre, Lindon W.C. Tel. 836-4802, Telex 762009 S.A. au capital de 1-200006 F. RCS. Namerre: B*32021126. Commission Partiaire No. 34231. U.S. subscription* 5280 yearly. Second-class postage paid at Long Island City, N.Y. 11101, 5-1985, International Herold Tribune. All rights reserved.

Denuty Publishe

Time to Break the Habit of Bad Neighbor Policy

By James Reston

WASHINGTON — The foreign ministers of the Organization of American States have been meetof American States have been meeting in Washington this week, except for Secretary of State George Shultz, who found that be had another date.
This is one of the old complaints of Latin Americans, Washington's mind is usually on the Soviet Union, or the emplacement of more missiles in Europe, or on the Far East or the Middle East, except of course when it sends the marines into Central America or Grenada to deal with the consequences of its neglect.

The tension between North and Latin America is understandable. The United States has greater responsibilities for the peace and order of the world than its neighbors. But if ever there was a time for honest talk among the American states it is now. They have divided over Washing-ton's support of the British defense of the Falkland Islands, and over Washington's military operations in Nica-ragua, El Salvador and Grenada. But it should not be assumed that Latin American nations are indifferent to the threat of communist subversion. They may have more reason than anyone else to worry about the export of Cuban and Soviet military power and failing economic theory. What bothers them is that Wash-

WASHINGTON — There has been so much talk about the danger of a stream of $200-billion deficits that some people are starting to ask if concern hasn't been overstated. After all, the economy is from deficit spending, isn't it? Treasury Secretary Donald T.

Regan keeps saying the deficit in fiscal 1985 may be "only" $125 bil-lion or so, not $200 billion.

In the face of this soothing, do-nothing pabulum, it was a relief this week to have straight talk on the budget problem from Republican

Senator Bob Dole of Kansas, Democratic Representative Dan Rosten-kowski of Illinois and especially Alice Rivlin, the former director of the Congressional Budget Office, who is now back at the Brookings Institution as director of research.

At her first Brookings press conference since leaving the CBO. Mrs.

Rivlin urged swift action now to reduce the deficits, possibly with the belp of a bipartisan commission rationale for departing from what would seem to be common sense

"There isn't any cogent economic to work out the details.

recovering, in part due to stimulus

ington decides on its own to deal with these problems by sending in the marines and the navy, against its com-mitments under the United Nations or OAS charters, and doesn't even bother to have the president or the secretary of state find time to come around and explain why.

The OAS was created as an instru-ment for dealing with the common problems of the Americas. It has a charter of principles, beginning with the proposition that no state has the right to use force or the threat of force to interfere in the internal affairs of another state. But that is not the way the OAS works, It has a noble beadquarters in Washington where foreign ministers meet occasionally to proclaim in principle the ideals they violate in practice. Mainly it is a center of social activity, but it could be much more. It could be a center of economic analysis, education, cultural exchange and political and military cooperation well beyond its present reach. Fortunately, the recent crises in the Falklands, Central America and Grenada are starting to rouse it.

There are some hopeful signs, Mexico, Brazil and Argentina are so lost in debt that no matter bow much secable future," she said. Along with Mr. Dole and Mr. Rostenkowski, she criticized Mr. Reagan's refusal to consider any tax increase.

dential leadership in solving this problem." Mrs. Rivlin said, She argued that if Mr. Reagan expressed a willingness to "take some of the heat," he would have very bitle trouble getting an acceptable pack-age through Congress.

cover some of the 1981 tax cut will mean hudget deficits marching steadily along the $200-billion-a-year path as far as the eye can see.

according to Mrs. Rivlin's - and almost everybody else's - calculations. Asked if she could envision any scenario that might validate Donald Regan's $125-billion deficit

figure, she answered crisply, "No."

She suggests cutting the federal deficit by $100 billion by fiscal

1986, perhaps 40 percent through tax increases and 60 percent in budget reductions. Social Security and Failing to cut the growth of mili-

We have had a failure of presi-they resent Washington's military adventures, they cannot do without its economic and financial aid. And the United States, no matter how preoc-cupied with the Soviet Union, Europe, the Far East and the Middle East, cannot forget that its security begins at its own borders. These are clearly questions that should be discussed in OAS meetings and with that other neighbor, Canada, which is beginning to wonder whether the safety of the world can be left to the angry old men in Mos-cow and Washington.

What is "security" anyway? Is it depend on Mr. Reagan's military promises in South Korea and Beirut? Or on the emplacement of more nuclear weapons in Europe? In many ways it does. But the security of the southern border, now clearly out of control, and confidence in U.S. leadership, now in question both at bome and abroad, are also important questions. There are some things the United States can do in its own hemisphere without the marines. For the first time in a generation there is a chance for a new beginning in Argentina, would be indexed at a rate below

the cost-of-living rises, and defense spending would also be cut back.

This could still leave defense outlays higher and taxes lower than they were before President Reagan

Mr. Reagan's big hang up is on the tax side. Tip O'Neill's is resistance to cutting social expenditures further, especially Social Security. "That's the hot button, let's face big land mine out there called Social Security, and neither Ronald Rea-gan nor Speaker O'Neill wants to touch it, because we 'fixed' Social Security earlier this year [and] had a big ceremony at the White House."

But, as Mrs. Rivlin points out, failure to reduce the deficit guarantees high interest rates (in America and in the rest of the world), a weak capital investment sector, perpetua-tion of an overvalued dollar and frustration for American exporters trying to compete in world markets.

just an economie case, and this may thing about the deficits . . .

"I think the case for doing some-

is not

Senator Dole says. "There's a with a democratic regime that the Reagan administration did not expect and has not yet approached to try to remove differences.

There is also a chance to talk seriously to Mexico's President de la Madrid, probably the most thoughtful man who has come to power in that country in recent years, about economic and border problems. But all this depends on where the Iministration in Washington places its priorities. You have to be fair about its tangles on every continent. Yet clarity, like charity, begins at home, and so does security. Franklin Roosevelt had his "Good Neighbor policy in the Americas, and every U.S. president since then merely a military question between Washington and Moscow? Does it has dreamed of a reconciliation -Lyndon Johnson even of a "Common Market" of the Americas, President Reagan flirted with the same idea, but in the last few weeks, like so many of his predecessors, he has said,

Tell it to the marines."

When Pope John Paul II made his first trip abroad he came to the Americas, kissed the ground and said, "I have come to the continent of hope." No doubt he was right, and if the disorganized states of America ever got together they might even make his dream come true.

The New York Times.

be very old-fashioned, but eventually it is sort of a moral issue of whether it is good government policy and good government example to go on spending more than one is willing to pay for," Mrs. Rivlin said, That sounds like Ronald Reagan used to. But as president he has turned full circle, finding it tolerable to accept the big budget deficits

he used to condemn but intolerable

gan's ideological opposition to tax-ation? Washington Post reporter

Lou Cannon may have the answer in his biography of Mr. Reagan: In the late 1940s, before tax averaging, Mr. Reagan got clobbered when he started for the first time to make big money out of his movie contracts.

The law has since been changed, and high-income individuals have multiple ways of sheltering tax income, but Mr. Reagan has never forgotten his personal experience. The United States, as a result, is now being forced to follow an imprudent policy that many Republicans as well as Democrats think is a threat to its economic future.

The Washington Post.

How does one explain Mr. Rea-to consider any tax increase.

Is America A Fit Ally For Israel?

By Arthur Hertzberg

E NGLEWOOD. New Jersey — Israel's government seems at last to have what it has longed for since 1977 — a strategic alliance with America. Yet neither Israel nor the United States has begun to imagine the problems this could create.

The dowry that Israel is expected to bring to this marriage is getting tough with the Syrians. The very U.S. administration that forced the Israelis to make a cease-fire with the Syrians in June 1982, and thus denied Israel a decisive victory in the early days of the war in Lebanon, is now apparently encouraging the Israelis to threaten a march on Damascus.

Let us imagine an escalation of the warlike gestures—the tough talk, the American overflights, the open en-couragement to hawkishness by journalists close to the White House that are already being made by Israel and the United States. President Hafez al-Assad is likely to prefer to fight rather than give up his position on the ground in Lebanon. Israel, with aid from America, would undoubtedly win such a war. But what would be bought with the victory?

Neither the United States nor Israel — especially not Israel, spread as thin as it is in Lebanon and the West Bank — can occupy Syria or police all of Lebanon indefinitely. Even if Mr. Assad falls, Syria-would remain a potential threat to Israel and a potential Soviet client. Despite the presence of U.S. and Is-raeli peacekeeping forces, the warring factions in Lebanon would continue the murderous games they have been playing from time immemorial. Washington's new tough-mindedness is not very popular in Jerusalem — not among hawks, and certainly not among doves in opposition. The U.S. government has changed its pol-icy several times in the last 18 months. When he was secretary of state, Alexander M. Haig Jr. encour-aged the Israelis to display toughness. In September 1982, President Reagan floated a plan that called upon Israel to be moderate on the West Bank and everywhere else. Now the administration has reversed itself again. Caneven the hawks in Israel trust it to stay put? Can the American people? But there is another, graver fear -that Israel will become a pawn in Washington's Manichean view that everything bad in the world is caused by the Kremlin and that these ills can be cured by confrontation with the Soviet Union or its surrogates. Those who love Israel worry above all that America will goad Israel to fight the Syrians and their Soviet backers — but then will make peace with the Soviet Union over Israel's head, leaving it exposed and increas-ingly hated in the region.

After, all, even the most tough-minded American policymakers cannot be seeking a global war. Even they are — they must be — hoping merely to strengthen America's position in the Middle East in anticipation of the day when the United States and the Soviet Union sit down to negotiate about that region. And for these strategists, the means to improve this position is playing the Israel card. Theirs is a dangerous strategy - a foolish projection of. geopolitics on a conflict with largely indigenous roots. It is also a terrify-ing abuse of a loyal ally.

Those who care about Israel imag-ine a meeting of the National Security Council in the White House in the. aftermath of a new Israeli-Syrian war. At such a session, someone would propose that now is a good time, at the end of the war, to reassert. American influence in the Arab world - to make friends among moderate Arabs — by asking Israe to withdraw from Syria, leaving it exactly where it was before the war but with hundreds more dead and thousands wounded. That is what happened in the last days of the Your Kippur War and in Lebanon last year. Is there any assurance that itwill not happen again?

Last summer a senior Israeli diplomatic and strategic thinker, Gideon Rafael, proposed an Austrian solu-tion to the problems of the Middle East. He argued that the region ought to be made a neutral zone, by agreement of the superpowers. In Mr. Rafael's view, Americans, Russians, Arabs and Israelis must all be dealt with and must deal with each other m some form of detente, if we hope to avoid the kind of tragedies that have marked the past 25 years. Mr. Rafael's political proposal is probably ntopian, but it points in the right direction. A new war in the Middle East would be madness. It should be clear to all by now that Middle Eastern politics are a lasting disease that diplomacy may alleviate and war can only make worse.

The writer is rabbi of Temple. Emanu-El in Englewood and immedi-ate past president of the American Jewish Congress. He contributed this comment to The New York Times.

In France, a Drift Toward Renunciation on the Left

Some Straight Talking About Big Budget Deficits

By Hobart Rowen

and sound principles for the fore- other "entitlement" programs

PARIS — The disintegration of the Communist-Socialist alliance

In recent days the Communist leadership has been cruelly critical of government economic policies. The Communist union, the CGT, has hardened its attacks. The Communist named to direct the state coal corporation has quit, saying that government policy can only lead to deterioration of the economic situation of the coal-producing regions.

Socialists and Communists both grimly deny that their alliance is cracking. The Communists need it, but politically they cannot afford it. Their claim to defend the working class is being undermined. They have just lost a humiliating series of local elections in Paris suburbs. The latest setback, on Nov. 13, was in a town held by Communists for 18 years. Nationally, the Communist vote has fallen spectacularly, down to well under 15 percent. The left itself has lost favor, and the Communists stand for the idea that the country needs to spend still more to support emoloyment and investment. With what money? Le Monde has just delivered what purports to be the full account of what the country now owes abroad, and the conclusion is that just to pay interest next year on existing debt will require a favorable balance of payments on the order of 80 to 90 billion francs ($10 to $11 billion), whereas this year is expected to end in a payments deficit of some $3.75 billion. Something like a $14billion turnaround thus is necessary simply to avoid further debt.

By William Pfaff

total between $63 and $70 billion. tion. The Socialist-Communist gov-This news itself obviously does no credibility or the franc. The debt includes that incurred in the nationalizations of socialism's first year of government. These were not merely to gain control, at 51 percent, but to take 100-percent posses-good for French credit, economic sion of frequently failing or structurally outmoded enterprises that also were large-scale employers. Since then, to cope with cash flow problems and because of complications with foreign investors, a number of the more profitable bits and pieces of these companies have been sold back to the private sector. The state has increasingly risked being left with drifting and deficit-ridden hulks. The experience of left-wing governments in modern France has always been the same. An initial year of generous reform and unconsidered spending ends in fiscal crisis. The government collapses, replaced by one of austerity and economic orthodoxy. The left retreats into opposition, convinced that international bankers, the "wall of money." the "200 families" have brought it down. Their opponents' complacent idea of themselves as the only ones capable of governing, of their "natural" right to govern, is fed. This happened with the cartel des gauches of 1924-25, the Popular Front in 1936-37, and just after the World War II.

It would have happened to Francois Mitterrand's government had France in 1982 still been under a The existing external debt is said to Third or Fourth Republic constitu-ernment was in enough economic trouble by the winter of 1982, the time of its second devaluation of the franc, that under the régime des partis, as General de Gaulle disdainfully called it, they would probably have lost a confidence vote.

Thanks to General de Gaulle's Fifth Republic constitution, the left has an unbreakable mandate until 1986. It cannot be forced out. But this also means that it has to live with its mistakes and take responsibility for what it has done. It is not in a position to walk out and blame others. It has to pay back the money so casually borrowed, and manage the companies so insouciantly nationalized It has been possible to think that such an education of the French left in the realities of 20th century economie life, while extremely expensive, would justify itself by producing, for the first time, a French socialism intellectually sophisticated. rather than parochial, and experienced in power, its uses and responsi-bilities. Such a Socialist Party, resembling the other major parties of the left in contemporary Western Europe, would provide the constructive balance that the Fifth Republic has hitherto lacked, and go some way toward cooling that remorseless hatred between left and right that has afflicted France in this century.

But it is also possible to imagine that the Socialists will prove unwilling to endure so grueling an indoctrination into the costs of power. If they are abandoned by the Communists they can govern alone, but the Socialists themselves could split. Theirs is not a united party, least of all on economie issues. Coalition could be sought with the center but why should a center party accept?

Tormented from both left and right, internally divided, with the economy in crisis and their ambitions frustrated, it is conceivable that the Socialists would abandon the struggle and call early elections. The temptation might become rather large to spite, as Shakespeare puts it, the vile blows and buffets of this world. International Herald Tribune.

All rights reserved.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Oil Damage in the Gulf Regarding "Gulf Slick Disaster Was Not So Sticky" (IHT, Nov. 11):

worst is past" is misleading at a time when every effort must be made to halt what may yet become the worst oil spill in history. While fires on two platforms serving six wells are consuming much of the oil, they are burning down close to the water line. An October report of the Saudi Arabian Meteorology and Environmental Protection Agency states that if the fires are extinshed, "a total output to the sea of 16,000 barrels a day could be expected." This compares with 10,000 barrels a day in the 1979 Gulf of Mexico spill, the worst on record. In addition to noting the devastation of dugong and other wildlife. populations, reports from the Saudi agency and a World Wildlife Fund-diver confirm the widespread-death This report's assertion that "the of coral reefs in the Gulf. The fullimpact of these events on the ecology of the Gulf may take years to unfold

CHARLES DE HAES Director General, World Wildlife Fund International Gland, Switzerland

Letters intended for publication should be addressed to the editor and contain the writer's signature, name and address. Brief letters receive priority, and letters may be abridged. We cannot acknowledge all letters, but we value the views of the readers who submit them. n ----

MARY BLUME

100 were the contract of the same

er traft i druge

the second by the

ene treba 111111111111 Could be the state of the Manager Committee and the Personal Committee C globber - out o story book borns production of the Room said The nuamin .... ar it has fried a restor on and, That smake it.

Man Back in

by Stephen Holden TEN YORK - from Declarate research more also "In takels," is a distinct an entirecessing by they are a secondary being Wellow his artists to arrange the groups de version - trad tanta come white the are . The mand of the Bod on the transfer towarded angle Top then Do an indicate the empire of a muriage has the state or state of the state of dente Track frage in an anna inf designation of the state of the state of the medical bolt of September. Spanned by Delar with Mark Knighten - Det the army guidance, who also performs aben Dilan ha ever mede. Having cally echergy possibled studen stati. a model pulped. Chapterly, warring. dandide a landican rhythen section. between St. Dunber and the bassiss Makapeare Vick Lavior, the former age some guiland, and Alan Clark, the

Sees' keyboardis hat saging which on recent albums has and self-pundic has become saleablacked. The voice that revolution ge no of april are and what a see, seems remarkable continuit, used greselection to it has ever search Dunbar-Shake-peare team, which Rebuilted to leading tentions solon has inspired some of Delan's. that west performances. Even skidom of the music is non-sympletic but the tracks retain some of regions

Reed whiplash ferror. sple sping guiter bricism also under-se delike emetional wall in Drian's this testignal infantile white places. memmaking Dylan a Prod Prper of the de culture, and it's 25 heart-tuze-52 the contract of the state of th the enhance Delan thousand of spot the partition will true bear.

he Rolling St

by John Pareles

have the world's hardest act to feltheir own past. Over the last hodecade, they have been canons. aponen jaded, fronc. deta mant and calmly professional they haven't been is humble — until Most bank. their latest airtim, the harder their latest airtum, the tapping into the most basic tes even as they fire synthesizes and with walls a Darkbeat. And the and with random violence as well as settal brancadorio. Ye: for all the a of the sound, there is a new under-bed like vulnerability.

basic riffs that Slores fars will on previous albums. Mack Jasser and a old world, k and stomps along But old world-beating uturade is group. a celization that sheer attitude as a least ation that snew and in the song the Stones want fame to is the band's live politic.

ا حكذا من الأصل

ONDON - Taste is something we all think we have, along with a sense of humor and an open mind. Taste is also what there is no accounting for, as Stephen Bayley, the 32-year-old director of the Boilerhouse Project of the Victoria and Albert Museum has found out.

Bayley has put on a number of lively shows in the Boilerhouse, which is backed by the Conran Foundation and is devoted to design.

MARY BLUME

Probably the most controversial show will be one starkly labeled "Failures." but that's more than a year off and for the moment Bayley has his hands full with "Taste," subnitled "An Exhibition About Values in Design" (until

"The show's been packed, and the ferocity of people's responses — our visitors' book is a document of human drama," Bayley said. The show was intended to provoke. It has.

"I've long suspected," he said, "that taste is an extremely important and sensitive issue which is why it's a modern taboo, a subject hidden below the surface but not very far below." One reason the word "taste" is so disturbing, Bayley says, is that when it ac-quired the modifiers "good" and "bad" it be-came inseparably connected with social class.

The words "good taste" are a tautology, or should be. Bayley thinks the person who first applied "good" and "bad" to taste was Lady Mendl, the interior decorator who, he says, was also famous for introducing new American money to old French furniture.

Bayley's interest in tasse is its relation to design. Taste is among the processes we use to make judgments about design. When people say something is in good taste, that object evokes an approach to life with which the person can identify. When they speak of good design, they mean 'That's to my taste,' " Taste, Bayley says, is not the whole of design because it ignores finance and function, but it is the most human, immediate and evocative part of

The scheme of Bayley's show is to exhibit 200 years of taste as reflected in the designs of certain key periods. (There is also a video talk on taste, credited to Alexander Pope and Stephen Bayley.) Many of the objects are displayed on gleaming garbage pails, which upset a lot of people who assumed this meant they were being consigned to the junk heaps of bad

People misunderstood. The garbage pails. Bayley explains, mean that the objects were widely disliked at the time they were made, while those shown on ocutral white cylinders were admired. As a history of taste the exhibi-tion runs full circle, beginning with the 18thcentury admiration for Greek and Roman antiquities and ending with one of these antiquiões, a plaster reproduction of the Discus Thrower, in the section labeled "Kitsch."

The objects on view range from a simple Thonet bentwood chair, which has been admired since it was produced in 1850, to a supremely overripe laminated rosewood sofa, made in America by Johann Henrich Belter in 1860. There is also a Gallé art nouveau screen, of the sort greatly sought after today, which was given to the Victoria and Albert Museum in 1901 and was so detested by its directorate, who called it "depraved and objectionable," that they banished it to a minor collection.

There is Jaeger woolen underwear to illustrate when "taste moved away from philosophy and archaeology and became instead a matter of morality and ideology" in the late 19th century and there is a wax statue of the trendy restaurateur Enzo Apicella to recall what Bayley describes as the pluralism that began in the 1950s and led to the English eating garlic.

Throughout, Bayley shows a personal taste for clean, unornamented line. The show makes no attempt at weak-kneed objectivity, referring to the "grotesque vulgarity of the Great Exhibition" and describing post-modern architec-ture as "ham-fisted decoration, the techniques of shopfitting rather than building."

The contemporary architect Terry Farrell, whose model for a new London building was to be included in the show, withdrew it when he learned that Bayley intended to put it in the Kitsch section. Bayley tried to compromise hy putting it on the edge of Kitsch, standing half on a white plinth and half on a garbage pail. Farrell wrote a firm letter, which is displayed instead of the model.

The show ends with two large photographs: a 1983 color shot of painter Duggie Field's riotously tacky Earl's Court digs and a black and white picture, also from 1983, of the architect John Paulson's sleekly modern flat in Ken-

'I know myself which is preferable," Bayley said. "I admire what Duggie Field has done but I would gas myself rather than spend an hour there." The Paulson flat, he admits, is "mini-mal to the point of setting your teeth on edge."

The show is literally an eye-opener, encouraging people to look around their surroundings, but there is something wrong and dead about the word taste today: It has become meaningless. Bayley equates taste with man-ners, another word that has no more meaning. Both have been absorbed into the ever-changing and repellent notion of lifestyle, and the main thing about lifestyle is that a new set of self-named judges is constantly determining what is good and bad in terms of what is in and show, Bayley descends to the lifestyle level by displaying a few contemporary objects and affixing a good or bad label to them. For example, he detests a genteel decorated Russell Hobbs toaster and would much rather it were in nude matte black. Matte black is indeed elegant and sublimely "in," but is it really what he would want to see first thing in the morning? "Heavens, yes," Bayley says.

Bayley, who has been called Britain's your gest guru of design, has also enthusiastically played the lifestyle game for the Sunday pa-pers, telling people what is good and what is

That unmane and unblack toaster is called "cynical" in the Sunday Times, while an Electrolux vacuum cleaner "has the modest virtue of restraint." An Olympus XA camera is praised ("it doesn't spoil the line of your Calvin Klein suit"), as are Brooks Brothers shirts and Bass Weejun loafers.

The Gucci mocassin is called "tinsel decorated" and made for those who prefer brand names to simple elegance. The same goes for the Rolls-Royce car ("a vulgar anachronism").

For the down-market Sunday Express, Bayley is even tougher. Get rid of your gold watch ("this metal is inappropriate for the intended purpose"), your Constable reproduction, your patterned carpet. And here's that damned cynical decorated toaster again! Get rid of that too: "If country kitchen is the style you want, you'd be better off buying a griddle."

It is as if Bayley were cheerfully admitting he had hitten off more than he can chew: hoping to do a show on taste in only 450 square meters and ending with do's and don'ts in home for-

The Kitsch section.

shing. Anyway, he says, the real point of the show was "to ventilate the idea of taste." The show has been called tongue in cheek, original intention was to create an effective neutrality. But then you realize that the quest for neutrality is in itself an expression of

New Records

Dylan Back in Tune With the Times

by Stephen Holden

EW YORK — Bob Dylan's oew record album, "Infidels," is a disturbing artistic semirecovery by a rock legend who seemed in recent years to have lost his ability to engage the spirit of the times.

With its incendiary political rants, quasi-biblical tirades and surreal love songs, "Infidels" captures the apocalypoe mood of the moment with a shuddering immediacy. Not since "Blood on the Tracks," recorded eight years ago, when Dylan poked the embers of a failed marriage, has the singer stirred up such a flurry of emotional sparks. "Infidels." like "Blood on the Tracks," is steeped in an aura of self-righteously accusatory zeal. It wants to be a pop-cultural bolt of lightning.

Co-produced by Dylan with Mark Knopfler, the Dire Straits' guitarist, who also performs on the record, "Infidels" may be the bestsounding album Dylan has ever made. Having traditionally eschewed polished studio craft, Dylan recorded "Infidels" carefully, with a band that includes a Jamaican rhythm section of the drummer Sly Dunbar and the bassist Robbie Shakespeare, Mick Taylor, the former Rolling Stones guitarist, and Alan Clark, the Dire Straits' keyboardist.

Dylan's singing, which on recent alhums has sounded stiffly self-parodic, has become emotionally unblocked. The voice that revolutionized the idea of what was and what waso't singing sounds remarkably youthful, and expressively as free-wheeling as it has ever sounded. The Dunbar-Shakespeare team, which made its reputation as reggae's foremost rhythm section, has inspired some of Dylan's most animated vocal performances. Even though the idiom of the music is nonsyncopated folk-rock, the tracks retain some of reggae's compressed whiplash fervor. Knopfler's piping guitar lyricism also under-scores the childlike emotional wall in Dylan's folk voice. This vestigial infantile whine played a large role in making Dylan a Pied Piper of the '60s youth culture, and it's as heart-tugging today as it ever was. Taylor's roaring slide guitar likewise enhances Dylan's "hog-calling" rock voice, whose raw brutality still has power

by John Pareles

rude, raucous, perverse, jaded, ironic, decadent, self-important and calmly professional.

One thing they haven't been is humble - until

On "Undercover," their latest album, the Stones rock harder than they did on 1981's

"Tattoo You," tapping into the most basic Chicago blues even as they fire synthesized drums over Charlie Watts's backbeat. And the lyrics are laced with random violence as well as the usual sexual braggadocio. Yet for all the aggression of the sound, there is a new under-

Over the basic riffs that Stones fans will recognize from previous albums, Mick Jagger leers and sneers as the band stomps along. But the Stones' old world-beating attitude is gone, replaced by a realization that sheer offitude is

The album's otle cut and first single, "Undercover" - the song the Stones want fans to hear and remember - is the band's first polititone of something like vulnerability.

no longer enough.

EW YORK — The Rolling Stones

have the world's hardest act to follow - their own past. Over the last two decades, they have been callow.

The best songs on "Infidels" blend the surreal lyric imagery of Dylan's most colorful mid-1960s records with the hellfire and damnatioo rhetoric of his recent Christian period into elliptical pop prophecy. While Dylan seems to have abandoned Christian fundamentalism. his experience with it has left a stronger biblinouncements a harsher moral tone.

"Jokerman." a powerfully sweeping ballad with achingly pretty long-lined folk tunes and some indebibly evocative verses, opens an alhum whose eight songs add up to a proclama-tion of Armageddon. The ripsnorting "Man of Peace," so reminiscent in tone of "Maggie's Farm," warns against Satan in America in ranting hillbilly poetic language that doeso't scan but makes for exciting listening. The same stomping, hollering rhetorical tone infuses the two most specifically political songs, "Neighborhood Bully," an outspoken defense of Isra-el, and "Union Sundown," a gospel-blues indictment of American labor unions.

Dylan has never shown much skill at lyrical specifics, and while these cuts work up huge heads of musical steam, the lyrics suggest an angry crackpot throwing wild punches and hoping that one or two will land. What does land mostly isn't the words but the emotions ehind them - frustration, petulance, and a thrashing self-generating rage.

On its first couple of listenings, "Infidels" offers the charge of a musical roller coaster. The taut, driving arrangements and insinuating cocksure hullishness of Dylan's singing evince such a hursting confidence that one doesn't care exactly what the songs are saying. It's enough that each song boasts at least one or two striking couplets and memorable images. And one is thrilled by the happy fact of Dylan's return to "relevant" pop that addresses the Zeitgeist with an air of nondoctrinaire moral authority. What more could dichard counterculturists possibly want Irom Dylan?

A lot more, perhaps, than this exhilarating but chortingly misanthropic outburst of an album. Most of the lyrics don't bear close scrutiny. They're not the free-flowing mythical fahles of old hut shrill harangues dressed up in mythical diction.

On "Infidels," Dylan has again caught the mood of the times, but the songs don't stand cal song in many years, and it's a chiller. It starts with the machine-gun rat-a-tat of elec-tronic drums, and its lyries talk about torture and disappearances; the answer is not the defiance of "Street Fighting Man" or the chic perversity of "Sympathy for the Devil," but While the politics don't last long, the hint of mortality hangs over the album. Sex and brutality mesh as they often have in Rolling Stones lyrics, in songs like "Ton Much Blood," "Tie

You Up," "Pretty Beat Up" or "Too Tough." The difference is that this time around, the "Still I play the fool and strut," Jagger sings in "All the Way Down," but while his voice is in it, his heart clearly isn't. Neither he nor the knife-wielding, predatory women in his two-character songs can maintain the upper hand for long; as lovers, they give each other plea-sure and pain in a grimly equal pas de deux.

double entendres) can be taken as an album of angry break-up songs, but it is something more than that. On it, the Stones present their harshest view of the world since "Exile on Main Street." Trust, contact, any kind of relief are fleeting and dangerous; the only peace, as the

In some ways, "Undercover" (complete with

The Rolling Stones Gather Humility

niding out and laying low.

singer is not the one in control.

Bob Dylan.

for anything: they merely certify today's doom and gloom malaise in a tone of smug agree-ment. "Infidels" isn't so much a warning of impending doom as a gleeful announcement that the end is indeed near. It implies that the world iso't worth saving and that America is leading the way to hell. It is as though the Dylan of the 1960s returned for one last time to thumh his nose and gloat, "I told you so — now let's get the whole thing over with."

alhum's opening and closing songs suggest

If any band knows the uses of irony, however, it is the Rolling Stones. On a first listen,

"Undercover" sounds like one great party record — every beat snappy, every guitar chord and snaky lead line filling exactly the right hole. It has the clarity and alertness the Stones brought to "Tattoo You" and somehow left

Once the lytics sink in, however, the effect of the music is all hut reversed. The rock-steady beat, with an occasional electronic effect insist ing oo attention and making the songs sound up-to-the-minute, turns militant and nearly sinister, the guitars come across as gleaming and saw-toothed. And Jaggar's voice, which has rarely sounded less comic, seems downright triumphant as he savors every nasty twist

This kind of irony is as old as the blues making joyous music from despair, finding just the right line to describe a desperate situation pampered, high-living Rolling Stooes are still willing to work so hard. "Undercover" is something more than the Stones' latest comeback from a mediocre album — it is a next step.

@ 1983 The New York Times

It is little short of astonishing that the rich comes from utter withdrawal.

behind on last year's "Still Life."

Prague Reopensa Cultural Shrine

by Betty Werther

RAGUE - It's not the Met. Covent Garden or the Sydney Opera, yet when the trumpet leitmotif of Bedrich Smetana's opera "Libuse" announces the reopening, after a six-year interruption, of the Czech National Theater here Friday night, the whole country will be listening.

Looking up toward Prague Castle from the right bank of the Vitava River, the theater, the Naradni Divadle, was inaugurated a century ago, as much shrine and symbol of national renaissance as theater.

Today, after work involving about 5,000 people at a cost of 1.5 billion Czech crowns (about $150 million), the theater has been entirely restored and modernized. It has also been extended, through the construction of three adjacen huildings, one housing the "New Stage" (Nova Scena), to form a small complex around a central plaza.
Friday night's gala performance, in which Gabriela Benackova will sing the title role against decors designed by Josef Svoboda, is particularly fitting since "Libuse" was also performed at the inauguration. Princess Libuse, according to legend, had a prophetic vision of Prague, and sent her white horse to choose a husband, the plowman Premysl, with whom she founded the Slavic dynasty of the Premyslides that ruled Bohemia from the 9th to the 13th centuries. Smetana himself never heard the opera, which is now reserved for special occasions. He wrote it especially for the National Theater opening, but by the time it was performed, be was deaf.

The excitement accompanying the anniver-sary oclebration, restoration and building of the theater complex is providing a diversion from domestic problems and the uncertainties of the international scene. Books, records, coins, a commemorative medal, a special stamp issue and a flurry of exhibitions have marked the event, which is also the theme of many radio programs and of a 13-part televi-

To understand what this theater means to as," says Frantisck Cerny, a historian and the writer of the television series, "you must re-member that the defeat of the Czech Estates by the Hapsburg Imperial forces at the White Mountain in 1620 led to nearly total repression of Czech national life for 300 years — our dark centuries. Musicians and intellectuals worked in exile, and forced Germanization reduced the Czech language, always associated with nanonality, to hardly more than a peasant dia-lect. Still it continued to live in folk music and in the amateur theaters that sprang up in even the smallest villages."

The idea of building a representative Czech Theater — "which, in the absence of any representative parliament," Cerny says, "was to become our main political platform" — began taking shape at meetings of Czerh patriots in 1844. The next year, the Bohemian Diet granted approval, but oo money.

The patriots began collecting funds. The public contributed not only money but also the milding's foundation stones, which are still visible, with appropriate inscriptions, in the theater basement. When the cornerstone was aid in May 1868, more than 100,000 people attended.

Still, it took another 15 years before the Czech National Theater was completed. (There is also a Slovak National Theater in Bratislava.) Designed by Josef Zitek in late northern Italian Renaissance style, it was covered and filled with works by the best Czech artists of the time.

Over the next century, the National Theater served as a fortress for Czech culture, the home field for such operas as Smetana's "Bartered Bride" and "The Kiss," Dworak's "Rusalka," Janacek's "Jenufa" and "The Cunning Little Vixen." By the 1950s, however, it was clear that the building no longer met the standards of a modern auditorium. The theater was closed in April 1977 and rebuilding began.

"It was no easy job," says Vladimir Gleich, the architect responsible for restoration of the

The Czech National Theater, left, and part of the new complex.

elaborate interior. "For the more delicate work, we really had to hunt for artisans with nearly forgotten skills." With rare exceptions - such as Vera Liskova's extraordinary chan-delier, composed of 600 blown and molded glass balls in a foyer - almost no contemporary art has been added.

Since spectators are not only more de-manding, but also taller and fatter than 100 years ago," Gleich says, "all of the seats are wider and more comfortable. Many have been removed in places with poor visibility or hear-ing." The stage area, which has been nearly doubled, can be raised, lowered, inclined or divided with new hydraulic equipment.

One of the most impressive, and costly, parts of the project is hidden under the plaza: six stories of basement space that will be used for workshops, storage and what amounts to a factory supplying electricity, air-conditioning

While restoration of the historic theater has been widely acrlaimed, the three new buildings, designed by Karel Prager, are more controversial. Some critics simply object to the marriage of old and oew, while others dislike the combination of Stanislav Libensky's glass brick roof for the New Stage and the glass walls

To understand what this theater means to us,' says a historian. you must remember nearly total repression of Czech national life for 300 years - our dark centuries. Forced Germanization reduced the Czech language to hardly more than a peasant dialect.'

of the adjoining buildings. These walls become giant mirrors reflecting two recently restored Secession houses on the National Street (Narodni Trida) side, the peaceful garden of an old Ursulines convent on a second and, in the plaza itself, the historic theater.

The New Stage can seat from 420 to 563 spectators for drama, chamber operas or performances by the Laterna Magika, the experi-mental section of the National Theater. Officially, the Nacional Theater also encompasses Smetanovo Divadlo, the former German Theater, the Laterna Magika and Tylovo Divaldo, the former Estates Theater renamed in 1945 for Josef Kajetan Tyl, a 19th-century poet, playwright and patriot. It was here, on Oct. 29, 1787, that Mozart conducted the world premiere of "Don Giovanni." According to Prague legend, he finished the overture just in time for the premiere, forcing the orchestra to sight-read it from the still-wet pages.

Tyl, celebrating its 200th anniversary this year, is also due for a facelift, but work was postponed for two months to permit Milos Forman to use it for part of his recently com-pleted film version of "Amadeus."

Open seven evenings a week, with weekend matinees, the National Theater has two orchestras, two choruses and a ballet company - in all about 2,000 artists, technicians and staff and a repertory of 80 operas, plays and ballets, both Czech and foreign. With the state cover-ing 80 percent of costs, tickets run from 40 to 60 crowns (about $4 to $6), slightly more when highly need foreign size states.

highly paid foreign singers are on the program.

Anniversary celebrations include the revival of a 19th-century tradition — the Divadelni Vlak, a theater train that lets people in the provinces book a single ticket covering train ice and their theater seat. Sixty-four such trains have been fully booked through the 1985

At the theater itself, the price of a ticket can At the theater itself, the price of a ticket can include a parking space in the underground garage, a welcome convenience on rainy or cold winter nights — especially since "proper dress" is expected, dark suits and long dresses are customary. Two blue-jeaned young Frenchman who, after critical glances, were whisked off to a dark corner in the top balcony or the Smetana Theater recently, came away of the Smetana Theater recently, came away with the distinct impression that the Czechs, or at least Czech theatergoers, are more oldworldly than communist

TRAVEL

Giver of the Moroccan Water Gift | On Safari With Rod and Reel

by Charles Lambelin

ABAT. Morocco — With a toothless grin. Mohammed Leurati boasts that he probably has his picture taken more often than King Hassan II of Morocco even though his trade is one of the simplest in the world. Leurati is a water seller, to be seen every day in front of the medieval walls of Rabai's Chellah necropolis.

In Arab lands, water is the essential gift of God - a notion that takes on even fuller meaning as a severe drought dries up large tracts of southern Morocco. "Water is a gift of God," Leurati says. "It belongs to God. I am only an intermediary between God and the thirsty man." Much of the popularity of the water sellers. or guerabs ("goarskins," in Arabie), for thirsty Moroccans and tourists stems from their traditional costume, which includes a pointed straw hat covered with brightly colored wool threads and green and red tassels, a colorful handwoven tunie, a hig leather bag and belt encrusted with shiny old coins, a goatskin strapped at the shoulder, wide trousers gathered at the ankles, sandals, half a dozen copper cups and a tinkling bell.

Eighl guerahs work the streets of Rabai and others can be found in most towns, including the old capitals of Fez. Meknes and Marra-

Leurati, who says he must be about 57 or 58 - there was no accurate registry of hirths when he was born — has been plying his trade, or his mission as he calls it, for 35 years.

Islamic law forbids anybody to refuse water to another human being, so in theory he cannot sell water. He makes the most money from tourists wanting to be photographed at his side: they are expected to give him at least one dirham (13 cents). The going rate to serve a Moroccan a cup of water, cooled by evaporation through the goatskin, is 10 or 20 francs a tenth or a fifth of a dirham.

"It used to be 5 or 10 frames, but one has to keep pace with inflation," Leurati explains. Drinks for children are free, be adds.

He recounts a legend to explain the outfit of Morocco's water sellers: "In the old days, Sultan Mulay Akob - or was it Yacub el-Mansur

- was immensely rich but also knew that all riches originate from water because he came from the Sahara, was going round the villages

The sultan carried a leather bag, full of gold coins, in which he had made a hole so that the coins dropped behind him. Children followed him to pick up the coins and so got the idea that irrigation was synonymous with wealth. Leurati says.

this big square leather bag covered in coins in memory of him."

nearby spring. His colleagues working in the medina, the old Arah city, fill them from a tap. They usually stand by bus stops and taxi stands when the heat of the afternoon dries the Leurati enjoys his job, which he says is the work of a free man, lets him live at his own pace and serves the community.

in Ramadan, the month when Moslems cannot

C 1983 Reuters

AUSTRIA

VIENNA_Konzerthaus(tel: 72.12.11). CONCERTS — Nov. 20: Borodin Quartet (Prokofiev, Mozart, Beetho-

Nov. 21: Haydn Trio (Beethoven, Urbanner, Tchaikovsky).
Nov. 24: ORF Symphony Orchestra and Choir, Arnold Schoenberg Choir.
Edward Downes conductor (Brahms, Schoenberg).

Nov. 25: King's Singers (Grieg).
JAZZ — Nov. 22: Sun Ra.

•Musikverein (tel; 65.81.90).
CONCERT — Nov. 23 and 24: Vienna
Symphony Orchestra. Gerd Albrecht conductor, Michael Schnitzler violin, Walter Schulzcellof Brahms, Sibelius].

RELGIUM

RRUSSELS. Palais des Beaux-Arts CONCERTS - Nov. 20: European Philharmonic Orchestra, Jean Jakus conductor (Handell.

At the Salle des Champs Elysées, just like in California (teachers are both American swimming poal ance a week, law calories menus and cocktails at the bar.

you will find an Aerobic Center, and French), a Nautilus Center, with the latest U.S. chromed machines. Plus sauna, solarium, 3 jacuzzi,

The Salle des Champs Elysées is a 5 level building devoted to you,

IA SAİLE

des champs etysées.

55 BIS, RUE DE PONTHIEU - PARIS 8°, TEL. 359.87.71

HOTELS

sa you will be in top shape.

CLUBS

RETRO gala nights

DISCO special from 10 pm

79, Champs-Elysées, Paris. Tel.: 723,68.75.

Visiting London?

Stay in an English country house only

191 steps from

Harrods!

STREET HOTEL

01-581 3311

PONT-ROYAL HOTEL

PARIS

MAPOTEL - BEST-WESTERN - I H.A

In Paris center, near the Embassies.

antique shops, art galleries and Saint-Germain-des-Pres.

Completely reno-ated.

radio, lelevision and safe. Jurant with terrace, grill-room bor, large halls for receptions

PONT-ROYAL HOTEL

7, rue de Montalembert, 75007 Paris. Tel.:544.38.27-Tz.:PONROTE270113.

ith air condino

THE BASIL

Knightsbridge SW3

just like in Califamia

Nov. 25 and 27: Belgium National Orchestra, Miluades Caridis conductor, Bruno Leonardo Gelber piano (Grieg, Franck).

COPENHAGEN, Odd Felow Palaeet (tel: 14.12.22). CONCERT — Nov. 23: Sealand Sym-

•Royal Museum of Fine Arts (tel: 11.21.26).

"The Tempesi" | Shakespeare). Nov. 21, 22, 29, 30: "Maydays" [Ed-

WEEKEND

LEISURE

AEROBICS IN PARIS

●British Museum (tel: 636.15.55). EXHIBITIONS—To Jan. 15: "Drawings by Raphael from English Collec-

●London Coliseum [tel: 836.31.61 t. English National Opera — Nov. 24; "The Valkyrie" (Wagner) Mark Elder econductor.

•Ronnie Scott's [tel: 439.07.47].

JAZZ — Nov. 21 and 22; Woody Herman and the Thundering Herd, The Ronnie Scott Ouintet.

The Genius of Venice: 1500-1600. Royal Opera House (tel: 240.10.66). Royal Opera —Nov. 19, 23, 25: "Boris Godunov" [Mussorgsky) Claudio Ab-bado conductor, Nov. 22, 26, 30: "Otello" (Verdi] Colin Davis conductor.

PARIS. Centre Georges Pompidou (tel; 277.12.33). EXHIBITIONS — To Jan. 2: Calder

To Jan. 2: "Richard Serra," sculpture. To Jan. 2: "François Rouan," paint

JAZZ - Nov. 22: Joe Turner. • Musée du Orand Palais (tel:

Vaugirard]. EXHIBITION -- To Nov. 19: "L'Art Opera de Paris (tel: 742.57.50).

eSalle Pieyel (tel: 563.07.96).
CONCERTS — Nov. 19: Eusemble
Orchestral de Paris, Jean-Pierre Walez conductor (Mozart). Nov. 23 and 24: Orchestre de Paris and Choir, James Conlon conductor, Edith 233,44,44). MUSICAL — Nov. 22-Jan. 8: "Sophisticated Ladies" [ Duke Ellington]. RECITAL — Nov. 21: Zoltan Kocsis iano (Debussy).

BERLIN, Deutsche Oper Berlin (tel: 34 | .44.49). BALLET — Nov. 25: "Riccardo W." Wagner) Valery Panovehoreography, Michael Heise conductor. Metropol (tel: 852.40.80).

Band.

Philharmonie (tel: 26.92.51). Berlin Philharmonie Orchestra tor (Mozart, R. Strauss). FRANKFURT, Alte Oper(1el: 13400).

zart).

JAZZ — Nov. 19: "30 Years Barrelhouse Jazzband." including Harry "Sweets" Edison, Buddy Tate, Gene
"Mighty Flea" Conner, Carrie Smith. Kathie Webster, Blue Roseland Or chestra, Maryland Jazzband.

Cafe Theater (tel: 63.64.64).

HONG KONG. City Hall tiel: 526.47.54). CONCERT—Nov. 23 and 24: Hong

RESTAURANTS

Cares Pétrissans way to buy wine, during A wonderful pretext to try a wide range of wines by the glass or by the

30 bis, Ave. Niel, Paris 17th. Reservations: 227.52.03.

SAN FRANCISCO ALBION

One of the city's newest and most ele-gent small inns. Each room with private both. Rates include continental breakfast. PERFECT FOR BUSINESS & RELAXATION & RELAXATION Rufest $55.00 - $95.00. Tel. (415)621-0896. Telezt 499-5298/Albion.

to publicize irrigation," he begins.

This is why to this day water carriers wear

He fills his 25-liter (6.6-gallon) goatskin at a

But he admits it has its lows - for example

eat or drink from sunrise to sunset.

INTERNATIONAL DATEBOOK

DENMARK

phony Orchestra, Piero Gamba con-ductor i Prokofiev, Tchaikovsky, Dvo-

EXHIBITION—To Jan. 22; "Danish 18th-Century Graphics."

ENGLAND

LONDON, Barbican Centre (tel: Barbican Theatre — Nov. 25, 26, 28:

Schatzalp Davos

When

last see

world of ski-ing?

Oir Kurt Künzli Tel. 35831 - Telex 74352

the picturesque

Berghotel Schatzalp CH 7270 Davos

ASTIR HOTELS

Available for your business meet-ings or holidays.

For reservations apply to your travel agent or call any

Astir Reservation office:

Tel.: 636.08.17. Tix: 267040

Tel: 87.30.51 Tla: 611333

Bruxefies: Tel.: 538.81.13. Thx: 64871

좶

The quality hotels of

GREECE

n Athens Center Vouliagment

Corfu Crete - Elounda Rhodes

did you

Super Sport

The Pit - Nov. 19: "Tartuffe" (Molière). Nov. 25, 26, 28: "Molière" (Bulgakov).

To Feb. 19: "Islamic Art and Design,

•Royal Academy of Arts tel: 734,90.521. EXHIBITION — Nov. 25-March 11:

eWigmore Hall Jiel: 935,21,41). RECITAL — Nov. 19: Shura Cher-kasssky piano (Bach, Brahms, Cho-

FRANCE

ings. To Jan. 23: "Balthus." •La Galerie (tel: 633.34.14). EXHIBITION — To Nov. 26: "Robert Planet: Paintings."
•Le Peut Journal (tel: 326.28.59).

261.54.10). EXHIBITIONS -- To Jan. 16: "J.M.W. Turner." To Feb. 13: "Hommage a Raphael."

• Musée du Luxembourg (19 Rue de OPERA -Nov. 19: "Madame Butter-fly" (Puccinil Alain Lombard conduc-

Wiens soprano (Dvorak). Theatre Musical de Paris ttel:

GERMANY

ROCK - Nov. 19: Mitch Ryder and

Nov. 20: Herbert von Karajan conduc-. 23 and 24: Zubin Mehra conduc tor. Yefim Bronfman piano (Stravin-sky. Rachmaninoff, Penderecki). CONCERT — Nov. 22: Juilliard Quartet (Mendelssohn, Wolf. Mo-

English speaking theater — To Nov. 27: "Animal Farm" (Orwell).

HONG KONG

ATRIUM HYATT 😉 BUDAPEST

One of the 109 Hyatt Hotels world-wide

For immediate confirmation of individual reservations call London 01-530 8197 (telex: 8954227) or your local toll free number:

Amsterdam (020) 43-43-54 Brussels (02) 217-0019 Frankfurt (0611) 28-09-38 Geneva (022) 21-23-91 Madrid (91) +02-22-43 Milan (02) 345-2390 Paris (6) 079-33-22 Stockholm (08) 22-57-50

Zarich (01) 302-08-16 HYATT (3) HOTELS

Vienna (0222) 5+11-81

RECITALS - Nov. 21: Kuniko Nagata violin. Nov. 22; Maria Nina Zandueta sopra-

ITALY

80.01.46). EXHIBITION —To Dec. 11: "Mario Donizetti: Drawings and Paintings."

Teatro Nuovo (tel: 70.00.88).

BALLET — Nov. 19, 20, 22: "Don Quixote" (Minkus) Paris Opera Ballet, Rudolph Nureyev choreography. Nov. 21: "Coppelia" (Delibes] Paris Opera BalleL

(tel: 431.82.84). EXHIBITION — To Dec. 27: Japanese Paintings.

NHK Haff (tel: 465.11.11). ROCK - Nov. 20: The Manhattan

Okura Shukokan Maseum (tel:

EXHIBITION — To Dec. 25: "Mod ern Art in the West from the Solomor R. Guggenheim Museum."

NETHERLANDS

certgebouw Orehesira, Wolfgang Sawallischeonductor, Ely Ameling so-prano (Hindemith, R. Sirauss, •De Meervaart (tel: 10.73.931.

chestra.

Stadsschouwburg (tel: 24.23.11). BALLET—To Nov. 21: "The Dream" (Mendelssohnl, "Under My Feet' (Schat) Netherlands National Ballet. OPERA -- Nov. 22 and 30: "Ido meneo" (Mozarti Netherlands Opera

SINGAPORE, National Museum Art Gallery (tel: 237.60.77). EXHIBITION — To Nov. 28: "Pio neer Artists of Singapore."

•Victoria Theatre (tel: 336.21.51). To Nov. 24: Drama Festival.

SWITZERLAND

22.64.33).

OPERA — Nov. 24 and 25: "Orpher aux Enfers" (Offenbach) Ivan Angue loy conductor.

adda, Centre Cultural. EXHIBITION — To Jan. 29: "Ferdinand Hodler."

EXHIBITIONS - To Nov. 27 Works From Ica. Peru." including ? ancient ceramic vessels. Museum of Modern Art (1el 708.94.00).

To Jan. 3: The Modern Drawing: 100
Works on Paper From the Museum of Modern Art," a survey from the Post WASHINGTON D.C., Corcoran (tel:

638.32.11). EXHIBITION — To Jan. 8: "Dat er: Selections from the Gift of Armand Hammer. Ford's Theatrz (tel: 347.48.33).

Nov. 25-Jan. 1: "A Christmas Carol (Dickens) with Jarlath Courcy as National Gallery East (tel

eHong Kong Museum of Art (tel: 522.41.271.

EXHIBITION — To Dec. 24: "Chinese Jade Carving."

TORIN, Teatro Regio (tel: 54.80.00). OPERA — Nov. 22, 24, 27, 29: "Atti-la" [Verdi] Nello Santi conductor.

JAPAN

TOKYO, Matsuoka Museum of Art

583.07.81).
EXHIBITION — To Dec. 21: "Early Modero Japanese-Style Paintings: Autumn and Winter."

Tokyo Metropolitan Teico Museum ttel: 265.21.11).

To Pool 25: "Mod.

AMSTERDAM Concerngebouw (tel 71.98.71). CONCERT — Nov. 23 and 24: Con-

JAZZ - Nov. 19: Glenn Miller Or

chestra.

Rijksmuseum (tel: 63.21.21).

EXHIBITION — To Dec. 11: "The Best Preserved." drawings by 17thcentury Dutch artists including Rem-

SCOTLAND

EDINBURGH, Gallery of Modern Art (tel: 556.89.21).
EXHIBITION — To Jan. 9: "Expres pects of Art from Germany."

National Gallery [tel: 556.89.21].

EXHIBITION—To Dec. 23: "Drawings from Blair Adam."

SINGAPORE

CENEVA. Aula de Saussure (1et ### EXHIBITION — Nov. 22-26: "Roya Hunt of the Sun" i Shaffer i Geneva En elish Drama Society. Petil Palais, Musée Genéve (tel 46.14.33). EXHIBITION—To Jan. 15: "Kislin nd the Paris School. LAUSANNE. Theatre Municipal (tel

MARTIGNY, Fondation Pierre Gian

UNITED STATES

NEW YORK, Metropolitan Muse of Art (tel: 535.77.101. Edouard Manet. To Feb. 5: "Desert Valley: Early

by Alan Cowell

OHANNESBURG - It may be a voyage only for the intrepid, the foulish or those so committed to their sport and passion that no challenge or danger would deter them. But the idea - a different kind of odyssey by four-wheel-drive vehicle, across a continent - has taken root and germinated. The journey will be called 'A Fisherman's Safari in Africa."

The safari does not figure in brochures about Africa and is, at best, a personal itinerary of favored places that does not encompass all the continent has to offer as either rumor or fact - the giant tiger fish of the Congo River, the monstrous catfish of Victoria Falls, the sailfish of Senegal. The route, ideally, will stretch from Ethiopia, or northern Kenya, to Zimbahwe, across lakes, rivers and ocean; a carefully planned expedition that will provide the angler with sport and his or her companion with distraction from the endless hours of waiting or watching the closed, silent world of Izaak Walton's spiritual descendants. There will be sussles and battles with Nile perch, tilapia, sailfish, marlin, wahoo, tuna, dolphin (not porpoises), barracuda, shark, maybe, hlack bass, tiger fish, for sure, trout. And between times, for those in the party not enamored of the

where the glades are carpeted with pine needles, drives at dawn past lion, buck and elephant, swimming by coral reefs where the angelfish dart through submarine canyons, sunsets to soften even the most unpiscator-And, for all the party, there will be picnics in special places untouched by Western pressures, quiet dinners in discreet, fancy places, rancous lunches of prawns, lobster and cold beer in the heat of the coast, under palm trees, by ocean waters that will wash away the heat and dirt and ill-temper of hard travel.

mysterious alchemy of rod, line and water, there will be walks in forests

But first, it must be said, fishing in Africa can be different from other places, and stories about its singularity abound. There is, for instance, said to be a spot in the Bala Mountains of Ethiopia where trout were introduced but never fished because the revolution there distracted attention from angling. So, the trout have grown to be monsters, hungry for any raggedy fly presented to them, fearing no barbed hook.

Then, there was the expedition in Uganda I was once invited to join. Apart from rod and line and lure, the host told me, we would also be taking along a few bodyguards. Even if there was no trouble from dissidents, the host explained, the guards with their automatic rifles might come in handy to keep our casting positions below Murchison's Falls clear of crocodiles. Then again, a friend told me (possibly with an angler's hyperbole), he had been fishing trout pools high in Kenya's Aberdare Range when his companion returned to camp and informed him that be had had to leave one or two pools alone. The lion had been

Our safari will attempt to avoid such distractions and concentrate on fish and pleasure. And so we begin at Lake Turkana, in northern Kenya, the place they call the "Sea of Jade," sandwiched between pale deserts that, some paleontologists assert, provided the hirthplace of humanity

It is a good place to start: It is hard to get to, unless you charter from Nairobi (a weekend with flight and full board costs the equivalent of $250), and the standard of accommodation is the lowest we will find in the entire safari, so everything will be pleasurable thereafter - some would say the same of banging the head against a brick wall. But it is worth it, for, in these harsh lands, where the waters feed pelican and flamingo, Egyptian geese and sacred ibis, and the land feeds almost no one, there will be insights into lifestyles that seem so remote from those of the West as to be almost from a different era. The women carry stacks of wood on their heads, and live in huts made of palm fronds, small, mean places; the men fish, and a child might be found who is caught between two worlds: Standing naked on the lakeshore, one small Turkana boy has learned to sing "Frere Jacques" and will give an almost exact rendering.

Here, as elsewhere, we shall have to reconcile our prosperity with their poverty and wonder, perhaps, how people still smile. A small boy, for instance, will accompany the angler as he wades into the lake and casis for slender tiger fish on light line, eyes alert for crocodile. The boy will take the fish from the angler and sing a song in celebration, then carry it to land and preserve its freshness by burying it in the sand of the shore.

And he will smile as he points out the good spots, and laugh with his friends as the foreigner loses a fish, on two-pound line, using a No. 2 Mepps lure, that would so easily have been caught on the local equipment - haited books tied to 80-pound hand lines. Here, we may lso catch Nile perch, reputed to grow to 200 or 300 pounds (about 90 to 135 kilograms) of sullen, thrashing — and very tasty — fish, using deep-sea gear (30- or 50-pound rigs), and then it will be time to move on, for, on this safari, the seasons must be considered. Lake 1 urkana offers round sport, but our intention, too, is to catch the marlin run off the coast, the tiger-fish time on Lake Kariba, the open trout seasons of Malawi and Zimbabwe's eastern highlands.

So the safari moves south, along Africa's Great Rift Valley, pausing, perhaps, for tilapia fishing at Lake Baringo and halting, for sure, at Lake Naivasha. There, 50 miles (80 kilometers) north of Nairobi, is a place full of history and distraction. On its shores is the Djinn Palace, one of the edifices at which Kenya's libertine white settlers, known as the "Happy Valley crowd," once disported themselves. Here, too, are reasonable hotels—the Lake Naivasha hotel (tel: Naivasha 13) and Safariland Lodge (tel: Naivasha 29) - and bird life that is prolific. For the nonangler, there are horse-riding, bird-watching, sunbathing and swimming.

For the angler, it's bass time. Teddy Roosevelt is said to have organized the introduction of American large-mouth bass into the lake's waters. Boats can be hired but, on this safari, the equipment includes an inflatable boat with a 25-horsepower engine (a 14-footer is manageable and adequate) so we might head off to the inner curve of Crescent Island, or in the stumps full of cormorants opposite the yacht club. Bushwackers, diving plugs and small Mepps spinners all do well here.

Just after dawn, at this time of year, the waters are carpeted with pelican and duck, and the grunting, arrogant call of hippopotamuses echoes over the water. Catches of 30 or 40 bass a day and more are not uncommon here (a qualification: they are not uncommon for some anglers, who do not, unfortunately, include this correspondent), and good-sized fish of six or seven pounds are regularly pulled from the waters. The higgest was over 13 pounds. There is camping, too, at

Just 50 years ago, two Britons, T.L. Hately and Hugh Copley, published a book called "Angling in East Africa With Some Account of East African Fish" and, in it, they discussed the vexed issue of

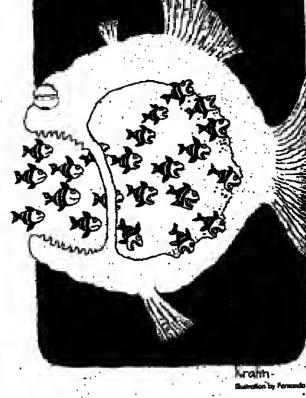

"The ideal boy." the reader is informed, "will choose the camping place, put up the tents, heat the hath water, cook an excellent dinner and, in addition, be able to extricate the car from difficulties and mend punetures. He will, in fact, take all responsibility on his own shoulders, leaving the angler to waste his time in catching fish." Well, chaps, Africa isn't like that anymore. Servants are no longer called "boys" (except in the privacy of old settler homes), and the terrain is not so wild as it once was. Lodges, hotels and campsites have sorums up but we may yet sample some waters that seem as remote as in 1933 From Naivasha, the safari moves onto the Aberdare range, halting, perhaps, at the Aberdare Country Club (tel: Mweiga 17), which has its own trout stream, where the angler will switch from bass plug to fly (a Mrs. Simpson or Coachman are both popular in Kenya). Poaching has, unfortunately, taken its toll in many of Kenya's rivers and catches are not hig. But, if the visitor has a friend or acquaintance with membership in the Kenya Fly-Fishers Club, it is an experience not to be missed. Fish in the morning, pink gins before lunch, snooze after lunch, fish in the evening then dinner. At the lodges, set in rolling tea country, hard by justifiably boast that the angler is truly left "to waste his time in catching But there is still much water to be covered. August is the start of biggame fishing off the Kenya coast, where, at this time, the weather is not too hot to prevent the nonangler from wind surfing or sunbathing. But we are also approaching the trout season, so as special permits are forthcoming from the authorities in Kenya and Tanzania (whose joint border has been closed for six years) the party may cross the frontier and the forests where Mau Mau guerrillas once roamed, the club can

Trout are not indigenous to Africa and were introduced early in the century, mainly by Britons who came to settle and brought with them their hankerings for the Highland chill and the soft swish of a fly rod as the waters dimple with rising fish. It will be a long haul in a hot, dry season clear across Tanzania to Malawi, then southward to Malawi's former capital, called Zomba, then on a twisting, rising road up onto the Zomba plateau and the Kuchawe Inn. The inn costs the equivalent of only about $20 a night, full board, and is, in most people's estimation, an African hostelry of distinction. The rooms in the "new wing" cling to the lip of the plateau; below them, the ground slides dizzily away and, from the balconies, a great vista of plain and hill stretches to infinity. The evenings are chilly and the log fire in the bar welcome. The plateau itself is one big pine forest, complete with a campsite, two dams and a river stocked with rainbow trout. The season opens in September. The nonfishing person here may walk the hills and trails of the plateau, while those of an angling bent take to the narrow, twisting stream with a light fly rod (seven feet at most).

One of the dams, a modest pond called Chagwa, seems to have a :: voracious population of small bass that will annoyingly take trout flies. The other, I saw on a recent visit, boiled at dusk with guzzling rainbowl. They were feeding next to a sign that said: "Fishing Prohibited." The season had not yet opened. Now there may be danger, for from Malawi the next halt is Lake.

Kariba, on Zimbabwe's border with Zanibia, and the road there will Take the party across a tip of Mozambique beset with insurgency. Such unrest is part of the modern reality of southern Africa. The bold (or ... foolish) will risk it. The safe thing to do is for most of the party to fly and have one of the group drive the vehicle round through Zambia, October on Lake Kariba beckons, whichever way you get there.

October is when the tiger fish, hydrocynus vittatus, migrate to their spawning grounds along the river beds that were flooded when the lake was created with the damming of the Zambezi, one of Africa's mighty rivers. Our small inflatable will not be ideal here, so it is best to have it.

shipped by launch to one of the two organized fishing lodges on into the Sanyati Gorge. With careful judgment of the capricious weath-

Spurwing and Fothergill islands that will provide the base for sorties er, the party may then cross from the islands to the gorge, ensuring that some provision is made for shade on the boat; for the fishing grounds are hot and windless. Nearby, for the nonangler, is Matusadona Game Park, created when the lake was flooded and the wildlife of the Zambezi Valley floor was ... rescued in "Operation Noah" and brought to dry land. From a boat, the visitor can nudge close inshore where elephant and buffalo feed. There-are organized tours too, by Land-Rover, for the viewing of hon and other game. The anglers will have other concerns: The tiger fish is perhans the be of Africa's indigenous fresh-water fish, from a sporting viewpoint at least. (From a culinary vantage point, it is virtually inedible, so why not return those that are caught to the water?)

The fish are striped in black and silver, their fins vermilion, their teeth

like razors. Whichever way they are caught — hy trolled lures baited with fish fillet, or spinners, or hooks baited with a fresh-water sardine. called kapenta, or even by a fly rod — wire trace is needed to prevent them from biting through the line. Tiger fish will jump, dive, lurk underthe boat, head for the stumps. The fish in Kariba seem to be from a different, larger species than those caught in Lake Turkana and the record here is 34 pounds.

But time is pressing. November is the opening of Zimbabwe's trout in season in the eastern Inyanga Mountains, and tiger fishing from the inflatable boat on the Zambezi River itself, based on the campaign at Chirundu, is an irresistible attraction. Farther north, greater battalions are gathering and forming for the fray. Soon the martin will begin to appear off the Kenyan coast, as a climax to the safari. The drive north, through Zambia and Tanzania back to Kenya, will be hard and hot, heavy with the threat of the annual rains, peppered with temptation. In Zambia, at the Kafue River bridge, the boat could be aunched on the Kafue River and navigated upstream past crocodile and hippo, to the Mazabuka flats, where the tilapia breed and Zambian men fish from dugout canoes. Or there is the southern tip of Lake Tanganyika, where rumor has it that the tiger fish grows to 100 pounds. But then, beyond Mount Kilimanjaro, on the Indian Ocean coast, are the fishing rigs waiting to head for the 100-fathom line and the tree Fisherman's Camp, across the lake from the hotels, so the expedition monsters. December to March is peak season and many vessels along the coast vie for supremacy among the billfish. At Mahndi, it's sailfish farther south, at Turtle Bay, Watamu, there are marlin and sail and shark, and scuba diving, and a pet six-foot (about two-meter) barracuda called Henry. Farther south still, at Shimoni, the Pemba Channel Fishing Club offers both deep-sea fishing and excursions to a recf that has been designated a national park for divers. It is a hot and choppy time and the fishing rigs vary greatly from shoestring operations with old and battered gear, to state-of-the-art 42-footers.

Whatever the outfit, the sensation is unparalleled, a fitting close to the safari. Suddenly, off to port, the fin appears, seeming to loll on the waters, then the surge of acceleration as the mariin heads for the trolled lures, sending rods bending, reels screaming and adrenalin pumping. The marlin is hooked. It leaps clear of the water, a Polaris missile of a fish, greyhounding over the Indian Ocean, sounding and tugging; the double-line appears on the reel, so the fish is close, but then, inexorably. double-line appears on the reel, so the fish is close, but then, mexorably, the fish again goes deep, intent on a voyage to Bombay, with the boat dragged behind it. The angler, back bent in the fishing chair, arms aching purpos and reels talking chair, arms acting, pumps and reels, talking, sometimes to the unseen monster below, knowing its struggle, coaring, cursing, urging. Sometimes, the charter skipper Jenny Slater told me once, they decide in their pride that they will not be caught and go deep, too deep for their athletic bodies, until they collide with the ocean floor, burying their bills in the sand, dying there, committing suicide, really, rather than be taken. When they are brought alongside for the gaff and the kill; the urge, for some anglers, is to lay down the rod and clamber onto the platform; to case the hook from the bill, and hold them steady, and release them to their own element. What use are they, after all, frozen in a triumphotopraph, or sold, for 25 cents a kilogram, on the local market? Then the safari is over and it is time to celebrate and recount. All along the coast, there are places where the prawns are fresh and the beet a is cold, and the time is good for celebration and yarn-spinning and, "

© 1983 The New York Times

perhaps, allowing the nonanglers to do whatever they would like to do

Stress Study: Laid Back or Laid Low?

URHAM, New Hampshire — The Midwest and New England are the least-stressful U.S. regions in which to live and the West, despite its aid-back reputation, the most stressful, says a University of New Hampshire sociologist. "I was surprised that the West Coast states ranked as high as they did," Professor Murray Strauss says. "Everyone thinks these states are EXHIBITION—To Dec. 31: "A Juan Gris Retrospective." desirable 10 live in, but these are high-stress emoark on the longest haul of the trip.

Strauss says his two-year study shows Nevada is at the top of the stress list and Nebraska is Low-stress states following Nebraska are South and North Dakota, Iowa, Wisconsin, New Hampshire, Utah, Minnesota, Montana and Massachusetts. Following stressful Nevada are Alasku, Georgia, Washington, Oregon, Alabama, California, Mississippi, Arizona and

Strauss bases his rankings on 1976 statistic in more than a dozen stress-producing areas, including business failures, mortgage forethsures, dropout rates and unemployment The study concludes that growing states:

have higher stress rates because of the strain of making new friends and getting used to a new

© 7983 United Press Internal

198 mary 100 THE PROPERTY OF a constant in R THE RESERVE OF THE PROPERTY OF

New Fire L

 $\gamma = (\alpha_{1}/\alpha_{2})/2 L^{2}/2$

- १ स्त्र - व्यक्त

A CHAIR MAE

- 一直建筑

Mar agent

the see I state

Total market

Commence of the second

A. P. A. E. Date (1988)

The state of the state of

and the second second

Michael Shapenker of Robert 13. August

V 100

. ...

in all control

THE RESERVE THE PROPERTY OF THE PARTY OF THE Transfer and e the tribue Comme The second The state of the s SECTION TO Tendence for the state of the old TE COMME TO THE PROPERTY OF TH Secure Barrell of the party to be the secure and medical to the contents began THE RESERVE OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY. SELECTION OF A SECRETARY aschillade come Market Will Charle come land a THE TOTAL OF STREET AND THE PARTY OF THE PAR mall the march. on the libert The tee Kee The with the toll or to the Western Links. cur blieule (12 in the world, perple and advancementation on Monate Action. windo meneral control controls to the feeling that at tracts the variety

THE PERSON NAMED IN THE PERSON OF THE

The state of the s

miles and a state of the

Supplied some test transfer fine in Ober come from I range, the United m testulia Britar Satterland, Zende-Inder-born Father Journal of the Seneral manage, eventer . I the review, refere integration of revent artering personnalities. : Mount Ather - about a familiar es present - is being a try factor in activacy meet has been removed in the last test to the has near a printing father we-del le cue "A minimal father catalana a ment with most the side of Crrock, Ber-

7

23022

2.00

V.X.

What's Doin

by Ch de Habernoun TORYO - A lea residents left Tokyo the Jail was about to happen. They had taken senso un's prediction that Mount Fur woods door would be het by an end thepaske at about the referry much units us this fail, and a good theme bes For are better for a visit, the hear that were seen a gone for a while. Autumn tends to be there and not-loo-distant Mount Puji. heins trick for a visitor is to get into the exty fr Nuit, 40 miles (64.5 kilometers) www. The is that is a short monorall ride from downloads. If the sil and all pain from the Narita journey, cather is and which runs easily to 18,600 year (about $80) Souther 2500 yen, is to take the autport henceuse to the central air terminal, which should take " and is not centrally situated, but cabs to beselve the interesting is a shuttle hus connecting to the leng-leno line, which gives newcomers they for melidis and suburhan towns parked with strake 1.400 ven. takes 70 minutes. Substant or dathe somewhal-raffish Ueno trem status.

me has only once every half-hour and car proved haides of tourism is to visit one great emiscien a the the corner and stumble onto yet another beam and stumble onto yet another beam and stumble onto yet another beam and sometiment beam and stumble onto yet a district the state of the s tuly ugly, and certified tourist attractocus can ne no, from Tokyo Tower and many shears and the Kasaniga the interpretation of the metropoins for a similar makes Tokyo a delight is its electricity. the time. Watch the crowds there poer out marajuku. Or watch the transportant and settles into dusk and protest as of all Tokyo is neighborhoods. Behind the the thy sound the the the third the the third the third to any squat ones are little villages set also sidewalks. Walk any of them.

long has the electricity will do anyone in Refuges by has them, although much of the greeners and the Imperial Palace, residence of Empty and by many string makes for pleasant stroll and the many string makes for pleasant stroll and the came steel. by many others with the same seen. the Ring of Subway station is a pleasant neighbor les there are the splendid Shinjuku Gyoen and the place for tranquility is the Acystan Council forget they are in Tokyo while strolling at the allows for a day trip, Kamakura to the sould be and temples, including the enormous statue of the yokosuka line leave faces for the yokosu Mout Fuji lies to the southwest, as does Held intes on the Odakyu Line's Romance

As Joyoux to many foreigners. In Tokyo, there is the tens of thousands of restaurant than a few bordering on the tens of thousands of restaurant than a few bordering on the tens of the second of the tens of the they place are than a few bordering on the second of the menu are usually placed in the menu are usually placed in the and can either rely on them or point to what table. For both the food and the anaday them and Yuraingth alleyways alongiste the

And Yurakucho.

And Hotel Menus in rather mangled English and is a popular place for sushi behind Shimstell.

مكذا بن الأص

TRAVEL

A New Fire Lights Mount Athos

by Michael Skapinker and Robert D. Kapian

OUNT ATHOS, Greece - This semi-autonomous monastic community, where women have where the monks still live by the Byzantine clock — midnight coincides with the setting of the sun — is experiencing a religious revival for the first time in centuries.

From a contemporary low of 1,150 monks in 1972, the number in Mount Athor's 20 monasteries has risen to around 1,500. More significant cant is the dramatic drop in the age of the recuits: Athanasios Sakarelos, a lawyer and expert on Mount Athos, estimates that a third of the monks are now under 30. A decade ago, he says, most were in their 60s.

A Greek government official also points to the increasing number of university graduates making their way to Mount Athos, on a peninsula in the Aegean about 125 miles (200 kilometers) north of Athens, dominated by a 6,670-foot (about two-kilometer) limestone peak. Here the 11th-century edict of Emperor Constantine I still forbids access "to any wonan, any female, to any cunnch, to any smooth

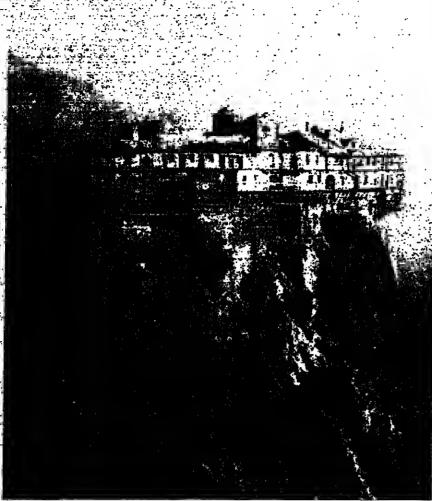

Many of the young monks cite a sharp deterioration in moral standards and spiningal life in what they call "the world" when explaining their decision to devote the rest of their years to the monastic life. "Out there is the dark ages," explains a young monk originally from Athens. So this place has great attrac-

Mount Athos, the "Holy Mountain," as it is called in Greek, is certainly far removed from today's world. Byzantine life and traditions have been preserved in their entirety. Eight hours a day are spent in prayer, beginning around 8 A.M. Byzantine time (2 A.M. outside the monasteries). Only sand roads connect the monasteries on the 131-square-mile (338square-kilometer) peninsula and some of the monks, who have been here for decades, live alone in cliffside caves.

"Before World War II, Greeks could find a spiritual life in the villages," says a young monk at the monastery of Stavromkita, where almost all the monks are in their 20s or 30s. But now with the influence of Western ideas it's more difficult. Out in the world, people take a little bit from here, a little bit from there, but they're always searching. On Mount Athos, one has no more need to search."

It is this feeling that attracts the varied population, with most monks of Greek, Bulgarian, Russian, Serbian and Romanian de-scent. Others come from France, the United States, Australia, Britain, Switzerland, Zimba-

London-born Father Issias of the Simonos Petra monastery, a center of the revival, refers to the presence of several strong personalities on Mount Athos — abbots at a handful of mooasteries — as being a key factor in attract-ing younger monks. "In every case where a monastery has been renewed in the last few whole ambience he creates a style." He adds that "since the war, Mount Athos had been going through a crisis of a lack of human Father Isaias is skeptical, however, about the importance of the increased number of university graduates in the monasteries. "The intel-lectual level has risen," he says, "but the fact that they're university graduates is not signifi-cant. It's not something that has to be made a lot of. Monastic life doesn't have openings for intellectuals. A monk shouldn't expect any great respect because he has a high IQ."

The Simonos Petra monastery at Mount Athos.

Although the monasteries might be enjoying a spiritual revival, they still endure other deprivations. Simonos Petra, which perches spectacularly on a seaside chiff, is still covered with respirations in the more than the meantains. scaffolding in hopes that the monastery may one day find enough money to bring back the workmen who started to restore it. Mount on Mount Athos — abbots at a handmi of mooasteries — as being a key factor in attract.

Athos's libraries, which contain rare manning younger monks. "In every case where a scripts, are damp. Inside the chapels, wood-monastery has been renewed in the last few worm is slowly destroying the gold-leaf icon years there has been a spiritual father in screeos that support priceless works of Byzan-volved." he says. "A spiritual father creates a, time art. Drainage is madequate, the medieval ramparts of the monasteries are cracking and the moorings need repair.

The edict excluding females — not even emale animals are allowed — has been aitacked by Greek feminists. Soon after the Socialist government of Andreas Papandreon came to power in 1981, the Greek press reported that the new culture minister, Melina Mer-couri, planned to fly to Mount Athos by helicopter. After the monks warned that if she came they would "cover her in soot and rough her up," she denied any plans to visit. Another flap with the government centered on rumors that this area would be transformed into a tourist resort, a charge a government official dismisses as ridiculous.

Then there have been allegations that the Greek government, fearful of the possibility of infiltration by foreign intelligence services, makes it difficult for East Europeans to join the monasteries. In rebuttal, the government official says that the question does not arise: according to the Greek constitution, every novice monk automatically becomes a Greek cirizen and so there are no foreign monks.

Of Patriots and Quislings

مكنا عياليما

by Barnaby J. Feder

OPENHAGEN -- The first-nme visitor to Copenhagen tends to walk right by the unprepossessing Frihedsmuseet in a rush to visit the statue of Hans Chrisnan Andersen's Little Mermaid in the harbor nearby. And in Oslo. everything from Edvard Munch's paintines to the Viking ships of Bygdoy conspires to keep tourists away from Norway's Hjemmefron!

In each case, the experience missed is a moving one. While numerous Norwegian and Danish towns have local and scarcely adver-tised exhibits recording life under German occupation during World War II, it is Coperhagen's Frihedsmuseet (literally, Freedom Mu-seum) and Oslo's Hjemmefront (Homefront) that most starkly and accessibly tell the troubled history of two nations overrun and left largely to their private misery from 1940 through 1945.

In terms of death and destruction, both Norway and Denmark came out of World War Il in far better shape than the rest of Europe. Perhaps for this reason, the inrror these twn museums record is comprehensible in a way that the havoc wreaked in central Europe and by the Holocaust is not. A lasting sense of what it was like to live through the occupation — dealing with an irresistible and evil power, collaboration and betrayal by neighbors, the birth and hazards of resistance, the unpredict-ability of aid from beleaguered allies emerges from a tour of these exhibits.

These are not cheerful displays, yet, ending as they do with liberation, they say exhibitanting things about freedom and joy. They also raise thought-provoking questions about how long and how well nations remember their own history; one cannot help but wonder about the relationship between the events memorialized in the museums and modern Scandinavian artitudes toward everything from the welfare state to U.S. foreign policy.

These thoughts came to mind during a visit to the Frihedsmuseet. The visit was similar to that of any American tourist save in one respect. I arrived shortly before noon and was ooking at some samples of underground newspapers when I sensed a stillness in the room. A ovinn came over the loudspeakers and, looking up, I saw that the crowds had swelled and that most visitors were middle-aged or older,

Most stood erect, gazing at the Danish flag over the doorway. Some bowed their heads. Toward the end of the bymn, some began to bum or sing to themselves.

Afterward, a helpful guard reminded me that it was April 9, the 43d anniversary of the German invasion of both Denmark and Norway. The bymn, a museum official explained later, was frequently sung during the war to commemorate resistance fighters or innocent bystanders killed by the Germans, Within an hour, hauntingly, the crowd had thinned out and become younger and more international. It seems useful to enter these museums remembering that they belong to that group of special places where tourists mingle with pilgrims and mourners.

Neither of the museums is flashy or sophisti-cated; an occasional recording of a speech available on a push-button display represents their technical high point. But most visitors will find Oslo's museum more intriguing; since Norway was more important to Germany stra-tegically and harder to dominate, her warrime experience is more varied than Denmark's. In and boat owners. The museum also makes addition, the Homefront's English explanations on the exhibits are fuller than those in Copenhagen, 1 English-language pamphlets and history books are available at both muse-

The Hjemmefront is in the ancient fort of Airers aus, overlooking downtown Oslo and the ford. It is an appropriate setting, for at the beginning of the war, the aging cannon on the old fort's breastworks managed to sink a German cruiser as it moved in on the city.

Norwegian resistance in the south was quickly crushed, but not before King Haakin had made a dramatic escape via Sweden to Britain. There he became an enduring symbol of the illegitimacy of the reign established by loseph Terboren. Hitler's delegate sent to oversee the occupation, and Vidkun Quisling, the head of Norway's small Nazi party, whose name later became a generic term for national betrayail

Bruish naval forces managed in stall Germany's initial attempts to secure its hold on north-ern Norway, but eventually withdrew. Winston Churchili suggested reopening this front nn several occasions but strategie concerns for the other Allies predominated, leaving Norway to mount an increasingly effective guerrilla resistance with whatever supplies the British could provide in airdrops or hazardous trips by fish-

In the meantime, most Norwegians resisted Nazi attempts to make the nation into a German ally, using symbolic prinests, such as a boycott of sporting events, and other refusals to cooperate. The Hjemmefront is especially effective at documenting these developments and the arbitrary terror used by the Quisling government in attempts to counter them.

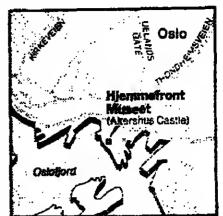

The story of the Norwegian resistance is told largely through photographs and newspaper articles. One especially powerful photo shows a Norwegian church service run by governmentordained clergy after virtually all state church officials and most priests resigned to protest interference: only one parishinner is attending.

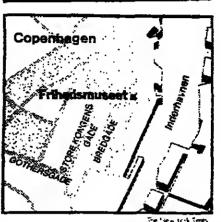

The Hiemmefront demonstrates bow psychologically difficult life was for many people who did not join the armed resistance nr become wholehearted collaborators with the Nazi regime. Without dwelling on the point, the museum stresses that the question of how much to resist was grueling, complicated and

In contrast to the Hjemmefront, which is partly underground and feels entirely so, the Frihedsmuseet is in a modern, well-lit, woodpaneled building offering views into a court-yard and out to a park. There is an extensive collection of underground newspapers and re-sistance posters, assignments for the Under-ground from Allied intelligence forces and an especially moving group of last letters from young resisters later put to death. Unfortu-nately, many of these items have not been translated from Danish.

Other exhibits bring the nature of the resistance alive with telling details. One points out how a tiny piece of wire picked up by a worker on a German ship helped British intelligence officers figure out the firing system of a Ger-man torpedo. Another displays the kind of equipment the Danes used to blow up rail-

An especially well-documented portion of the museum deals with Denmark's largely suc-cesssful attempt to protect its Jews from the Gestapo. All but 472 out of 7,000 were hidden good use of maps to show the distribution of drop points for supplies from Britain and where the Underground was able to sabotage German attempts to supply Nazi forces with raw materials from Norway and arms manufactured in Denmark

Parents may want to keep children from one uesome picture of dead prisoners discovered at Dachau after the war, part of a section of the museum that explains how people at home often had no way of knowing what had bappened to those who were taken away.

The Enhedsmuseet's section on liberation is fullnwed by a final group of exhibits documenting Denmark's losses, including estimates on how many people were killed.

I suggest that anyone visiting either museum leave enough time afterward to imagine more fully the world they recall, perhaps in a contemplative walk through the adjacent parks.

In Copenhagen, the Frihedsmuseet (Museet for Danmarks Frihedskamp 1940-1945), in Churchill Park, is reachable by bus or 30 minutes by foot from the center of town; closed Monday, open wher weekdays and Saturday from 10 A.M. to 4 P.M. and Sunday from 10 A.M. to 5 P.M., May 1 to Sept. 15. Cafeteria open May 1 to Sept. 15. From Sept. 16 to April 30 the nuseum is open from 11 A.M. to 3 P.M., weekdays and Saturday, and on Sunday from 11 A.M. to 4 P.M. No ange for admission.

In Oslo, the Hjemmefront, in Akershus Castle, is a 10-minute walk from the center of town. Open Sunday at 11 A.M., otherwise open daily from 10 A.M. to 4 P.M. from April 13 through Sept. 30; 10 A.M. to 3 P.M. from Oct. 1 to April 14. Admission is the equivalent of about 70 cents for adults, 14 cents for children and students. ■

2 1983 The New York Tymes

What's Doing in Tokyo

by Clyde Haberman

OKYO — A few residents left Tokyo this fall, fearing the worst was about to happen. They had taken seriously a meteorologist's prediction that Mount Fuji would crupt and that the city would be hit by an earthquake at about the same time. Tokyo is still very much with us this fall, and a good thing, because few times of the year are better for a visit; the heat that wilts collars by 9 A.M. has been gone for a while. Autumn tends to be clear and crisp, with good views of not-too-distant Mount Fuji.

The first trick for a visitor is to get into the city from the airport at Narita, 40 miles (64.5 kilometers) away. (The less-used Haneda airport is a short moneall ride from downtown.) There is no way to remove all pain from the Narita journey, either in terms of time or expense, which runs easily to 18,600 yen (about $80) by taxi. A better bet, costing 2,500 yen, is to take the airport "limousine." Actually, it is a bus to the central air terminal, which should take 70 to 80 minutes. The terminal is not centrally situated, but calls to hotels are available.

More interesting is a shuttle bus connecting to the Skyliner train on the Keisei-Ueno line, which gives newcomers their first glance of Japan—rice fields and suburban towns packed with small houses. The ride, costing 1,400 yen, takes 70 minutes. Subways or cabe can then be boarded at the somewhat-raffish Ueno train station. The hitch is that the Skyliner runs only once every half-hour and can prove burdensome for

I f your idea of tourism is to visit one great museum after another, or to turn the corner and stamble onto yet another beautiful church, or to stroll across ornate bridges. Tokyo may be a disappointment. It is frequently ugly, and cartified tourist attractions can be canvassed in a day or two. From Tokyo Tower and many skyscrapers, such as the Sunshine 60 Building in Ikebukuro and the Kasumigaseki Building, one

Sunshine 60 Building in Ikebukuro and the Kasunigaseki Building, one can take in the panorama of the metropolis for a small fee.

What makes Tokyo a delight is its electricity, a weary cliché that is nonetheless true. Watch the crowds that pour out of the Shimbashi Station in the morning or the people jamming the avennes and labyrinths of side streets in Shinjuku or the greased-hair boys and crinoline-skirted girls dancing en masse to 1950s rock 'n' roll every Sunday afternoon in Harajuku. Or watch the transformation that takes place everywhere as day settles into dusk and prosaic streets burst into

Most of all, Tokyo is neighborhoods. Behind the lean tall buildings and the ugly squat ones are little villages set along winding roads without sidewalks. Walk any of them. nighttime phantasmagorias.

Too much electricity will do anyone in. Refuges are essential, and Tokyo has them, although much of the greenery is off limits on the grounds of the Imperial Palace, residence of Emperor Hirohito. The incomparable Meiji Shrine makes for pleasant strolling, even if one is surrounded by many others with the same idea. Tiny Arisugawa Park near the Hiro-o subway station is a pleasant neighborhood spot and, for small fees, there are the splendid Shmjuku Gyoen and Rikugien gardens. A favorite place for tranquility is the Aoyama Cemetery, where visitors can easily forget they are in Tokyo while strolling along tree-canopied

If time allows for a day trip, Kamakura to the south offers a wealth of shrines and temples, including the enormous statue of Buddha called the Daibutsa, Trains on the Yokosuka line leave from Tokyo and Shimbashi stations. Mout Fuji lies to the southwest, as does Hakone, which can be reached in 90 minutes on the Odakyu Line's Romance Car trains leaving from Shinjuku Station.

Sushi, tempura, yakitori, tonkaisu, udon and sukiyaki are as familiar sas Toyotas to many foreigners. In Tokyo, there is no shortage of selections in the tens of thousands of restaurants, many of them inexpensive but more than a few bordering on the outrageous.

Many places are tiny rooms seating no more than a dozen people.

Many places are tiny rooms seating no more than a dozen people.

Plastic models of the menu are usually placed in the window, and the uninitiated can either rely on them or point to whatever looks good at the next table. For both the food and the atmosphere, try the back the next table. For both the food and the atmosphere, try the back streets of Shinjuku or the alleyways alongside the railway racks in Torigin is a boisterous and inexpensive yakitori restaurant near the Shimbashi and Yurakucho. imperial Hotel. Menus in rather mangled English are available, and two people should be able to get by on no more than 5,000 yen for dinner. Edogin is a popular place for sushi behind Shimbashi Embujo Theater.

A la carte prices can be high, but one can also get a fixed-price hunch for

For the freshest fish, it is hard to beat lunchtime at the giant market in Tsukiji. Excellent for both sushi and tempura, with hunch for two at perhaps 5,000 yea, is Sushi-iwa across the street from the cavernous

Nishi Honganji Temple.

Eventually, you may need an infusion of Western food. To cite one example, you may need an initision of Western food. To cite one example, Tokyo has an astonishing number of first-rate French restaurants, although prices can be first-rate, too. Le Choux, around the corner from International House in Roppongi, offers one of the few outdoor cafes in Tokyo and a lunch — heavy on nouvelle cuisine — that comes to about 12,000 yen for two. If you find yourself in Nishi Azabu, go down a flight of stairs on a narrow street near the Red Cross hospital to enter Chez Hiramatsu. Be prepared to spend 21,000 yen for two.

or those who can afford it, there is probably only one place to stay:
the Okora (tel: 582-0111), where rooms for two start at about 23,500 year. The huge, double-winged hotel, across from the U.S. Embassy, gives guests a sense of being in a small, highly personalized establish-

The Imperial (tel: 504-1111), near Hibiya Park, may be more convenient, with rooms for two starting at about 22,500 yen. The Palace (tel: 211-5211) is situated alongside a most of the Imperial Palace (about 17,250 yen for two). The New Otani (tel: 265-1111) in Akasaka has a relevable garden and sweeting using foon its converging for two 22,500. splendid garden and sweeping views from its tower wing (about 22,500 yen for two). The Keio Plaza (tel: 344-0111) might better suit business people planning to spend time in Shinjuku (17,250 yen for two).

Less expensive (about 11,500 to 17,000 yen for two) are the Fairmont (tel: 262-1151), the Gitta Dai-Ichi (tel: 542-5311) and the Shimbashi Dai-Ichi (tel: 501-4411).

There are also ryokan - Japanese inns - where guests sleep on futons spread on a straw-mat floor and eat dinner and breakfast in their rooms. One of Tokyo's best is Fukudaya (tel: 261-8577) in the Yotsuya section. It is also among the more expensive, running as high as 28,000 yen a person a night, including meals, service charge and tax. Gajoen Kanko in Meguro (tel: 491-0111) is about half the price.

While shopping, expect few bargains, except perhaps on hand-painted porcelain and lacquerware. Many tourists come looking for savings on electrical appliances only to find many items higher than at home. However, duty-free gadgets can be bought in the Akihabara bazaar in the arcade under the railway tracks alongside the Imperial Hotel. Unless you're sure voltage and warrage are compatible with your own country, it's best to buy battery-operated devices.

Tsukiji is good for lacquerware and china at prices below those in the large department stores of Ginza and Nihombashi. The big stores, though, are a joy for unfocused roaming, especially the munificent food sections on the basement levels. Among the larger, in the Ginza, are Missukoshi, closed on Monday; Matsuya, closed Thursday, and Matsuzakaya, closed Wednesday. Takashimaya in Nihombashi is closed Wednesday. All stores are open midweek from 10 A.M to 6 P.M. and often until 6:30 on weekends.

One tip: Bring cash or traveler's checks. Credit cards are growing in acceptance, but many places still do not accept them and will not even look at your checkbook.

Some practicalities: Generally, it is advisable to avoid taxicabs, whose drivers can be rude, incapable of understanding Westerners' pronunciations of Japanese and seemingly programmed to head straight for the nearest traffic jam. Subways are almost always faster, and always

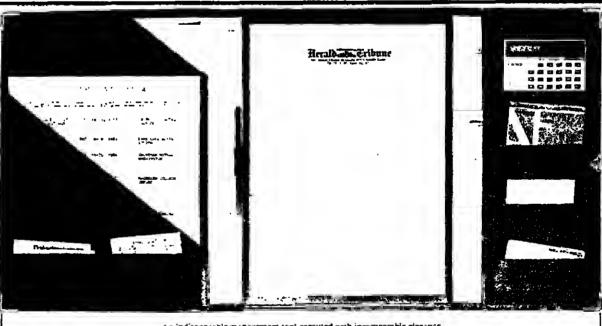

You will probably get lost at some point on Tokyo streets, almost all of which have no names. If serious problems arise, contact the Japanese National Tourist Organization, which keeps English-speaking Japan Travel-Phone opera-tors on duty from 9 A.M. to 5 P.M in Tokyo; dial 502-1461. In addition, the Tourist Information Center (with a big question mark outside its door) is at a busy corner in Yurakucho. Diagonally across the street is the American Pharmacy; an English-speaking pharmacist could be your most important find in an emergency.

One more tip: Try to learn a few key phrases of Japanese. In few places do people react with as much wonderment at foreigners' attempting to speak their language. Some are genuinely appreciative. Others are patrouzing, their surprise really coming from the notion that a non-lapanese could be anything. Either way, it can turn routine encounters into memorable in tertures. into memorable interfudes.

€ 1983 The New York Times

An indispensable management tool executed with incomparable elegance

The Perfect Conference Folder

Exclusively designed for the International Herald Tribune in superb, fine-grained leather

The most efficient of all possible solutions for organizing the many papers you need - and collect - at meetings, conferences, on calls and appointments, or on business trips.

The ideal business gift for an associate, a family member or for yourself.

On the left side of the folder are two big pockets for letters and papers, plus smaller pockets for visiting cards. In center position is a line pale blue notepad. full size, along with a stender gift metal pencil. At right, a detachable, space-age thin, calculator, a pocket for long items such as airline tickets or checks, and two pockets for credit cards. In addition, all three sections have roomy, behind-the-scenes pockets.

Finest black leather, inside and out. Each folder is fashioned from a single, perfect nine-foot skin, fully lined with gray silk. Folder measures a generous 65 x 33 cms. (25 x 13 inches) when open, and 25 x 33 cms. (10 x 13 inches) when closed. Gilt metal corners. Personalized with three initials imprinted in gold. The perfect practical gift for the businessman or woman.

Herald Tibune

Please seod me Conference Folders at $10	8.50 each (or equivalent in convertible currency). Price includes gold	d-blocked initials.
calculator, packing and handling, plus airmail postage face mail outside Europe. Postal insurance or regist are also included. Optional airmail surcharge outside	Europe, $ 16.50.
Return this coupon with your check or money order made payable to: "Dataday Ltd." and send to:	Initials

order made payable to: "Dataday Ltd." and send to:	Initials Dataday Ltd.
Attention: Paul Baker	1 1 i
8 Alexandra Road, London SWI9 7JZ, England
Name:
Address:

cz way to organize everyti

Country:

City and Code: __

12 Month High Low Stock Div. Yld. PE 100s High Low Quot Chree High Low Stock

	Dow Jo	nes	Avera	ges
Indus Trans UIII Comp	594.51 60 127.86 1	3.42 S	73.74 599 17.19 138	67 + 3.35 86 + 1.40
	NYS	E Di	aries
Adven			Clos 87

43 24% Burtind 1.52 19 13 1001; 51 Brinth 1.80 17 10 74 57: Brinth 1.80 17 10 74 57: Brinth 213 10.3 25:197: Burndy 24 4.1 22 57% 304 Burndy 24 4.1 22 37% 304 Burndy 52 10 20 144, 74 Burtes 52 10 2 9

| CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT | CRIT |

41.752.667.75150.56% 5071546.58% 40.752.667.75150.56% 5071546.58% 40.75154.751

20 1.1 50
1.12 37 11
1.12 3.7 11
3.84 5.8 18 18
1.8 1.9 11
3.84 5.8 28
2.80 1.9 15
2.00 15.0 5
7.70 13.0 5
7.70 13.0 5
7.70 13.0 12.9 1
1.00 2.7 8
2.0 15
1.80 1.5 1
1.80 1.5 1
1.80 1.5 1
1.80 1.5 1
1.80 1.5 1
1.80 1.5 1
1.80 1.5 1
1.80 1.5 1
1.80 1.5 1
1.80 1.5 1
1.80 1.5 1
1.80 1.5 1
1.80 1.5 1
1.80 1.5 1
1.80 1.5 1
1.80 1.5 1
1.80 1.5 1
1.80 1.5 1
1.80 1.5 1
1.80 1.5 1
1.80 1.5 1
1.80 1.5 1
1.80 1.5 1
1.80 1.5 1
1.80 1.5 1
1.80 1.5 1
1.80 1.5 1
1.80 1.5 1
1.80 1.5 1
1.80 1.5 1
1.80 1.5 1
1.80 1.5 1
1.80 1.5 1
1.80 1.5 1
1.80 1.5 1
1.80 1.5 1
1.80 1.5 1
1.80 1.5 1
1.80 1.5 1
1.80 1.5 1
1.80 1.5 1
1.80 1.5 1
1.80 1.5 1
1.80 1.5 1
1.80 1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1
1.5 1

THE WHITE WAS AND STREET AND AND THE STREET AND STREET

THE PARTY CHARLES AND CONTRACT TO STATE AND

High Low Close Chige Composite 94.03 95.44 95.93 10.04
Composite 96.03 95.64 95.73 40.04 Industriols 11.62 111.17 111.55 40.05 Transo. 90.02 97.62 90.02 40.21 Utilities 45.41 46.54 46.47 49.06 Finance 95.56 95.05 95.19 -0.17

Enter at an interest of the second of the se

Fedica s
Fed

E Syst s 34 1.1 22 208
E Syst s 36 1.1 22 208
E Syst s 36 1.1 22 208
E Syst s 36 2.9 20 21
E Syst s 36 2.9 22
E Syst s 36 2.9 22
E Syst s 36 2.9 22
E Syst s 36 2.9 2
E Syst s 37 2

800 45% 44 45 + 46 22 214 51% 314 + 46 319 124 124 124 + 46 319 124 124 125 125 + 46 130 124 124 125 + 46 130 124 127 127 + 46 340 124 127 128 + 46 340 124 127 128 + 46 37 127 127 128 + 46 37 127 128 128 13 + 46 57 13 128 13 + 46 57 13 128 13 + 46 57 15 55 55 57 57 46

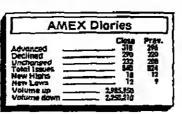

light and the state of the control of the state of the control of the state of the en för elle skind ette fil skrift skrift et bli skrift et bli skrift ette skrift i skrift ette skrift skrift s En fil belge fil i hille skrift ette skrift ette skrift ette skrift ette skrift i skrift ette skrift skrift sk

THE STATE OF THE PARTY OF THE P

GAFTX #00 # 1 HE HOUSE AND THE WAS AND THE WAS AND THE FEBRUARY TO BE AND THE FEBRUARY TO B

Thursday's NYSE

Standor		 l mele
Industrials Transa. Utilities Finance Composite	High 182.39 27,54 49.28 18.37 161,39	Class 164.97 31.44 69.05	+0.10 +0.10 +0.00 +0.00 +0.00 +0.00

Dow Jones	Bond Ave	ages
Bands Utilities Industrials	Close 78.91 68.47 73.35	-0.12 -0.12 -0.33 +0.55

> .	1100
	AMEX	Stock	Index
· :	High	Lo-	Class -	Ch'94 +0.36
٠ -	219.95_ 2	219.21	219,54	+0.36

sperts Look to Fluidize

EP11. 101 F. W.BFR 18, 198

Fav of Burning Coal

Plant of the second of the sec Manager and the second of the and capital coal of pro-And the second of the second o Botto Power to earth India

Fluide

the control of the co hold g is ferrilled to the state of th abilit* and the same and t Applications of the second MENTAL COLORS COLORS CONTRACTOR AND A Ment of persons as the countries at an age of the But the great at the countries of the cou to many different hands of fact, from sixty Proportion and the bear proportion ? salary of McDermant Inc. Combustion 2: SerCorp. which the substitute of Assistant making in the tree techniques to the techniques me and Proposed Com N San Design Sales Are Called Subsect the hors been bless her substantial an histories ungineer with the expenses ok But Edward A Zieliniski, managet M. edoment at Lambustion Engineering care a menta could be abelia for withhers period could be discribed by the same not yet took in sequent for electric power plants. And i history so of paramount importance, long period in Mr. Balchiser of transfer that at least to me in the United States, much will depend on history in a cooperation with Tennessee Valley and the State of Kentucky The first a policy of memory is discretely by the first a policy of the services driver by a fluidized here by d'I mensous driver by a fluidized-bod ba Man is currently in the second year of a fu black Kenneky its results will be shared w illence a larger dem. matrafacet projecti, in plant whe built at the same size. ne built in the care site.

Progress in industrial and stallity applications, brope in West German. A demonstration parallel for the care site of the care site minued by the extensive Lancage that maid said to be flow Riesennare. West Germany's m hology, which is us is glose to carrying be but here demonstrations arrange involve the but had boilers, which have exhibited persons ministion lower-than-anticopaid selfer their

The inherent limetation of first generation and industrial desired and desired

Asother approach is the circulating bed at a communic throughout the reactor to communicate throughout the reactor to communicate throughout the reactor of communication and desails stated polytomers and a particular and the communication of the communication o I how changes may occur.

Dollar Valua

Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

Interest the Correct

brocurrency Deposits

Reaching More Than a Third of a Million, Readers

in 164 Countries Around the World

Vol. of 4 p.m... Div. Yid. PE 100s High Low Quot. Chare Div. Yiel PE 1905 High Low Qual Chies 17 Month High Law Stock

Closing 88,380,606 Prev. 4 p.m. Vol. Prev Consolidated Close 99,240,386 Tables include the nationwide prices

The 20 HART SAME HART SAME 25 HART HART SAME 25 HART HART SAME HAR

IWT
JRIVER'S

The KDI ARCHART AND ARCHART AN

25 14 5.00 9.3 2.00 11.0 2.00 8.4 8 20 1.9 18 20 2 10 2.00 1.0 18 2.00 2 10 1.00 1.0 11 1.00 1.0 11 1.00 1.0 11 1.00 1.0 11 1.00 1.0 11 1.00 1.0 11

مكذا من الأص

"MA BELL'S" VIRTUES and 600% PROFITS

For months the Establishment and their minions have been spewing out the Big Lie, urging investors to sell A.T.&T., $ 62; claiming that divestiture will wrinkle Ma Bell's virtues.

As contrarians we defy their thesis.

It is a ploy that has been structured so that the fiscal intelligentsia can soak up et wholesale prices the shares of "Big T" that novitiates are discarding.

After Elitists accumulate millions of Ma Bell's shares e massive upside distribution will be effectuated, one that could crackle A.T.&T. to record highs, adjusted for divestiture.

The laws of Physics will be "violated" for the sum of the perts will be worth more than the whole; ignore the growls of newly awakened Ma Bell bears. During the mid summer 1982 lows, when the DOWS were sagging. under 790, F.P.S. predicted that the "DJI WILL TOUCH 1,000 BEFORE: HITTING 750". Other F.P.S. "historic" prophecies have eventuated, among them the recommendation to buy CHRYSLER around $ 8, FORD at $ 17 and IBM when it was absurdly oversold at $ 48. At $ 48 myopic analysts: scorned IBM maintaining that the Blg Blue was arthritic. The same seers have converted, recommending IBM at $ 122, simultaneously molesting investor's faith in A.T.&T.

Our current letter reviews A.T.&T., categorizing the stock as a dynamic investment; in addition we focus upon an emerging $ 7 growth equity, one that is debt free, offering sophisticated speculators an opportunity to realize herculean gains, as they did in buying one of our favorites, a natural resource equity that spiralled from $ 1.50 to $ 14 in less than three months. For your complimentary copy of this report, please write or phone:

CAPITAL GAINS RESEARCH	F.P.S. Financial Planning Services by Kalverstraat 112, 3rd floor 1012 PK. Amsterdam, The Netherland Phone: (020)-25 04 77 or 22 98 73 Telex 18536 (fpsam)
Name:
Address:
·
Phone:	HT4

1/4 ... 1/2 / 1/2 Loming Loming Loming London London Lill Aris Langua
The distribution of the state o

PROPERTY OF THE PROPERTY OF TH

DESTRUCTION OF THE PROPERTY OF

1.34 10.4 11 .88 .42 .8 1.70 18.7 7 1.80 .6.2 14 1.75 .4.2 14 1.30 .5.4 16 1.30 .1.3 15 2.46 .8.4 1 1.00 .1.4 10 1.200 7.1 4 4.12 12.4

200 6.7 7 .16e 7 10 .50 2.3 10 .50 2.3 10 .50 2.3 10 .50 2.3 10 .50 2.3 10 .50 2.4

TECHNOLOGY

By STEVEN J. MARCUS

Experts Look to Fluidized-Bed Boilers As Way of Burning Coal More Cleanly

EW YORK — If acid rain is to be seriously reduced over the next decade, most experts agree, the job will depend largely on flue-gas desulfurization, or "scrubbing." This is the only option that is be dioxide emitted by coal-burning power plants from escaping into the salfur throughout.

But scrubbing is costly and cumbersome, and it leaves prodigious equantities of shudge. Because it is an add-on system, treating a problem after the fact rather than preventing it, a scrubber has no effect on the combustion process itself. And although it accounts for more than 10 properties of a power plant's control cast it produces no electricity. percent of a power plant's capital cost, it produces no electricity.

So a better approach might be to burn coal more cleanly and efficiently in the first place. The greatest promise for the long term, says Richard E.

Fluidized-bed units

Balthiser, senior vice president of the Electric Power Research Institute, is to develop "fundamentally different ways" to get electricity from coal. The leading candidate is fluidized-bed combustion, in which fine particles of coal are fed into a : Ware.

÷

:1 1 2 3

*

C 195.77 3

٦:

hold great promise because of their bed of limestone. The mixture appears to percolate like a liquid thus giving rise to the term fluidized, and much of the sulfur dioxide produced by the sul duced by the burning coal reacts with the limestone and is drawn off.

The nominal reduction of sulfur dioxide in a finidized bed is the same bout 90 percent —as the combination of scrubbers and conventional bosers. But the greatest promise of fluidized-bed boilers is their ability to burn many different kinds of fuel, from top-grade to run-of-the-mine coll, as well as a wide variety of solid wastes. huidized bed units are being produced by established makers of conventional boilers such as Foster Wheeler Corp., Babcock & Wilcox strisidiary of McDermott Inc., Combustion Engineering Inc. and Riley Spiker Corp., which is a subsidiary of Ashland Oil Inc. Other companies

Specializing in the new technology include Johnston Boiler Co. of Farysburg, Michigan, which is a subsidiary of Stone International of Bitain, and Pyropower Corp. of San Diego, a member of Ahlstrom of

Sales Are Called Substantial

Sales have been "slow but substantial," says Herbert M. Kosstrin, rincipal process engineer with the engineering concern of Stone & Webster Inc., who estimates the total number sold to be in the hunireds." But Edward A. Zielinski, manager of finidized-bed combustion sevelopment at Combustion Engineering, says that "less than 15" are of a type that could be useful for utilities.

Indeed, fluidized-bed boilers are not yet commercially available in the sizes required for electric power plants. And for an industry in which reliability is of paramount importance, long periods of testing are needed first. Mr. Balzhiser estimates that at least 10 years will be required. In the United States, much will depend on two projects led by the institute, in cooperation with Tennessee Valley Authority, Duke Power Co. and the State of Kentucky, The first, a pilot-scale generating station of 20 megawatts driven by a fluidized-bed boiler built by Babcock & Wilcox, is currently in the second year of a four-year test period near Paducah, Kentucky, Its results will be shared with the boiler industry to influence a larger demonstration project, a plant of about 160 megawatts,

Progress in industrial and utility application is also being reported in Europe. In West Germany, a demonstration plant at Esertal powered by fluidized-bed technology is generating 129 megawatts of electricity, and another at Volklingen is being built to deliver 200 megawatts. "We are motivated by the extensive damage that acid tain has done to our trees," says Heinz Riesenhuber, West; Germany's minister of research and technology, "which to us is close to catastrophe."

But these demonstrations largely involve the first reperation of fluid-

But these demonstrations largely involve the first generation of fluid-ized-bed boilers, which have exhibited problems such as incomplete combustion, lower-than-anticipated sulfur removal, a tendency to clog New York Stock Exchange rallied and sheer size.

The inherent limitation of first generation units, says Gordon B. Baty. Thursday, after treading water president of Wormser Engineering Inc. of Woburn, Massachusetts, is that combustion and desulfurization — two entirely different chemical reactions - take place in the same bed, meaning that each process must be compromised. His company's approach is to build boilers with two beds. one for each function, with consequent improvement in the efficiency of

Another approach is the circulating bed, in which fuel and limestone perirculate throughout the reactor to extend the time, and thus the completeness, of combustion and desulfurization. This is being developed by two competitors: Pyropower and a joint venture of Combustion Engineering and Lurgi Corp. of West Germany.

A major impediment to progress is the depressed market. Utilities are simply not buying boilers, and William Axunan, executive director of the American Boiler Manufacturers Association, declines to predict when and how changes may occur.

New York Times Service

CURRENCY RATES

		5	D.M.	F.F.	H.L.				D.K.
Amsferdam	30715	4.463	112.025 *	34.83	0.184				JIMS'
Brussels (a)	54.72	80,5425	20,3235	- 6.48	2.2560	78.346			5.44
	2.6815	1782		22.86	1,451	x #25			2734
Frankfurf	1.4778		1,7646	12.1123	24136	4.45	80.54	5 3,2225	14,3376
London 1h1	1,629.25	2,411.80	405.57	199.70	_	540.2	29.30	3 747.63	164.13
Allon		1,4795	0.3717	0.1222	0.0614	· 0.337	7 8.018	0.4595	0.1031
New York		72.117	304.25		5.0235			7 - 374.52	-145
Ports	2.182	32141	80.83		0.133			· —	22,41
Zorich ·	2,1743			6.0075				1 1 1	2,1578
ECU	0.8417	0.5688	2.2642						10.1974
SDR	1,05069	0,709303	2,82898	8.5768	1,711.8	4 2164	2 DIAM	2.44	1177220
			Do	lar V	alue	S		. :
a [ _		Per	•	CHITTE	-67	-	-	CHITCHICK	1122
Engly.	IL GOCA	U.S.S	Equiv.			1122	Equiv.	Street, 1
19177 AUS	trollan S	1.0097	0.0171	in sell t		10.375 .		Airices re
0.0526 Austri	on schilles	72,955	0.0047	Jayanes		235.55		Kerves w
9.8183  Belgio	of the france	55.83	3.6211	· Kowelli		1.2973		Song, ptoti
	undian 1	1.2375	0,4268	Maley, r		230		Speak, brown
	ish troos	9,7025	67.223	Horse k		7.4745
	ish mork	5,7885	0,0519	PhIL p		-	0.0347	Taiwan 1	40.7
	dreckma	94.40	0.0078	Pert, co		127,577	0.0413	Their best
	W Kone 1	7.814	2673	Spodi z	iyaf	3.4905	22	LA.E. dirin	E 35/2
	rish £	0.8436
1,158	-
e Stormen: 1.26	on Irlah P

INTEREST RATES

M.M.	Dollar 902 - 954 904 - 976 904 - 9 94 78 - 1060 184 - 1076	D-Mark 5 % · 5 % 616 · 614 616 · 614 616 · 614 6 % · 6 %	Franc 3 % · 3 % 4 · 4% 4% · 4% 4% · 4%	Sterling 9 1/4 - 9 1/4 9 1/4 - 9 1/4 9 1/4 - 9 1/4	French Franc 12% - 12% 12 % - 12 % 13% - 13% 14% - 14% 14 % - 14%	914 - 914 914 - 912 915 - 914	50R 5½ - 8¼ 5% - 9½ 9 - 9½ 9 - 9½
Ke	y Mone	y Rate	Close L.	_	D Lasse Rate		Clade Free

Bethlehem Steel Plans Lawsuit Over Imports

By Steven Greenhouse New York Tunes Service

NEW YORK -As part of what analysts say is an effort to step up pressure on the Reagan administration, Bethlehem Steel Corp. is preparing a far-reaching trade sunt that seeks to place a caling on imports of basic steel below the current level.

Bethlehem, the second-largest steelmaker in the United States, has been circulating papers among other major steelmakers in an effort to get them to join in bringing the trade suit, according to officials of

The papers claim that the industry is suffering serious injury as a result of imports, and that these should be limited through the establishment of mandatory quotas for each country that sells steel to

The suit would reduce basic or carbon steel imports to well below their current 20 percent share of the market, steel industry executives

Analysts said they expect such a suit to fail, unless the Reagan administration were forced to accept quotas because of election-year political pressures. They described Bethlehem's efforts as part of the steel industry's strategy to pressure the administration into finding ways to limit steel imports, as the administration has done in negociating voluntary quotas for basic steel shipped from Europe. Japan also has voluntarily limited steel exports to the United States.

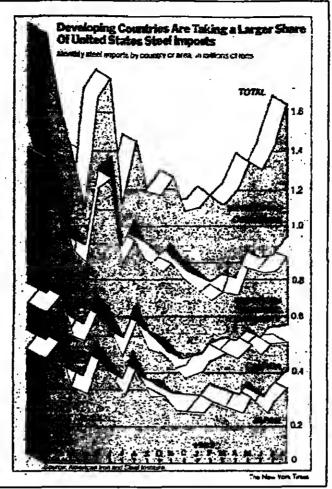

The analysis said the suit is aimed principally at turning back growing steel imports from such Third World countries as Brazil and South Korea.

Donald H. Trautlein, Bethlehem's chairman, was not available for comment, but a Bethlehem spokesman, Henry H. Von Spreckelsen, sould the company plans to bring the suit. He refused to say whether it would be brought against all steel imports or just against what it considers to be unfairly traded imports.

Steel company executives familiar with Bethlehem's efforts said

(Continued on Page 13, Col. 3).

Belgium Plans $300-Million Floating-Rate Issue

By Carl Gewirtz

International Herold Tribune PARIS - Belgium is expected to offer on Friday $300 million of floating-rate notes as part of a larg-er financing of as much as $1 bil-

Anxious to take advantage of the opportunity to raise funds at attractive rates, Belgian officials ap-parently put aside concern that some of the tax-free paper may wind up in the hands of domestic

However, to discourage the sale of the notes to domestic residents, the Belgian notes are expected to be in registered form and in denominations of $500,000.

from $700 million to $1 billion, will bonds at par bearing a coupon of include a syndicated bank credit. Meanwhile, Denmark returned with the bank exchanging the

to the capital market - offering fixed-rate obligation for floating-$100 million of 10-year bonds at par bearing a coupon of 1214 percent. The bonds were well received early in the day, but as the tone of the market softened and other issues hit the market, the price of the Danish paper closed at an indicated discount of 2 points.

The Danes also offered five-year warrants to buy 10-year paper carrying a coupon of 111/2 percent. The warrants were offered at $18, rose to a high of $22 and closed the day at $18. Westdentsche Landesbank is

The total financing, ranging selling $100 million of seven-year bonds are callable after six years at a premium starting at 101%. The warrants, offered at $18, were quoted at $14 by the end of the day. Prices on NYSE Increase Westdenische Landesbank is coupon of 1122 percent. These over the mean of the mean of the three-month domestic pound interbank rate. A minimum warrants, offered at $18, were quoted at $14 by the end of the day. The floating-rate note was quoted the first of Prices on NYSE Increase To Highest Level in Month

NEW YORK — Prices on the New York Stock Exchange railied to its highest level in a month its highest level in a month most of the day, following reports that the economy's growth had slowed to a less inflationary level. Brokerage issues were leaders in the rally. Possible takeovers and rumors helped several stocks. But Control Data and IBM were hurt by analysts' reductions of carnings

The Dow Jones industrial average, which gained 3.35 points Wednesday, tacked on another 3,35 to 1,254.67, putting it at the highest level since it finished at 1.268.70 on Oct. 17.

Advances topped declines 835-734 among the 1,985 issues traded. Volume totaled 80.7 million shares compared with 83.4 million traded Wednesday.

cousing starts fell 3.8 percent from ommendation on the stock. September. That report, plus news General Baneshares soared 7/2 that the growth of factory use to 37.

slowed, indicated the economy's bodes well for higher market prices," said John Pistell of Stires & Co. "The only thing that is disconrates have not come down as we American Telephone & Telegraph was the most active NYSElisted issue, up 1/2 to 631/4. The stock rose a point Wednesday after AT&T projected its post-divesti-ture dividend outlook. Control Data was second on the list, off 2 1/4 to 43 1/4. Several analysts lowered their 1983 earnings estimates for the company after meeting with Control Data offi-

IBM fell 1% to 123%. The stock has been under pressure since Pru-dential-Bache Securities earlier this Some buying crupted after the week lowered its carnings estimates overnment reported October for the company as well as its rec-

HoechstProfitRose87% In First 9 Months of '83

the large chemical group, said on Thursday that worldwide pre-tax profit rose 87 percent in the first nine months on a 4.3 percent revenue increase. In the nine months, Hoechst earned 1.32 billion Deutsche marks ($490 million), up from 709 million DM a year earlier, as revenue rose to 27.36 billion DM from 26.23

Philips Net Rose 29% in Quarter

Compiled by Our Staff From Dupatch AMSTERDAM - NV Philips said Thursday its third-quarter profit rose 29 percent to 103 million guilders ($34.2 mil-lion) from 80 million guilders in the depressed third quarter of 1982. Philips, the big multinational electronics concern, said revenne was up 11 percent to 11.21 billion guilders from 10.07 billion in the 1982 third quarter. For the nine months, Philips said earnings were up 10 per-cent to 362 million guilders Nine-month revenue rose 4 per-cent to 31.87 billion guilders.

Philips said it expects sales growth for all of 1983 to fall slightly short of a 4- to 5-per-cent forecast made in March, despite the 11-percent rise in FRANKFURT — Hoechst AG, Hoechst report showed that third quarter profit was up more than 244 percent to 520 million DM on a revenue increase of 11 percent to 9.22 billion DM.

Hoechst said the third quarter howed a noticeable revival of both foreign and domestic business. Do-mestic turnover elimbed 13 percent and foreign turnover rose more than 10 percent from a year earlier.

Hoechst said 73 percent of its capacity was in use during the third quarter, up from 63 percent a year earlier, and inventories have been substantially reduced.

Sales were especially strong in Asia and North America. Latin American sales were also higher in local currencies but showed a de-cline when translated into marks, the company said.

Sales volume of the worldwide in the nine months was up 7 percent, with especially strong sales in insecticides, pharmacenticals, synthetic fibers and plastics. The Hoechst report made no mention of any possible rise in the chairman, Rolf Sammet, declined to give any specific forecast. Separately, the West German chemical company BASF AG said it is cutting its capacity to make expandable polystyrol, known as EPS, at its Ludwigshafen works by 25 percent, to 180,000 metric tons from 240,000 tons a year.

BASE which interested EPS and BASF, which invented EPS, said its action is in response to overcapacity in Western European EPS capacity for many years.

11% percent. The issue is a swap. rate money. The issue was also not well received and indicated at a discount of 2 points. In the floating-rate market, Stan-dard & Chartered Bank is offering $150 million of 10-year floatingrate notes. Interest will be set at h rate with a minimum coupon of 514 percent guaranteed.

of 10-year bonds at par bearing a rate notes. Interest is set at 4-point coupon of 11½ percent. These over the mean of the bid-offered

Tee Korean Exchange Bank came to market with a $50 million floating-rate note, offered at par and guaranteeing a minimum cou-

The Korean notes have a final majurity of 10 years, but investors can request to be repaid after five point over the six-month interbank years or after seven years. Frontend fees total 1's percent. These notes are being sold in denominations of $10,000 each.

At the same time, Standard & Italy's state electricity utility, Chartered is selling 150,000 one-year warrants to buy $150 million ($150 million) of 10-year floatingat just over par despite the slim, paying a commission of 1% per-half-percent front-end fee.

Britain to Keep Tight Clamp on Budget Policy

By Bob Hagerry LONDON - The British government is keeping a tight clamp on budget policy and threatening to

The tough budget plans, an-nounced Thursday by Nigel Law-son, chancellor of the exchequer, show a determination to squelch inflation despite warnings that Britain's economic recovery may fizzle out.

Mr. Lawson rejected the view that economie growth would slow next year. He projected that gross domestic product will increase 3 percent in 1984, about the same as in 1983. Many British economists say GDP growth is likely to slow to about 2 percent next year. The chancellor also predicted that inflation would slow to an annual rate of 4.5 percent in next year's fourth quarter from the current 5 percent, which is down from a peak of 21.9 percent in May 1980. Economists generally have been forecasting inflation of 5 to 7 percent in late 1984.

Lawson also confirmed that government spending has outrun the target. He said the public sector borrowing requirement — a broad measure of the government budget deficit at the local and national level - would total about £10 bilpon of 5th percent. Interest will be set at 1-point over the six month interbank rate.

Interest will be into ($14.8 billion) in the year ending March 31, compared with a target of £8.2 billion announced last March.

Analysts in the City of London said the higher deficit figure is like-ly to exert at least short-term pres-sure for higher interest rates as the market girds for higher credit de-

To meet the previously forecast target for the borrowing requirement in the next fiscal year. Mr. Lawson estimated, the government would need to increase taxes by £500 million. He did not specify what form the added taxes might

Some analysts said they considered the tax statement a bollow

Nigel Lawson

chief economist at the stockbrokerage of Capel-Cure Myers, said the chancellor may have merely wanted to express his will to maintain downward pressure on spending.

"He quite likes the tough image, Addressing Parliament, Mr. agreed Keith Skeoch, an economist at James Capel & Co. But Mr. Skeoch said the government may well have room to avoid a tax increase when it announces the final budget for fiscal 1984-85.

For instance, Mr. Lawson pro jected that the government would raise £1.9 billion through sales of state-owned companies next year. Most observers expect a much higher figure, which would give the government more room to maneu-

Nonetheless, Mr. Lawson underlined his determination to reduce government borrowing. "I think the budget will be notable for its lack of generosity," said Paul Neild, chief economist at Phillips &

One result of the government's squeeze on the economy has been high unemployment. But Mr. Law-son said unemployment seems to be leveling off at the current level of 12.4 percent, which compares with 9.3 percent in the United threat. Calling the figure of £500 States and 9.4 percent in West Ger-million "peanuts." Roger Bootle, many.

What makes TDB exceptional? Our bank in Switzerland, for example.

As one of the larger commercial banks in Switzerland, TDB Geneva can give you a complete range of sophisticated banking services. We also give you the personal attention that can be so important to your business.

At TDB we serve our customers exceptionally well - and we do that in a number of ways. To begin with, we concentrate on the things we do best, such as trade and export financing. foreign exchange and banknotes, money market transactions and precious metals

Secondly, our clients in Switzerland or abroad benefit from TDB's network of offices in many of the world's financial centers. And now that we have joined the American Express International Banking Corporation, with its 64 offices in 36 countries, we're even better placed to serve your individual banking needs. While our operations are international, we run our backoffice systems with typical Swiss efficiency and discretion. You may not notice this directly, but it shows up in quicker decisions and fewer errors.

So the next time you're in Switzerland, get in touch with us. In Geneva, call (022) 37 21 11; in Chiasso, (091) 44 1991.

TDB banks in Geneva, London, Paris. Luxembourg, Athens, Chiasso. Monte Carlo, Nassau. Panama City.

TDB is a member of the American Express Group which has assets of over US$ 28 billion and sharebolders' equity of over US$ 3 billion.

Trade Development Bank

Shown 21 left, the bead office of Trade Development Bank, Geneva.

An American Express Company

TDK 229 4 22 TECO 214 88 9 TRE 100 34 25 TRW 250 3.7 15 TRW pt 450 3.1 Toc51 5 Tot18270 1.00 22 14 Tollery pt 1.00 42 Toutery 1.00 42 Toutery 1.00 15
1.30

Soles in Net 100s High Low 3 pm Chige

Thursday's NYSE Closing

Tables include the nationwide prices Up to the closing on Wali Street

Div. Yid. PE 1998 High Low Qual. Chase

(Continued from Page 10)

Sales tieures are unofficial. Yearly highs and lows reflect to previous 52 weeks plus the current week, but not the treat proding day. Where a split or stock dividend mountling to 22 percent or more has been pold, they works lah-low range and dividend are shown for the new stock although the stock of the production of the new stock although the stock of the latest designation.

dividend pold this year, om

P/E—price-carnings ratio.

r— dividend declared or paid in precedi dividend poid in stock in preceding 12 months cush value or ex-dividue new yearly high. v— new yearly high.

v—Irading haited.
vi— in bankrupter or receivership or being real under the Bunkrupter Act, or securities assumed companies.
vi— when distributed.
vi— when issued.
vi— with warrants.
vi— sx-dividend or ex-rights.
xii— se distribution.
xii— we distribution.
yiii— vistd.

rid--- y isid. :--- sales în fuii.

FONDS DE RÉÉTABLISSEMENT DU CONSEIL DE L'EUROPE POUR LES RÉFUGIÉS NATIONAUX ET LES EXCÉDENTS DE POPULATION EN EUROPE

> Principal Office: 67006 STRASBOURG (France). Headquarters of Operational Service 55 Avenue Kléber, 75116 PARIS

The Ordinary General Meeting of holders of bonds 11% 1983-1993 FONDS DE RÉÉTABLISSEMENT DU CONSEIL DE L'EUROPE POUR LES RÉFUGIÉS NATIONAUX ET LES EXCÉDENTS DE POPULATION EN EUROPE, held on November 7, 1983, has appointed:

As permanent representatives:

— More Chantal SUCHET, 7 Rue du Levant, 92380 GARCHES;

— M. Maurice LEGER, 111 Avenue de Verdum, 92130 ISSY-LES-MOULINEAUX.

As substitute representatives:

— Mile Jamine ARNAUT, 69 Rue Ganneron, 75018 PARIS:

— TRANSPARIS - TRANSPARI

M. Georges HENRARD, 52 Impasse de la Halte, 78870 BAILLY.

The Governing Body.

12½, RBInd 19¼, RCA 20 RCA pf 52 RCA pf 52 RCA pf 52, RCA pf 8½, RCA pf 13½, RTE 11¼, RASP pf 4½, RASP pf 14½, RASP pf 14½, RASP pf 14½, RASP pf 14½, RASP pf 11½, REGIST 11½, REGIST 11½, REGIST 11½, REGIST 14½,
TALK TO WALL STREET DIRECT OVERSEAS TOLL FREE

Marquette de Barv one of the most experienced discount brokers in the United States has expanded this service to Europe.

Call our European Desk in Wall Street through Paris by dialing (6) 079 1400.

Pioneers in Discount Brokerage 30 Broad Street, New York, NY 10004

MEMBER NASD SIPC

Floating Rate Notes

11-10 12-23 11-15 12-3 12-3 12-4 12-5 12-5 11-24

40 22 30

231/2 24/4 33/4 34 34 34 34 34 34 34 34 38/2 25/4 26/4 15/4 15/4 15/4 15/4 15/4 15/4 15/4 15/4 16/4 1

Banks

Nov. 17

.40 2.3

.12 .12

.80 3.8

Komon s Korch s Kosler KelyJa s Kemer KyCnLi Kevex Kindr s Koss Kroy

7-11 79.48 79.48
1-15 1927-110270
1-71 7825-510124
1-15 7825-510124
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.11
1-15 7827-1102.1 Non Banks

CORESTANDA CONTRACTOR OF CONTR

Over-the-Counter

Nov. 17 NASDAQ National Market Prices Sales in Net 100s, High Low 3 pm, Ch'90 Low 2pm Chips 1 High Low 2 ppr Crives
36 545 595 594
36 1246 1114 1244 + 14
1157 827 675 684 + 34
60 9 855 824 14
60 9 855 824 14
112 12 2844 2814
113 124 13 14
114 114
115 114 14
115 114 14
117 114 115 114
117 114 117
117 114 114
117 114 117
117 114 114
117 114 117
117 114 114
117 114 117
117 114 114
117 114 117
117 114 114
117 114 114
117 114 117
117 114 114
117 114 114
117 114 114
117 114 114
117 114 114
117 114 114
117 114 114
117 114 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 114
117 117
117 117
117 117
117 117
117 117
117 117
117 117
117 117
117 117
117 1

.06b 9

.18 a4 20 1.0

100 35 26 34 1.49b 5.5 1.00 1.5 J2 29

192 7% 7% 7% 16 34% 24% 24% 24% 21 21% 21% 213 9% 9% 9% 1660 21% 21% 21% 21% 21%

LA REDOUTE 14 3/8 1980/1985 LOAN OF FF 125.000.000.-

We inform the bondholders that 8.000 bonds of nominal each FF 5.000.- have een drawn for redemption in the presence of an "Huissier" in Luxembourg on 28 October 1983.

The bonds will be reimbursed at par on 23 December 1983, coupon due on 23 December 1984 and followings attached according to the modalities of payment on the reverse of the bonds.

The numbers of such drawn bonds are as 20854 to 25000 00001 to 03853 Amount outstanding after 23 December 1983; FF 85.000.000.-

THE PRINCIPAL PAYING AGENT SOCIETE GENERALE ALSACIENNE DE BANQUE . 15. Avenue Emile Reuter LUXEMBOURG

1.80 2.6

J2 22

.150 1.5

.20 1.4

1.24 1.5

ب1 200.

mis the Labor for a firm reported Theretoes to the appearance of t michels for the first sime during the same states Redquiment also recorded that thereon the

2000 people claimed intemployment benefits Weeo Says Debt Load App METHARTFORE Connectacut (Reviews) — Co allianday that it content deby loved in most as

BUSINESS BRI

don Carhide to Shut Chest

the Write-() !! Totaling $14

Bachito Pay IBM for Softs

french Retail Prices Incres

the but the same that he was a farmer to

houl Acts to Bolster Stock

MOLERANCE STATE OF THE PROPERTY SHE SHE

talled start of the same Toronto, from the same See the composition of the left before the paper.

Banca constant to finance corporation beg gramme fifth an early to been change womand or assume for the court of another principle 2.7 in 12.1. Its limitable and volume declared to again make

IS Jobless Claims Hit 3-M

HIII -

TEN CHE MAN

Staden Toront in to provide provide

THE WAR IN CHARLES

11 13/2 . R 200

geg y Owers werdeni

the most hope form

कु तक हो जार क्रिकेटी

A STATE OF

lemman made the datement in response to se Cobo said that it persistently subjected to thes is "genred low and undermittens, not become na mai ca a aizhei vedume (a an the end of 1952

U.S. Agency Assa

by Kenneth B. Noble Mer York, Time a Service MASHINGTON - A House

milite topert on the ceiliapse of the Tennessee attamety banking empire contidio the Butcher brothers criticals of the Control of the Butcher brothers criticals of the Control of the Con as he saff of the Federal Derainstrance Corp. for "extreme bany neglect" in failing to a monger action against the

he findings by the House Coman on Government Operations aportayed by committee aides a of a federal banking agency made The committee apnice rote on Tuesday

The Types report said the filling the lederal agency that the seem sale-chartered banks, had the showledge over six years the showledge over six years the showledge of the Butcher banks.

The FDIC's regulatory remains the report said, "was not to the same of the in its ineffectual regulatory n is ineffectual regulation -Alat Willney, a spokesman for is increased to the agency "would in a first to admit "that "we like in supervising agency "as agency "would like in its to admit." that "we like in supervising agencies as deficient."

Save the course of United Andrewskie, the Jake Bustner resser banks by caper Jake Buscher have banks to You in which the B interests have taird $1.7 bill Mr. Which "secres to ser should have a officials or bi on our belief a practices.

IC D

CHICAGO said Business its holdings of denied that a DODING COURS in a renord the Securities THIS SOUR ICE SLICK FROM A cent but it wi Deroma.

Interested In eventori bom

K and Trans

Here

مكذا بن الزما

 $\pi_{1}(x) = \pi_{1}(x) + \frac{1}{2} \pi_{2}(x)$

1985 W.

4

C PARTIE AND A

GENERAL

CEM

ANGLE

Ab -

25.000.000 a

Take Write-Off Totaling $140 Million

DANBURY, Connecticut (Renters) — Union Carbide Corp. suid if plans to close several Gulf Coast petrochemical operations and take a non-recurring after-tax charge against earnings of about $140 million, or $2 a share, in the fourth quarter of 1983. In 1982, the company earned

The corporation said Wednesday there will be no effect on cash flow in 1983, and that future estimes and cash flow are especied to benefit as more cost-effective sources are used for the products myolved.

The principal assets concerned in the write-off are older oldin and derivative units, including high pressure polyeflylene facilities at Seadrift, Texas, Union Carbide said. Some of the facilities involved had been temporarily shut earlier this year, and the actions will have little effect on jobs, the corporation said.

Hitachi to Pay IBM for Software

TOKYO (Reuters) — Hitachi Ltd. said Thursday it will pay several hundred million yen a month to International Business Machines Corp.

for the use of its computer software.

Hitachi officials said payments will be made under terms of the recent settlement of IBM's lawsnit against Hitachi for alleged theft of computer technology and software.

Hitachi has already paid about 10 billion yen ($42.6 million) to IBM inlegal costs and for the use of IBM software technology. It set aside an undisclosed sum in the six months ended Sept. 30 to meet losses arising from the IBM case, the officials added.

French Retail Prices Increase 0.7%

PARIS (AP) - French retail prices rose an estimated 0.7 percent in PARIS (AP) — French retail prices rose an estimated 0.7 percent in October, compared with increases of 0.8 percent in September and 0.6 percent in Angust, the Economics Ministry said Thursday.

During the past 12 months, prices have risen 10.3 percent, compared with 10.1 percent in the 12-month period ended in September. But the ministry said that during the six months through October, the annual rate of retail price growth was 8.6 percent — the slowest rate of increase since 1972, excluding 1982 when the government froze prices.

The government is aiming to limit retail price growth in 1983 to 2 percent, but analysts said that following October's inflation rate a more realistic projection now is 9 percent for the year.

realistic projection now is 9 percent for the year.

Seoul Acts to Bolster Stock Market

SEOUL (Reuters) - The South Korean Finance Ministry has ordered Korea Securities Finance Corp. to provide 20 billion won ($25 million) in soft loans to securities firms to support the flagging stock market,

The decision was taken Wednesday after trade volume fell sharply to 4.3 million shares on Monday and Tuesday from an average of 8.4 million last week. The composite index fell below the psychologically important 120 level on Tuesday to 119.95.

On Wednesday, when the finance corporation began providing money

Armeo Inc. might also join. A spokesman for LTV Corp. said its Jones & Laughlin subsidiary has decided not to join such a suit. A to securities firms wishing to buy shares, volume jumped to 12 million shares with the composite index gaining 1.27 to 121.22. The index fell to 120.46 Thursday and volume declined to eight million shares.

U.S. Jobless Claims Hit 3-Month High

WASHINGTON (UPI) - New claims for state unemployment insurance in the first week of November rose to the highest level in nearly three months, the Labor Department reported Thursday.

Seasonally adjusted data showed that 419,000 workers applied for

Preussag Makes New Rights Issue benefit checks for the first time during the week ended Nov. 5, an increase of 16,000 from the previous week's level and the highest since mid-HANOVER - Preussag is making a one for seven rights issue to

The department also reported that during the week ended Oct. 29, 2,917,000 people claimed memployment benefits under regular state programs, an increase of 137,000 from the prior week.

Coleco Says Debt Load Appropriate

WEST HARTFORD, Connecticut (Reuters)—Coleco Industries Inc. said Thursday that its corrent debt load is well within the company's credit lines and appropriate to its expansion program and the seasonal

The company made the statement in response to published reports that: said its debt load had grown sharply because of its recent expansion

Coleco said that it is persistently subjected to speculation that it Coleco said that on a higher volume of production and sales, its accounts payable are now lower than at Sept. 30, 1982, and substantially lower DM of authorized capital approved

Klöckner and Arbed Union Carbide to Shut Chemical Plants, Plan a Steel Merger

NUREMBERG - Klöckner-Weeke said Thursday that it and Arbed Saarstahl plan a partial merger of their steel operations. Klöckner said that under the plan its Maxhuette unit and Verein would combine their steel ($71.7 million) from the current sion says it is overproducing.

The spokesman said Maxhuette

After the increase, under which is working at a profit, but gave no Eschweiler Bergwerks Verein's figures. The unit employs about steel operations in the Aachen area 6,000 workers, a number expected After the increase, under which steel operations in the Aachen area near the Belgian border will be in-corporated into Maxhuette, EBV would have about 15 percent of the enlarged Maxhmette capital.

The spokesman said the move was not a prelude to a full merger with Arbed, but that it marked the first step toward further coopera-tion with Arbed that offers scope for future streamling

Klöckner's dispute with the Euro-pean Commission over output quo-

Maxhnette, and that this in turn program.

(Continued from Page 11)

Inland Steel Co. would join the suit, if it is brought, and that spokesman for U.S. Steel Corp., the argest steelmaker in the United States, refused to say whether the company would join such a suit.

Officials of several steel companies said that the suit Bethlehem is increase share capital by a nominal 50 million Deutsche marks ($18.58 million) to 400 million DM, the West German mining, metals and chemical concern Thursday.

The new shares, with a nominal value of 50 DM each, will be offered at a price of 195 DM each through a consortium of banks in next January and will qualify for dividends from Jan. 1, 1984, Prenssag said. The company's shares closed at 260.5 DM in Frankfurt

The issue makes use of 50 million plant to expand its quota.

Industry sources said the benefit to the Bremen plant, where the commission has imposed heavy lines for everproduction of about 70,000 metric tons a month, will be Asbed's Eschweiler Bergwerks- about 4,000 tons a month in extra

The spokesman said the commis-A Klöckner spokesman said the sion has offered Klöckner an extra merger, expected to come into 30,000 to 35,000 tons a month in force at the start of next year, quotas and that Klockner would would be financed by a capital increase taking Maximette's equity to same tonnage elsewhere to elimi-about 193 million Deutsche marks nate the 70,000 tons the commis-> to fall to about 5,000 by 1985. Separately, in Brussels officials of Arbed said the European Com-mission has released 86 million

DM in aid to the steel company. The funds will be used to help the company meet urgent operating costs but are linked to restructuring plans. The officials said the company was given a four-week deadline to advise the commission of the for future streamlining.

The spokesman said the merger to advise the commission of the with EBV would belp ease capacity shutdown plans on which the aid is conditional.

Arbed already has received 243 illion DM of 750 million DM in He said the quota from EBV's aid earmarked by the commission strip mill would be transferred to for the company's restructuring

Suit Over U.S. Steel Imports Planned

seeking to persuade them to join would be brought under Section

201 of the Trade Act, which provides for relief when imports.

whether fairly or unfairly traded, are severely injuring an industry. Most steel trade suits are brought under Section 301, which allows for relief only against unfairly traded imports — those dumped here below cost of production or produced restrained their imports, the Third World has been picking up the slack," said John J. Sheehan, a representative of the United Steelworkers of America. "The benefit of a 201 suit is that it can be global in its scope." He said the union has told Bethlehem it would join such a European Community represen-

in its voiding an agreement to reduce steel imports to the United States. Ella Krucoff, an EC spokeswoman, said the accord, which was reached after several American steelmakers brought Section 301 suits against the Europeans for selling subsidized steel in the United

"We would look at a Section 201

tatives said such a suit could result sumption.

"While the EEC and Japan have with government subsidies.

Frates Group, Firm to Share Kaiser Assets

By Louis Sahagun Las Angeles Times Service

LOS ANGELES - An investor group led by J.A. Frates of Tulsa, Oklahoma, and Perma Resources Corp., a Colorado Springs, Colorado-based coalmining concern, agreed definitively to share the assets of Raiser Steel Corp. in a joint venture to develop Kaiser's coal reserves and steel-fabricating

The agreement is to become effective if Frates's $374-miltion proposal to acquire the Fontana. California-based steelmaker is approved by Kai-ser stockholders at a meeting Dec. 14, a spokesman for the investor group said Wednesday.

II the acquisition is ap-proved, the spokesman said, the Frates group will transfer 50 percent of Kaiser's common stock to Perma, and Perma will transfer 50 percent of its Colorado coal properties to the Frates group.

Perma also will contribute an greement it reached last week with Southwestern Public Service Co., an Amarillo, Texas, utility, to deliver one million tons of coal a year over a 25year period beginning in 1990.

Butler, an American trade repre-ably cause problems with Japan. They just might consider retalia-

One official in the Office of the tina. Also last week, the American Iron and Steel Institute said it would seek quotas limiting imports to 15 percent of domestic con-

ITTPlans Thai Phone Project

BANGKOK - International

Telephone & Telegraph Corp announced plans Thursday to invest forts to import steel.

South African Policy On Race Linked by IMF To Economic Troubles

part of South Africa's system of apartheid. Under that system, blacks have limited educational opportunities and restricted mobility.

These restrictions, the report says, add to inflationary pressures in labor shortage areas and unem-

Another restriction, which recuires blacks working under short-term migrant contracts to return to their point of recruitment on the tates against continuity of employment and consequently against en-

In its conclusion, the IMF staff that "in order to avoid serious eccover the medium term, it is essential that the impediments and restrictions governing the labor marnomic imbalances in the economy

the lob training."

ployment in labor surplus areas."

By Raymond Bonner

ven Time Times Service NEW YORK - South Africa's racial policy of apartheid, or racial separation, is creating "inflation-ary pressures" and "adding to unemployment in that country, according to a confidential report by the International Monetary Fund.

The document marks the first time that the staff of the fund has formally linked apartheid to eco-nomic problems. The funding adds fuel to the debate, now in its final stage, over an anti-apartheid provision included in the House-passed version of legislation to increase the U.S contribution to the fund. In approving the $8.4 billion in-crease, the House required the U.S. to oppose fund loans to any country that practices apartheid.

The administration opposes the restriction, which is not in the Senate-passed version of the bill, contending that apartheid is a political and social issue, not an economic one, and that only economic factors should be considered in evaluating a nation's request for an IMF

Backers of the anti-apartheid provision are now citing the IMF report to argue that apartheid is, in fact, an economic issue,

The provision is one of the few remaining obstacles to the highly contentious IMF legislation, and on Wednesday staff members on both sides of Congress were trying to work out a compromise. But early in the day aides were pessimissic. "It's the irreso vable issue, sentative for Japan's steelmakers, said a Senate aide closely involved said, "Carbon steel is a very subin the negotiations, who asked not stantial part of Japan's exports, If to be identified. they were restricted, it would prob-

The IMF staff concluded that "shortages of skilled labor constitute a medium-term constraint on potential growth that is unlikely to de eased without substantial

U.S. Trade Representative said changes in policy." The shortages of skilled labor, the staff found, nerived from some steelmakers were opposing the suil because they thought the strategy might place too much pressure on the Reagan administra-"longstanding labor market policies and practices that constitute tion and might limit their own efimpediments to mobility in the labor market and the optimal use of Last week, U.S. Steel announced labor resources. it was bringing section 301 suits against Brazil, Mexico and Argen-

These policies and practices are

W. German Fuel Prices Rise Reuters

HAMBURG - Deutsche BP. Deutsche Shell and Aral raised their prices for regular and premium gasoline and diesel fuel by three pfennigs a litre (4.25 cents a gallon) Thursday. The action, following a similar increase by Esso earlier this week, signalled a further attempt by major oil companies to increase prices despite stiff retail competition from independent distributors.

CENTRAL ASSETS CURRENCY FUNDS LTD. Prices as at 18-11-83 U.S. $ £ Sterling ..... D. Marks ..... 11.67 12.01 D. Merks ...... 43.57 Sw. Francs ..... 41.01 Fr. Francs ...... 124.20

SDR's..... 291.90 Chartesteuse Jopins Currency Management Ltd., P.D. Box 129, 17 Don Screet, St. Heier, Jersey, Charnel Islands, Tell: Jersey (55%, 7469) Telec (UK) 4792252

PÓRTENAX DEVELOPMENT LIMITED Bid: U.S. $7 Vs. Asked: U.S. $7% As of date: Nov. 17, 1983. F.P.S. FINANCIAL FLANNING SERVICES BY Kelverstrust 112, 3rd Roov 1012 PK AMSTERDAM, Helland. Phone (3) 20-25077, 229973, Th.: 18536

ADVERTISEMENT CITY INVESTING COMPANY

The undersigned announces that as from 28th November 1983 at KawAssu matte N.V., Spanstram 172, Amsterdam div. ep. nr. 40 of the CDR's City lovesting Company, each repr. 10 shares. will be payable with Dfls. 11,36 net div per record-dir. 7.10.1983; gwee $.45 p.sh.j. alter de-ter ton cl. 157 USA tax = $.6759 = 00. 100 per CDR. The car belowing expiration of the contract, "mili-10th 2.01 per CDR 1ht, eps. belonging to morresidents of The Netherlands will le juid after designant of an additional reiterated the connection between 150 1.5A-an (= $ .6750 = D9-2.01; with DDs, 9.35 pet. apartheid and the economy, saying

AMSTERDAM DEPOSITARY COMPANY N.V.

Amsterdam, v.14, bovember, 1983.

Largest U.S. Real Estate & Business Expo Miami, Florida February 3-6, 1984 Coconut Grove Convention Center

- ➤ Contact America's leading Real Estate, Industrial and Commercial firms at AMREM '34" ➤ More than 10,000 international guests to attend
- For Free Guest Tickets and Further Information, Wire, AMREM, P.O. Box 611841, Mami, Florida 33261 Tel: (305) 891-7076, Telez: 153472, Attn. AMREM

FONDS DE RÉÉTABLISSEMENT DU CONSEIL DE L'EUROPE POUR LES RÉFUGIÉS NATIONAUX ET LES EXCÉDENTS DE POPULATION EN EUROPE

Principal Office: 67006 STRASBOURG (France). Hendquarters of Operational Services: 55, avenue Kléber. 75116 PARIS

The Ordinary General Meeting of holders of bonds 13.50% 1982-1992 FONDS DE REETABLISSEMENT DU CONSEIL DE L'EUROPE POUR

LES RÉFUGIÉS NATIONAUX ET LES EXCÉDENTS DE POPULATION EN EUROPE, held on November 7, 1983, has appointed:

L Maurice LECER, 111, avenue de Verdon, 92130 ISSY-LES-MOULINEAUX Mme Madeleine PRAT, 54, rue de Biarritz, 95400 ARNOU-VILLE-LES-CONESSE.

- Mile Marie-Chantal HORS, 51, boulevard Lelebvre, 75015

M. Benoit CINTRAT, 16, rue de La Tour d'Auvergne, 75009

Oesterreichische Kontrollbank Aktiengesellschaft

U.S. $75,000,000 Guaranteed Floating Rate Notes 1986

Notice is hereby given pursuant to the Terms and Conditions If the Notes that for the six months from 18th November, 1983 to 18th May, 1984 the Notes will carry an interest rate of 101/4% per annum. On 18th May, 1984 interest of U.S.$257.52 will be due per U.S.$5,000 Note for Coupon No. 6.

Eurnpean Banking Company Limited (Agent Bank) 18th November, 1983

U.S. Agency Assailed for 'Neglect' in Butcher Bank Collapse

By Kenneth B. Noble New York Times Service

WASHINGTON - A House committee report on the collarse earlier this year of the Tennessee and Kentucky banking empire controlled by the Butcher brothers criticizes the staff of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. for "extreme regulatory neglect" in failing to take stronger action against the bank's senior officials.

The findings by the House Committee on Government Operations were portrayed by committee aides as the strongest congressional criti-cism of a federal banking agency ever made. The committee approved the subcommittee's report-by voice vote on Tuesday.

The 73-page report said the FDIC, the federal agency that oversees state-chartered banks, had "specific knowledge over six years of the abusive practices" that led to the collapse of the Butcher banks. "The FDIC's regulatory response," the report said, "was not only fatally flawed in its failure to act earlier on what should have been its suspicions about the integrity of the interrelationships among Butcher banks and the accuracy of their books and records. It was also flawed in its ineffectual regulatory response to the repeatedly critical findings of its own bank examin-

Alan Whitney, a spokesman for the insurance corporation, said in a statement that the agency "would be the first to admit," that "we made mistakes in supervising UAB. In particular, the 1981 examination was deficient.

Since the collapse in February of FDIC did not have sufficient con-the United American Bank of crete information during that peri-Knoxville, the flagship bank of od to justify such action. Moreover, banks in Tennessee and Kentucky in which the Butchers had financial interests have been sold or merged. The combined deposits of the Butcher banks, the report said, totaled $1.7 billion.

Mr. Whitney said the report should have removed senior UAB officials or taken other formal as mended, among other things, that tion sometime prior to 1983, based the four principal federal banking ing only marginally sound banking Knoxville, the flagship bank of od to justify such action. Moreover, lake Butcher Jr., eight other Tennessee banks owned or controlled by either Jake or his brother, C.H. Butcher, have failed, and 11 other lators for an extended period."

"Because these failures can be traced to common and interrelated unsafe and unsound banking prac-tices," the report concludes, "it is possible to view them collectively as the largest commercial bank failpre in U.S. history."

Board, as well as the FDIC — pervisory action to minimize its should "immediately attempt to impact on the bank," the report identify financial institutions" that The banking regulators, the re-port said, should routinely share all

The committee report recom-

have formed into a "chain banking bank supervisory process. on our belief that they were follow-agencies — The Comptroller of the ville, it would have recognized the ing only marginally sound banking. Currency, the Federal Home Loan certainty of a severely declining States or dumping steel below cost, allows the Europeans to void parts of the agreement if some U.S. steelmakers file new trade actions.

Hounced pairs Indistaly to investigate in a $50-million project to produce and install telephone transmission and switching systems in Thailand. ITT also said that it was proposed.

suit with serious concern," said tion in Thailand to a maximum of Mrs. Krucoff. "It would seriously 400,000 sets a year from the current jeopardize the accord." Charles 160,000 annually.

In addition, the report recommended that the FDIC use eco-

"If the FDIC had factored the nation's declining economy into its regulatory posture on UAB Knoxville, it would have recognized the

The report is the second in recent weeks critical of a federal banking on its investigation into the July 1982 collapse of the Penn Square Bank of Oklahoma City, faulted examination reports and enforcement actions involving banking the staff of the Comptroller of the Currency for inadequate analysis of the bank's deteriorating situanomic forecasting as a part of its tion.

practices. Unfortunately, the Bank Board, the Federal Reserve loan portfolio and taken earlier su-

Gold Options (prices to $/02.) Pross Nov Feb. May. 9.50.11.50 10,0012,00 20,002,200 4,50 4,00 11,0012,00 2,25 3,75 5,50 7,50 1,25 2,25 2,00 4,50

regulatory agency. In October, the Treasury Department, in a report

IC Denies It Plans Takeover of Trane

said Thursday it plans to increase its holdings of Trane Co. stock but denied that it plans to take over the LaCrosse, Wisconsin, air conditioning company.

In a report filed Wednesday with the Securities and Exchange Com-mission, IC said it plans to increase its holdings of Trane common stock from its existing 24.54 per-cent but it will remain less than 50

According to the statement, IC is and residential air conditioning. interested in "the possibility of an eventual business combination" of IC and Trane. But the statement said, "IC is not now proposing a CHICAGO—IC Industries Inc.

business combination and has no present intention of making an unis holdings of Trane Co. stock but friendly tender offer to acquire

> But William G. Roth, chairman and chief executive of Trane, reacted with "strong opposition" to 1C's plan to increase its ownership of Trane's common stock, according to a statement released by Trane.

Trane develops, manufactures and sells institutional, commercial

IC Industries is a holding company that owns the Illinois Central Gulf Railroad; Pet Inc., a specialty food operation; Midas, a car-repai service specializing in mufflers. Pepsi Cola General Bottlers, which stributes the soft drink in eight midwestern states; Hussman Commercial Refrigeration, which makes refrigeration units for grocery stores; and Abex, which makes aerospace and defense-related supplies.

John Landschulz, a stock analyst in Chicago with Mesirow & Co., said he thinks the planned stock purchase is leading to a takeover. Trane, he said, is a "top notch company," and its research and development department would be a

Cellular Products Prices in U.S. dollars es as of November 17, 198

DeVoe-Holbein Int. N.V. Bid $125 - Ask $13% Bid $3 - Ask $31/2 Units)

FIRST COMMERCE

Telephone 020 - 251991 Telephone 020 - 251991

Valeurs White Weld S.A. 1, Quai du Mont-Blanc 1211 Geneva I. Switzerland Tel. 310251 · Telev. 28305

LE QUOTIDIEN SUISSE D'AUDIENCE INTERNATIONALE

documentations et abonnements: JOURNAL DE GENÈVE 12. rue de Hesse - 1211 GENÈVE 11 - Tél. (022) 28 03 50

Here's your interest rate in Denmark: High interest makes money grow fast. But normally you'll need big money to get high interest, because small 24 months' notice Danish Kroner Savings Account money only attracts low interest. That's not so at Jyske Bank, Here in Copenhagen, Denmark, money simply attracts high interest. Jyske Bank is one of Denmark's largest banks. Our assets amount to DKK 18,000,000,000. We have nationwide coverage in Denmark. And over 67,000 people in Denmark and worldwide are shareholders in Jyske Bank. Internationally, Jyake Bank owns Finanz-& Inve enthank in Zürich. vitzerland, and also has co-operating banks throughout the world Jvske Bank is a leading bank for private, international investments.

The reasons are simple:

 No minimum deposit required • Personal, friendly service from experienced, international finan-

• Your capital and interest are free from Danish taxes

Over the last quarter century, tens Please send me further information about International of thousands of customers from over Savings Accounts in Danish Kroner with Jyske Bank. 150 countries have experienced

First name

Street:

Mr./Mrs./Miss

with Jrase Bank. You, wo, can successfully save with Jyske Bank. To learn how use the success in their personal investment

Postal code/City The House of High Interest Foreign Department, Vesterbrogade 9, P.O. Box 298, Room 5109.

DK-1501 Copenhagen V, Denmark.

Madrid Milan New York Osaka Pairs Samerum reryo, representation, Rode Janeru Santiago, Sydney Tohian itayu Johannesburg Lagos Los Angeles Merico Museum Magaria Narobi, Peking Rode Janeru Santiago, Sydney Tohian itayu Geneva, Hong Kong, London Linembourg Singapore Turonio Zurich

ADVERTISEMENT INTERNATIONAL FUNDS November 17, 1983 AL-MAL MANAGEMENT CO. 5A. SOFIO GROUP GENEVA UNION BANK OF SWITZERLAND 2ANK VON ERNST & Cie AG. PB 2422 Bern —(d.) CSF Fund. SF 22.33 —(d ) CSF Fund. —(d ) Crossbow Fund. —(d ) ITF Fund N.V... BANQUE INDOSUEZ (w) Civerbond (w) FIF—Americo -(w) FIF—Europe -(w) FIF—Pocific CHARTER LIFE INS. Grand Turk B.W.I —(w) Grawin Strolegies Fd. 12.08 —(w) Veniure Strolegies Fd. 13.07 —(w) Lond Strolegies Fud. 13.07 —(w) Futures Stralegies Fd. 13.00 CAPITAL INTERNATIONAL - Iw) Coolid In 11 Fund - Iw) Coping I tolio SA | No. | Capital Hollo SA | Capit OIT INVESTMENT FFM HId 1 Concentro HId 1 Int'l Rententand DM 82.54* DM 80.23 -wi Dollar Income G.T. MANAGEMENT IUKI Ltd. -(wi Berry Pot. Fd. Ltd. -(d) G.T. Aspoil Rtk. Gwift, Fd. -(d) G.T. Aspoil Rtk. Gwift, Fd. -(d) G.T. Aspoil Rtk. Gwift, Fd. -(d) G.T. Dollar Fund. -(d) G.T. Global Techniso Fd. -(d) G.T. Honsin Pathfinder -(d) G.T. Incomstraeni Fund. -(d) G.T. Jason Small Co. Fund. -(d) G.T. Jason Small Co. Fund. -(d) G.T. Technology Fund. Daportunity Fd Overs NV PANCURRI Inc. Permal Value Fund N.V. Plefodes Putnam Ini'i Fund Pri- Tech Quantum Fund N.V. Renta Fund Rentinvest LE S 189.75 DM 1.180.99 SF 94.35 $ 1,1(8,37

Toyota Accord With FTC May Delay Ruling on GM

By Warren Brown Washington Post Service WASHINGTON —Toyota Motor Corp.'s agreement to give the U.S. Federal Trade Commission access to internal documents may delay a final FTC decision on the legality of the Japanese automak-er's venture with General Motors. Despite agreeing Wednesday to an FTC study of internal documents, Toyota has won its fight to keep sensitive data on production costs and pricing out of the hands of the U.S. government.

In the process, the automaker has turned an FTC review procedure on its head, and the result may hold up a commission ruling on Toyota's plan to build 200,000 small cars a year in California with General Motors.

The latest development, in which the government will be allowed to examine Toyota records without copying or taking actual possession of them. "plows new ground in the way we handle these cases," one FTC official said. "In fact," said the official, "we seem to be plowing one ground at every turn in this

The FTC is studying the GM-Toyota proposal for possible viola-tions of federal antitrust laws. Sucb studies normally require FTC possession of the materials it says it needs to do its work.

GM supplied all of the documents requested by the agency. Toyota did not.

Toyota's refusal — generally based upon fear that a third party would obtain information that could be used against the company —delayed the FTC's review for six months, it also threatened to scutto Reagan administration and congressional sources.

But Toyota's Washington attor-Toyota would show the FTC the information, as long as the agency country's economic performance.

il and Money

in the Eighties

coupon below.

Washington, D.C.

Chicago Board of Trade.

LIVING WITH OPEC

OPEC IN THE EIGHTIES

d'Investissements, Paris.

December 8 and 9, 1983.

Check enclosed

Surname

Position

Company

Address

City/Country

Telephone

First Nome

AN INTERNATIONAL HERALD TRIBUNE/ OIL DAILY CONFERENCE

PARK LANE HOTEL, LONDON, DECEMBER 8 AND 9, 1983

"The global impact of shifting markets" will be the theme of the fourth annual International Herold Tribune/Oil

The conference will focus this year on what coused the radical shift in the oil market in recent years and what the

DECEMBER 8

John Lichtblau, Executive Director, Petraleum Industry

Robert Mabro, Director, Oxford Institute for Energy Studies

Abdulla A. Saudi, President and Chief Executive, Arab

CORPORATE THINKING ON THE ENERGY INVESTMENT

G. Malcolm Ford, Joint Managing Director, Britoil Ple,

The porticipation fee is £475 or the equivolent in an

Please return the conference registration form to:

The International Herald Tribune, Conference Office,

181 Ave. Charles-de-Gaulle, 92521 Neuilly Cedex, France.

Park Lane Hatel, Piccadilly, London W1Y 8BX, England.

Tel. (44-1) 499 6321. Telex: 21533. Contact: Ms. Henderson. A block of rooms has been reserved for conference participants. For further information, please contact the hotel alternative currency for each participant. Fees are payable in advance, and will be returned in full for ony cancellation

Robert Anderson, Chairman, Atlantic Richfield

Corporation, Los Angeles.
François Didier, Seniar Vice President,

NORTH SEA INVESTMENT OUTLOOK

REGISTRATION INFORMATION

that is postmarked on or before November 19.

Or telephone: (33-1) 747,12.65. Telex: 612832.

CONFERENCE LOCATION

Strategic Planning, Elf Aquitaine, Poris.

Donald Hodel, United States Secretary of Energy

STRUCTURAL VERSUS CYCLICAL CHANGE IN THE OIL

Moderator: Herman Franssen, Chief Economist,

Arie de Geus, Coordinator of Plonning, Shell

ARAB BANKING'S ROLE IN OAPEC COUNTRIES'

William Finger, Coordinator of Energy Analysis,

International Petroleum Company Limited, London.

Daily conference on "Oil and Money in the Eighties."

implications of the turnaround ore for the future.

U.S. ENERGY: THE NEXT TEN YEARS

Research Foundation, New York.

International Energy Agency, Paris.

Exxon Company, Houston.

INVESTMENT STRATEGIES

Banking Corporation, Bahrain.

KEYNOTE ADDRESS

MARKET

OUTLOOK

Glasgow.

leaves that information in Toyota's

The FTC agreed, provided it wasn't required to make a decision within 20 days, as it must under normal circumstances. That means that the FTC now can take as much or as little time as it feels it needs to finish its review.

Mr. Kintner, however, said he is not worried. "We never really had any interest in that 20-day clock," he said in an interview Wednesday. "Toyota's position is that we want the FTC to approve the venture, and that we will make available the necessary information. The 20-day period is of little consequence."

Reagan administration sources said Wednesday that Toyota has been assured that the FTC will not exploit the absence of a review deadline to further delay a decision in the case.

Sosa Rejects Call On Devaluation

CARACAS — Venezuela's finance minister, Arturo Sosa, rejected Thursday a proposal to devalue the bolivar after national elections scheduled for Dec. 4, saying the government's monetary policy was not dietated by electoral consider-bank, Leopoldo Diaz Bruzual carlier proposed devaluing to between 6.5 and 10 to the dollar from 4.3.

after the Dec. 4 poll.

Mr. Sosa said foreign reserves stand at $11.3 billion, of which $5.6 billion are liquid. He beld talks tle the entire agreement, according stand at $11.3 billion, of which $5.6 Wednesday with Fruncis Mason, co-chairman of a 13-bank advisory ney, Earl W. Kinmer, last week committee on Venezuelan debt, found a way around the roadblock. and will meet the other two co-

COMPANY EARNINGS

Revenue and profits, in milions, are in local currencies unless otherwise indicated

Britain		Netherlands	Joy Mfg
Plessey  2nd Quor. 1983 Revenue	1962 236.2 18.9 0.0259 1962 451.5 37.0 0.0507	Philips Gloeil.  3rd Ouor. Revenue	Year 1783  Revenue 628.0  Net Inc. 2.9  Par Shore 0.15	198 207,1 11,5 0,5 198 1,00 83,4,2
Molson 2nd Quar, 1783	1982	United States	West German	ny
Profits 29.3 Per Shore 1.03	480.0 24.7 8.07	Compbell Soup	Hoechst
1st Holf 1983 Revenue 988.3 Protil 51.2 Per Shore 163	1982 949.1 44.5 1.42	1st Over, 1984 1987 Revenue 885.5 888.1 Net Inc. 46.67 42.67 Per Share 1.45 1.33	Revenue 27,360.	198 6.230 709,

Donald Hodel, United States Secretary of Energy, will give the keynote address. He will head a list of distinguished speakers from Europe, the United States and the Arab world.

Senior executives in energy, finance and related fields wishing to register for this conference may return the

DECEMBER 9

Yves Rovani, Vice-President, Energy, The World Bank,

Professor Arthur Mayerhoff, Independent Oil Producer

James Akins, Former U.S. Ambassador ta Saudi Arabia.

THE IMPACT OF DOWNSTREAM INVESTMENT AND PRODUCT SALES IN EUROPE BY THE PRODUCING COUNTRIES

Moderator: Nicolas G. Voûte, Oil Consultant, London

John Maliby, Chairman, The Burmoh Oil Co. Plc, London.

Charles de Bievre, Director, Banque Arabe Internationale

Please enroll the following participant for the Energy conference,

☐ Please invoice

Erwin Sputler, Managing Director, Fretoil, Paris.

CONFERENCE REGISTRATION FORM

THE ROLE OF THE WORLD BANK IN WORLD ENERGY

Robin Woodhead, Chairman, International

Petroleum Exchange, London, and Managing Director,

Premier Man Group.

Kartsen Mahlmann, Head of the Oil Committee,

Alirio Parra, Director, Petroleos de Venezuela

DEVELOPMENT IN THE EIGHTIES

THE OIL PUTURES MARKET

THE SINO-SOVIET OIL OUTLOOK

Rating Agency Puts AT&T Debt On Credit Watch

NEW YORK — Standard & Poor's said Thursday that it placed the AAA-rated senior debt of American Telephone & Telegraph Co. and its manufacturing subsidiary, Western Electric Co., on its "Credit Watch" list because of proposed federal legislation.

The rating agency said legis-lation pending before Congress could become a competitive disadvantage for AT&T by cre-ating additional costs and limiting long-distance rate reductions the company might otherwise have offered to protect its market position.

Such limitations on AT&T's ability to compete could result in an accelerated erosion of AT&T's long distance market share and jeopardize the profitability of communications op-erations that had been expected to support the AAA rating,

Western Electric's AAA rating has reflected its position as the primary supplier to the Bell System. Following divestiture Jan. 1, that relationship will cease. Western Electric's business is cyclical and its ability to succeed in competitive markets has not been shown, S&P said. Western Electric's rating is tied to AT&Ts.

FTC, GM Agree to Arbitration To Settle Car Defects Disputes ment lets the automaker off too $75,107 in fees from GM for con-

Trade Commission announced a fi-said the FTC should have pressed nal agreement Thursday with General Motors Corp. in which arbitration will be used to settle the complaints of thousands car owndefective. It was the largest auto defect case in FTC history. Carol Crawford, head the FTC's bureau of consumer affairs, said more than 200,000 people are exment plan that could cost GM nearly $100 million.

The agreement approving a con-sent order settling the charges concludes a three-year FTC proceed-ing on allegations that GM failed to notify car owners of engine, transmission and fuel-related prob-lems involving potentially 20 mil-lion cars dating back to 1974. Under the controversial settlement, proposed in April and made final Thursday, GM will be allowed to settle such complaints through a Better Business Bureau arbitration program.

The settlement comes over the strong protests of consumer groups and 29 state attorneys general. Robert Abrams, attorney gener al for New York State, has called the settlement a "sellout" to the automaker, and some consumer advocates, including two members of the commission, said the agreelegal action to force GM to make direct payments on the defects.

Mrs. Crawford acknowledged that the settlement has been critiers who claim their vehicles are cized by some consumer groups as But she said the only alternative was to press legal action against GM and that "would have lasted at least until 1990" and would have pected to take part in the settle-necessitated time-consuming lawsuits. By then, she said, "Some of the cars would have been almost 20 years old."

The proposal makes a decision by the arbitrator binding on GM. but ear owners would be free to reject it and pursue legal action. The FTC is divided on the mat-ter, with two of its five members opposing it and a third, Patricia Baley, acknowledging the ap-proach is an experiment that must be closely monitored. Commissioners David A. Clanton and Michael Pertschuk have opposed the proposal, arguing that consumers should not be placed in a position of having to prove their case on an individual basis. ■ Consulting Fees for GM

Earlier The Washingtom Post re-

WASHINGTON —The Federal easily. The consumers groups also sulting work during a two year period ending in October 1980. The payment - cited in a letter from FTC General Counsel John H. Carley to Chrysler Corp. - was 50 percent higher than the estimate made by Mr. Miller earlier this Miller's former relationship with GM has brought demands from critics that the FTC chairman not participate in cases involving the antomaker.

In his letter to Chrysler's chief lawyer, Joseph Califano, Mr. Carley wrote that there are no grounds in federal ethics laws or regulations for Mr. Miller to disqualify himself from the FTCs investigation of the proposed joint venture between GM and Toyota to build 200,000 small cars a year in California.

That venture, which is strongly opposed by Chrysler and Ford, is now being reviewed by the FTC for possible antirust violations and has been called by Mr. Miller "the largest matter we have before us

After joining the FIC a year later, Mr. Miller agreed to recuse himself from GM matters for a two-year period, which is twice as long as the bans imposed by the Civil Aeronautics Board and the Food and Drug Administration for officials in comparable situations. Mr. Carley wrote.

Day Open Int. 19,716 un 321	Aus 402.20 403.70 398.00 403.70 +1.90	composite
ondon Commodities	Cash Prices Nov. 17	NYS
Nov. 17 Figures in sterling per metric ton. losoit in U.S. dollars per metric log.	Commodity and Unit The Ase Control of 1.47 1.38 Print(s)th 4/30.38 Pz. vd 8.80 9.55	Alleg Pw Ametek s ConAgro CrwnZel 4 EmryAF
High Low Close Previous R 145.25 143.00 137.00 143.00 147.00 147.50 157.25 151.00 151.90 151.50 155.90 155.90 163.00 157.00 157.00 157.25 141.20 161.20 lots of 50 fors.	Steel scrap No 1 hvy Plft 82-83 55-56 Lead Spot, ib 25-27 214-26	FedExpres FigProgre GitUn pfB ITW Kroehier Mead Cors NJ Ress
1.655 1.530 1.533 1.535 1.551 1.553 1.553 1.554 1.553 1.554 1.554 1.554 1.554 1.554 1.554 1.554 1.554 1.554 1.554 1.554 1.554 1.555 1.554 1.555 1.554 1.555 1.554 1.555 1.556 1.556 1.556 1.556 1.556 1.556 1.556 1.556 1.556 1.556 1.556 1.556 1.556 1.556 1.556 1.556 1.556 1.557 1.558 1.557 1.558 1.557 1.558 1.557 1.558 1.557 1.555 1.558 1.557 1.558 1.557 1.555 1.558 1.557 1.558 1.557 1.555 1.558 1.557 1.558 1.557 1.558 1.557 1.558 1.557 1.558 1.557 1.558 1.588 1.558 1.588 1.558	Dividends Nov. 17	StRegisCo SegledAir TxPocLd
1,899 1,895 1,896 1,899 1,900 1,905	Compony Per Amt Pay Rec INCREASED Embart Corp 0 70 12-15 12-2 Pto Progress 0 51 12-20 12-5	Axiotac DetE 3 24p LaPwL1 of PSInd 8 38 Trebunk oc
1,019 1,013 1,010 1,912 1,905 1,909 1,875 1,857 1,851 1,851 1,852 1,864 1,846 1,816 1,977 1,798 1,800 1,800 1,800 1,800 1,905 1,755 1,755 1,768 1,372 1,753 1,751 1,713 1,714 1,715	Hedstburton Co G .45 12-22 12-11 JMS 1nd G .00 12-30 12-10 Levitz Furniture G .18 1-27 1-11 INITIAL	Leasi
•••	Ensior Co 49 12-21 12-8 Morroom Keegoon 23 1-15 12-16 Newport Corp S 84 13-16 12-1 SPECIAL	InHo
744.50 779.00 279.25 279.75 245.25 244.08 264.25 740.00 240.50 240.75 249.50 749.75 245.25 740.00 240.50 240.75 249.50 749.75 245.25 245.00 240.75 245.00 24	New Yorker Mag65 12-15 12-8   STOCK-SPLITS   Cypress Savings — 6-for-4   Drup System — 6-for-4	HON China
13 1913 91 100 10110	Drue Systems — 5-for-4 Embert Corp — 2-for-1 Knight-Ridder Newscapers — 2-for-1 STOCK Arizona Bancwest — 5 PC 12-15 11-30	Bank of joint ve Hong K
N.T. N.T. 374.00 377.00 381.00 384.00 JR 50 375.50 377.50 377.90 385.00 385.20 301.70 301.10 301.50 384.00 391.00 391.30 N.T. N.T. 384.00 387.00 397.150 387.00 N.T. N.T. 394.00 387.00 497.150 387.00 N.T. N.T. 394.00 377.00 401.40 404.30 N.T. N.T. 394.00 377.00 401.40 404.30 N.T. N.T. 384.00 405.50 410.10 411.50	Cosoblanca Indust10 P C 1-24 1-10 Plaza Com Brice5 PC 12-2 11-10 USUAL	chairma Thursda He sa
	Amuson Bencwesi 0 .11 3-23 3-9 Amuson Bencwesi 0 .20 13-20 13-20 Avnet inc 0 .12 ½ 1-3 13-2 Benone & Co 0 .16 1-13 13-2 Celli First Bonk 0 .27 1-13 13-2	lease In
MEX Highs-Lows Nov. 17	American Intil Group Anzuno Bencwesi Anzuno Bencwesi Anzuno Bencwesi Anzuno Bencwesi Anzuno Bencwesi Anzuno Bencwesi Bencwesi Bencwesi Anzuno Bencwesi Anzuno Bencwesi Anzuno Bencwesi Anzuno Bencwesi Anzuno Bencwesi Anzuno Bencwesi Bencwe	gion. Th
mil Co Crewley Mil Dypeer woll Fta Coglish Geren Inc incu GritaCom s Hanford s	Erister v (et )	cent of

ng Company Set Up ngKongby3Banks

IG KONG — The Bank of Societé Générale and the East Asia have set up a enture leasing company in Long, Jacques Mayoux, the in of Société Générale, said aid the new company, Triternational, plans to particia, Hong Kong and other is in the Asian-Pacific ree Bank of China and Socierale will each own 40 per-Trilease; the Bank of East

Paris Commodities Nov. 17

WE BELIEVE T YOUR FUTUR REORGANIZA

Our individu

According to a prepared and it

stock, but appa

Pickens acknow

royalty trust

consequences

A royalty trust shareholders of up to the maxi

the sharehold

this tax.

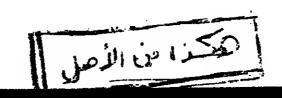

individuals.

If you have previou proxy is the one

> If your shares are re instructions. To east a WHITE proxy on If you have any ques in London, England Please call collect. C cannot get through

Note: Gulf has engaged Merra to pay Merrill Lynch an instantiabilities arising under the feet

18-11-83

GULF OIL CORPORATION WANTS ITS SHAREHOLDERS TO KNOW:

That by voting FOR your Company's proposed Reorganization you are making sure that the holders of a majority of Gulf's shares voting at a meeting will elect ALL the members of your Company's Board of Directors.

We believe that the planned Reorganization is important for your Company's future and to our goal of maximizing value for our shareholders.

A group headed by T. Boone Pickens is opposed to the Reorganization, and is using the Special Meeting of December 2 as an indirect way to gain support for its plan to create a royalty trust which, in our opinion, would be disadvantageous to Gulf and its shareholders.

We want you to know why.

Our individual shareholders would be penalized.

According to a document that the Pickens group has prepared and is distributing to select holders of Gulf stock, but apparently not to individual shareholders, Pickens acknowledges that the distribution of a royalty trust interest by Gulf would have tax consequences for Gulf's shareholders who are individuals.

A royalty trust unit, when distributed to the individual shareholders of Gulf, would be subject to income tax up to the maximum rate of 50%. Most importantly, the shareholder would receive no cash to pay this tax.

Our institutional and corporate shareholders, we believe, also should be opposed to a royalty trust.

Distributions of royalty trusts, in our opinion, have done little if anything to enhance shareholder wealth over the long term. For a large, integrated oil company, creating a royalty trust is like sailing in uncharted waters.

Stripping Gulf of its oil and gas properties would reduce its asset base and earnings potential. In addition, by channeling the profits from our properties directly to trust units, we would eliminate forever cash flow to reinvest in our business. This could impede Gulf's ability to compete against other major integrated oil companies and could result in a reduced overall value of Gulf.

WE BELIEVE THAT THE BEST WAY TO PROTECT YOUR INVESTMENT IN GULF AND MAXIMIZE YOUR FUTURE RETURNS IS TO SUPPORT YOUR BOARD'S RECOMMENDATION. VOTE FOR THE REORGANIZATION PROPOSAL BY SIGNING AND DATING THE WHITE PROXY CARD TODAY.

If you have previously signed a Blue opposition proxy, you have every right to change your mind. Remember the latest dated proxy is the one that counts.

If your shares are registered in "street-name" with your brokerage firm or bank, only they may vote your shares, and only upon receipt of your specific instructions. To ensure that your shares will be voted, at your earliest convenience please instruct the party responsible for your account to execute a WHITE proxy on your behalf.

If you have any questions or need assistance in voting your shares, you are encouraged to call Georgeson & Co. Inc. at (212) 440-9800 in New York, or in London, England at 636-2361, or D. F. King & Co., Inc. at (212) 269-5550 in New York, (312) 236-5881 in Chicago, or (415) 788-1119 in San Francisco. Please call collect. Gulf has also established the following toll-free numbers: 1-800-255-4853, and for Pennsylvania residents only 1-800-222-2152. If you cannot get through on the toll-free lines, we encourage you to call collect on the Georgeson & Co. Inc. and D. F. King & Co., Inc. telephone numbers.

Note: Gulf has engaged Merrill Lynch Capital Markets of Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith Incorporated to act as special financial advisor to Gulf, including assistance in the solicitation of proxies. Gulf has agreed to pay Merrill Lynch an initial fee of $50,000 and an additional fee of $150,000 per month. Merrill Lynch will be reimbursed for its out-of-pocket expenses and will be indemnified against certain liabilities, including

Would mean, legos, Los Angeles, Mexico, Musicov, Nagoya, Nariobi, Paceir, mulue-le Johannesburg, Legos, Los Angeles, Mexico, Musicov, Nagobre, Taronia, Zurich Genera, Hong Kong, London, Livrembourg, Singapore, Taronia, Zurich

2 Moi ligh l		Stock	DIV.	Y M	PE	535. 100s	Hìgh	LOW	Clear Qual. C	h'ge
Α _
22%	846	AAV	37	2.1	11	5	15%	15%	15% -	F lia
4% 6\%	73-	AIC Ph				21e	23/8 14/8	370	7-6-	1
1214	214	AcmePr			8	- '5	61/0	6	6 -	- 1/4
1915	117%	AcmU s	.37	20	17	6	1574 1234	1574	15% -
14% 12	34		7.007	145	33	119 31	1246	1179	12 - ok:	11/2	Acin wi	7,007	-	94	90	24	212	2 a -	- "4
4.	144	AdmRs				17	3/2	234	34.	٠.
38% 28%	17% 14%	AdRusi s	.18 .24	12	15 13	16 79	237e 19V2	19	23 Ve 1
51/a	2	AegisCo	.24		13	66	4	376	3	-
7 33%	.1.	Аегопса	٠,	1.6	.7	36 3	425 223	4 <sup>3</sup> 4 22 <sup>3</sup> 6	476-	- ta - VA
45	1470	AfilHsp AfilPbs	.76 .64	12	10 15	82	40	300	22-8-	ź
171/2	41/2	AITSI4	~~		ĕ	57	114	1114	113.	- 4-
1514	54	AirEva				128	470	634 474	47	- 34
23%	ř.	AlbaW	.756	- 1.6	ΙĞ	ទី	424	1476	1/34
17/4	3	AInTIS		•		4	474	42	436 - 124 -	- 40
1234 1042	54	AlphuA		14		14	1214	124	674	- :1
201/	1614	Alphoin	.05	ď	26	Z19	20Au	16. dl	64a	٠,
22% 186	11	Altecv	.40	1.0	14	zê	221.4	2210	22w -	- 13
274	17	Alle				49	134	134	134	-
y K	2017	Alcog at	3.15	11.4		23 300z	21.74	32V:	33	+1
201/2 201/2	14	AlzaCa		11.2		280	17%	16/2	17'	4
2974 25%	13h	Ameda s	.20	1.5	20	54.9	1976	1435	18v.	, 'i
70	ì	ABIIIn	.08	29	10 14	25	524	5 Va 3 Va	5	- 74
5	2	Amcon				44	3144	3/4	314
4434 1517	30	AEYPWI			2	#	247	243	2476 -
1934	10	ASCMA	.52 52	3.0	5è	5	17IA	111/-	17V:~	- 14
1816 1915	10-1 2-1	AMZe8	-52	21	54	208	1440 244	1639	24
20/2	24		25	.7	13	400	34	3734	24
2012 604	47'4	AmPett	320 320	.7 5.8	13	60	55/2	5514	55'4-	- 3
64s 2035	117	APION APrec	.28	1.7	14	134	7	746	748	- W
9	44	AmRIN			14		04	6 lie 5%	44
1234 1134	344					24 119	ć~		57% - 8Va -	- 13
634	27)	Ampai n	13	36	3	372	347	34	340
2Ve	-4	Amqsi		-	_	76 87	474	*	476	- 4
61/2 26-74	2V:	Andal AndJcb	.63	44	12 13	82	91-	634	912	Ý
74-14	10%	Andrea	72	40	15	9	124	12	10
7/4 29/a	74		,031	.1	90	473 20	24- 26Va	28Vs	2012 - 2816 -	- 13
37-4	1774	s ApiDto s	,		2° 28	•	3076	304- 574	30
7% 17%	414	ArgoP1				13	57% 1114	5% 11%	301	_ v
137n		AVOID	.20	1.0	12	۱3	1134	1136	11345 -	- 4
10-16	ō	Arundi			6	15 25	1176	111/2	1176 -	- 34
149h 13%	34	Astre #	. 15	1.5	165	25	18 10%	9% 10	9% -	- 5
44	14	AstroDr				117	136	146 274 546	176
412	2	AlisCAR Atias wi				247	214 536	24	21/2-	- 10

REAL ESTATE REAL ESTATE FOR SALE

FOR SALE USA RESIDENTIAL USA RESIDENTIAL DARIEN, CONNECTICUT. Executive -type homes, for rent + sale, Pleasant New York, City suburb, French spo-ken. Nationwide connections. Write or telephone TIBBETTS REAL ESTATE, 37 Corbin Drive. 1et; 203-655-7724 TURN-OF-THE-CENTURY This elegant Victorian home has re-tained its architectural intergrity throughout. It houses on invaring 25 ft, vertando, original woodwork & infaid ook floors. The himing & diring rooms are generously proportioned with French doors & original silver & bronze sconces. Master bedroom sute with hi-brary + 6 femily bedrooms. Separate guest quarters & beautiful pool area. One hour to 117C ... $575,000. SAN MARINO CALIFORNIA: Down-town Los Angeles residented Oosis, fine schools, Spanish style, 3500 sq.fr. 4 bedrooms, 3 boths, 3 receptions. Breakfast room, ar conditioning. Con-tool: D. Van Den Berg. (203) 869-1256. UNIQUE MAISONETTE - PARK AVE.

11/C. 2000 sq. ft. Jewel, low 60's, complete privacy, separate entry,
never see neighbors or staff,
$1.00.000, Box 10024, Heradd Tribune. 92521 Neuth Cedex, France DANIEL GALE 516/427-6600 187 Park Are., Huntengton, NY 11743 LA JOLLA, CAUF. Spectraction 1 some flat piece of land on bluff above coson. A vec of multimation deflor es-trates. Rare for $750,000. Ain Corp. P.O. Bon 2505, La Jolla, CA 92038. Let 619-452-7703. PALM BEACH

Florida's most spectracular aportment in the Billmore. 3 bedrooms plus den. 3 boths, decorator-designed fusurional furnishings, swinning pool, beach dub, morina, terins cours, many extras. BRCH BAY, WASHINGTON State, condominium, 3 bedrooms, 1½ boths, furnished, Deck with a boy view, 50 mmutes Vancouver BC, Price $75,000 or near offer. Tel: Uxbridge 37536. Eva Beutrenmueber, Braker-Sciesm Elvia Kirman G.R.L. Realtor 705 Worth Ave., Palm Beoch, R. 33460 (305)833-9400, Hame (305)832-5042

(20) SEGS-9400, Home (30) SEGS-9402

FLORIDA, FORT LAUDERDALE, for sole 3-bedroom, 2/9 bedroom luruncus perinhouse apartment on cocon front, shooted in the pressorous Golf Ocean Brive, intral area 210 sam, lounge 25ff; sy 19ff with a commanding view of both ocean 8 cay, Balcony, fully listed latcher, with all oppiances including indige, cooler, washing machine, hamble direr, dishwasher, etc. 5de to include all furniture, carpet, drapes, pictures, liners, cookery, carlier, etc. Price $250,000.

Control Mr. G Burke, London 01:539
3611 (day) 01:340 4125 (evenings).

GRAND OLD PARK AVE. General COU PAIRS AVE.

Morsion size rooms, period decor. 2
Moster sudes, siti-hung drowing roomfireplace, mirrored diming, family room, pameled fover. 12 dosets. Period move-on condition. 50°5 000. Please coll./1. A.J. Goeff. 212-438-8700:477. 5331 WILLIAM B. MALLING

SOUTHWESTERN
NEW HAMPSHIRE
No State Income Or Sales Tax
Country & Village Properties, History Capes. Colonials and Retrement Homes from 5 50,000)
The Mainter. ERALTORS
Box 95-H, Gilsum, N.H. 03448
Telephone 603-352-4773 U.S.A.

SEST NYC CO-OP
targe spaceus I bedroom apartment in East 70 s. Patriot r. view in lovely doorman building. Scaratio driving orea. Secretary condition. $200,000.
Piecus colCorinne Word 212-688-9700/534-4318
WILLIAM B. MAY CO. MIAMI, FLORIDA, New 3-bedroom

19576,900 Austria (0222) 326182

EXCEPTIONAL VALUE
IN WESTEND LONDON
Beauthfully appointed aportments ideally structed in Westerd London, One 8.2 bedroom elegantly furnished suites, littleheneties, calcur IV, telephone, daily mad service. Rentals for 1 week or more. Special rates now in effect from E. 273 per week. Reservations or information phone 01.935-9191 or write Chancevell, 5r. Christopher's House. 15/20 St. Christopher's Place London WIM 540 PALM BEACH, FLORIDA- fuzzry appartment, accord front & garden, 2 bedrooms, $325,000 New furnish available, Call USA 213-988-0570. RELOCATE GREENWICH, CT., R.F. Brooks, 71 Arch St., Greenwich, Ct., 06830, USA TEL 203 661 9030 MARYLAND/DC. ESTATE / 3 tores, pool. $295,000. Munich 336360. USA COMMERCIAL & ENDUSTRIAL

CENTRAL LONDON - Executive service operiments in new buildings, comfortably furnished and fully equipped. Doily mad service (Mon. through Fr.) Color TV. Phone for brochure (91) 381 342 or with Presidential States (Monfort Led., 1 University St., London WC1E dJE. CINCININATI, OHIO LONDON. We own a range of fully serviced and luxunously furnished 1 bedroom apartments in central Lon-don. Available for long / short lets. Tel. London 402 1338 or 734 1403. 1elen: 269521 VSWAMY G. CINCINNATI OPIC

Contact Mr. G Burke, London 01-339
3611 (day) 01-340 4125 (evenings).

ARCHITECTURAL GEM
Lusury indigents, freest ordinanching 6 singue design create totally built-in-environment in this Sutrian area lusury received in this Sutrian area lusury bedroom co-op. 2:4 boths. Superviews, terrace, $850,000 8 page layous in tribener Design! Am. Jackson 212-688-8700 + s/94-889. C

WILLIAM B. MAY CO. LONDON BAKER ST. Self corering foolday flots. Fully equipped, color TV, linen, Leeps La persone. Self-contained from ESF-week. Crawford Holiday Rists. 33 Crawford St, London W1. Tel: 01-402 old-5. MONTPELLER WALK, SW7. House in good central location, close to Hor-rods, 3 bed good reception, 3 boths, latchen, garage, long let £3.50 per recel. Fet. O'r Ewing Assoc, Landon 581 8025. SECAUCUS, NEW JERSEY 37.59

ocras of printe inclusinal vacant land in the heart of the ICC Free Zone adjacent to the Hertz Mounton Industrial Development, Principals only! 520,000,000 net to seller, Write Bas 814. Herald Tribune, 9251 Neurly Codes, France. Or Phone (212) 371-9146. 301 8025.

Sign a PARTNERS - FOR QUALITY furnished properties. A personal and efficient service. IDS St. John's Wood Terrose, London NW8 6PL England. Tel 01-586 7561. Tis 883168 ACCG OLAS.

CALIFORNIA: INDUSTRIAL building for sole: $450,000 cosh - leasehold by major American industrial corporation. 9% return with how inspease every tive years of up to 20%. Write: IPC. 20423 Commond Street, Suite: 112, Appara Hills, CA 91301. Tel: (213) 707 1558. Tx. IPC 804794. ter of 435 4881.

LONDON WS, SUPERS SLEGANT 4 bedroom , Avery furnished operment, ES000 per week. Another 3 bedroom with garden E225. Call the specialist, FMS, 01-402 5642 (LIK).

VIRGIN ISLANDS T. CROIX, V.I.-BJZA'S Retreat Ornshansted orea, Prime residential for, Reply: P.O. Box 2351, Elizabeth, N.J. 07207 USA

REAL ESTATE TIME SHARING MEXICO OCEANFRONT, 3-bedroom luxury aportment, Cancun. 2rd-4th Sanday, December, selling for USS12,00. Tel-USA 313 677-6268 or 8 or 317, Nerold Tribune, 92521 Neut-ly Cedex, France

REAL ESTATE

TO RENT/SHARE

GREAT BRITAIN

POR FURNISHED LETTINGS in S.W. London, Surrey & Berkshire, Contact: MAYS, Outhor 1037 284 3811 UK. Telex 8955112

JOHN BIRCH has 20 years expenence in Rentals. Long or short tenuncies, Central & suburban London & Aber-deen, Birch & Co. 01-499-8802.

HOLLAND

DELLIXE FURNISHED appriment in 5-Sion Amsterdom Sonesto. Hotel with full hotel service of attractive martisty rates. For information 8 reservation. Call: 31-20.21 72 23 or teles. 17149

PETER BRUEN MAKELAAIDU Inti'l Housing Service For rest houses and opartments. AMSTERDAM, Tel: 020-768022.

DUTCH HOUSING CENTRE B.V. De-luce rentals, Valerusstr. 174, Amster-ctom, 020-721234 or 723222.

MONACO

MONTE CARLO

Unique: Sumptuous apartment in 1st class building Pool, air conditioned. 250 sq.m. Living space & terraces. For all information:

AGENCE LE ZODIAQUE

PARIS AREA FURNISHED

EMBASSY SERVICE

8 Ave. de Messine, 75008 Pors Telex Fo41 786

Your Real Estate Agent

IN PARIS 562 78 99

74 CHAMPS-ELYSEES 8th

in the heart of business district Studio, 2 or 3-room apartment 1 month or more. Maintenance, teles, reception facilities. LE CLAREGE TEL: 359 67 97.

CONCORDE - CHAMPS ELYSSES.
Charming well-furnished apartment near Faubourg St Honore. Quiet & surny. Lung room literary. Gring room, beforom 6 instruer. For 6 months from Dec 1st. F6901 per month. Reterences required. Tel: before 10 am or other 6 pm 265 10 25 or 8ox 818, Herickli Tribune. 92571 Nevilly Cedex, France

VIEW CHICHAMPS

Sumptuous reception, 2-3 bedracoms, 2 baths, EMBASSY: 563 68 38

NEW 15th PARC DES EXPOSITIONS Studios, 3 & 3 rooms, Fully equipped larchen. One day, one week, one month or more. Centoct, FLATOTE, ref. RT13, 46-52 rue d'Oradour-sur-Glons, Paris 15th, Tel. 554 97 56.

Place des Moules aste Carlo, Tel: (93) 50 53 02

REAL ESTATE

TO RENT/SHARE

CARTRREAN

250 YEAR OLD FIANTATION house lor lease, with guest house, 8 separate bungolows. Surrounded by 6 care londscaped gorden, Sugar mill in re-conversion state for regintub. Con-tact Southern Realty, P. O. Box 420, 9: Mounten, Netherland Antilles.

FRENCH PROVINCES

FERMETTE ANCIENNE" completely renovoted, lots of charm, 5 bedrooms. All comforts. Enclosed garden, 1 hour Paris. Euro et Loir tel (37) 43 46 72.

GREAT BRITAIN

FURNISHED HOMES LONDON. We have the finest selection ranging from 280-2400+ per week. Consult the specialists, Benham & Roeves Lettings. Tel: 01-435-9681.

LCINDON for quality furnished apartments & houses to rent from 6 months to several years. Anscombe & Ringland: Landon 722 7101 Thu. 297660

COSHAM, SURREY, UK. Close American School, 5 bedroom house on private estate, parity furnished, available Dec. (1224) 867246 UK.

LONDON, For the best furnished flats and houses. Consult the Specialistic Phillips, Kay and Lewis, Tel. London 839 2245, Teles. 27846 RESIDE G.

REAL ESTATE TO RENT/SHARE

PARIS AREA FURNISHED

URGENT: 16th lovely 1-bedroom opartment, living 8 dining, 80 sq.m., convenient for couple or executive budhelor, Most reasonable tent, Call 525 29 95 (9-17-am), principuls only.

CHAMPS ELYSES: Very high class studio, sun. A3 comforts. Concierge. 11 rue de Berri, Paris Bith. 562 93 32

SHORT TERM in Lehn Quarter, No ogens, Tel: 329 36 83.

SMAIL STUDIO ON GARDEN F1600.
SMAIL STUDIO ON GARDEN F1600.
SMAIZ STUDIO ON GARDEN F1600.
SMARAIS: LIDURIOUS 3 ROOMS, surmy, quest. F6500. Owner 887 08 18
ST GERMAIN EN LAYE high class 90 sq.m. new, quiet, gorden. 451 20 10.

PARIS AREA UNFURNISHED

USA

INTERNATIONAL CLASSIFIED (Continued From Back Page)

REAL ESTATE WANTED/EXCHANGE WANTED- APARTMENT in Paris fur-nished to rest or exchange for opart-ment in Portsmouth, NJH 12:24 . 1/21. Cor available. D. Smort, 98 Court, Portsmouth, NJH 03801 USA, Coll collect : 603-431-4271, RENT FREE HOUDAYS. Hundreds of fine homes for exchange in 25 coun-ties. Worldwide Home Exchange, 13% Sloone St. Landon SW1.

MONTREAL / PARTS OR BRUSSELS, 3-badroom colloge for exchange or lease, Jon. to Dec. 84. J. O'Shea, 650 Wiseman. Outremore. Quebec. VISUA SPANESH SUNCOAST in ex-change for opartment or house in or near Paris from January through March '84. Tel-Maloga 952-513161 AMERICAN COUPLE SEEKS studio Paris, F2000 maximum of least until July '84, Tel: 522 31 97 Paris.

PARIS - 20KMS SCUTTH, confortable executive home, 6 bedrooms, 2 boths. Calicr. 3-ccr garage, 1000 sp.m. gar-den. F7000 / morath. Sole possible. Tel: (06) 948 60 98 after 6pm. RESTAURANTS NIGHT CLUBS VALICRESSON, Vila, 7 rooms, fuzur-ously decorated garage, park with lag trees, F1200, 741-9893 LE DAUPHIN SPAIN

COSTA DEL SOL - ALMENECAE.
Beoutiful hilitop vido, pool, geroga.
Tel: 523523 Genevo Switzerland.

Tel: 548 21 30.

LE MONT BLANC Business medic, funches, diamers, a la conte or menu 169, service inducted. Oysters, "Fondues Savoyardes", Every day until 11 g.m., except Sundays, 2, roe Casimir Perner, Paris, Tel 551 5840 TRUMP TOWER NEW YORK CITY LIXURY CONDO FOR LEASE Large, one bedroom specialists were or Central Park, 40th from humshed or unfurnshed. Two year missimal lease. Security depost is both references required. Call Attorney for trust. C. Frederick Best 80, 9 to 5 Eastern Standard Time; (4)7 252-1051 or send your relax to 940536 Boston telex resinible 160, bests also conducted on first right of refusal for lease renewed or purchase. THE CALAYADOS. Looks forward to welcoming you of 40 Avenue Pierre for de Serbie, Paris 8th - near the Hook Georgias V. Tel 720 21 16 or 720 31 39.

DIECUTIVE HOME 45 mm. from LA, J miles from beach, 6 bedroom, 2 both, soo, borbeque, etc. Gaber Kno-per, Esq. 4100 McCarthur Bled, Newport Beach, CA 72660 USA. Tel-(714) 760-9300. EMPLOYMENT EXECUTIVES AVAILABLE MULTIUNGUAL U.S. ATTORNEY, 26, seels int'l lov-related position. N.Y. Icanae, real estate & government experience, U.S. & European educa-tion. Ambinous, creative & actualiste. Box 311, Herald Tribute, 92521 Neud-ly Cedex, France CVER 2000 LISTINGS of opertments, condox & homes, Low transment security deposat. Write for broduce, rend rates: Ray Gold, 62/8, 256 South Robertson Blvd., Beverly Hills, Colif. 90211 USA. AMERICAN, 30, HARYARD Grad-use, quadrilingual, mernohanal bus-ness expensence, French work pernet, seeks challenging position in Peris, Box 801, Hendel Tribune, 92521 Neual-ly Cedex, France

BEVERLY MILLS learny condo. 2 bed-room, 2 beths, pool & maid. 3-week meremum. $600 day. Oswald. 8568 Burton Way ≃105 LA. CA 90048. REAL ESTATE WANTED/EXCHANGE AMERICAN WISHES to purchase Z or 3 bedroom apparature in older bldg, in 6, 7, 8, 16 errordssenert, Maros or 8 St. Lous. Will be in Para mid December to view. Send full information reducing price 8 photos are circumstat to 518, 1700 E. Oursey Ave., Englewood. CO. 80110, U.S.A. URGENT. US EXECUTIVE seeks 5-month quality furnished Paris rental. Prefer 7th or 6th. One or two bed-rooms, Tex chysme, Paris 261 18 22.

GENERAL POSITIONS AVAILABLE BRIGHT, ENERGETIC, AMERITOUS researcher needed for Para office of international magazine. Excellent English, Rivert French and German required: Soundational language desirable. Must have solid education, kively intelligence and ciricasty, excellent inovitedge of Europe, some expenence in purnatism or publishing. Work permit or EEC nationality only. Write to Box 705, Herald Tribune. 92521 Neufly Carles, France.

EMPLOYMENT EMPLOYMENT

GENERAL POSITIONS AVAILABLE DOMESTIC POSITIONS WANTED CHIDRENS NURSE AGED 33. Highly experienced in private homes. True now. Fry Consolitants, 7 High St., Al-dershot, Hones, UK. Tel. 0252 315369. CREDIT OFFICER Required by French subaidary of major North American Bank to aid as intenspersed in the casessment of new loan proposals and supervision of assisting international loan particula.
Condidates should have at least two years experience in credit analyse and as acquainted with Eurocurrency leading and documenteaan. Fluent English and a working Ingovered with age and experience.
Solary commensurate with age
and experience.
Please address Caricalum vitae with shoto to Mr. MAHA. Halford
The Royal Bank of Canado (France) S.A.
3 rus Sonbe
75440 Paris Cedex 07 - France BNGUSH NANUES & Mothers' Helps free now. Nash Agency, 53 Church Road, Howe, UK, Tel: (02/3) 2904/5 AUTOMOBILES LUKAS HUNI AG

Specialized in new and used luxury automobiles coordibuit conversions and amor-protection RR Phontom VI RR Corniche Dropheod RR Salver Cloud II Ferron Montiol 8 Nercodes 600 Pullmon Mercodes 500 SEC Porsche Turbo AMERICAN COMPANY SESS indi-vidual 25 - 40 years, English mother tongue, fluent French and Gersson, good presentation, extensive travel, must be willing to work hard. Send resume to Box 708. Herald Tobuno, 92521 Neutly Cedes, France

SIG SWITZERLAND - 17 days sking only US$100. Must be 21 and good parallel skier. For more information write, Village Comps, 1296-B Coppet, Switzerland. For full specification please contact us at: Lindenstrosse 26 CH-8008 Zurich Tel: 252 77 70, Th: 815102 74 ROLLS ROYCE CORNECHE Convertible. Left hand drive. Atherican blue. Matching blue top. Tan leather interior. Cirily 72,000 criginal fun. New Ires. Landswood floormats. Absolutely immocalate in and cut. Belgium let. 02,521,2039. GENERAL POSITIONS WANTED

ARCHITECTURAL DESIGNER seeks commissions from pop-groups, od ogendes, film trakers, theatre and dasas. Challenges welcome. Phone Landon 01-221 7255. AUTO SHIPPING SECRETARIAL POSITIONS AVAILABLE

HOW TO IMPORT A SUROPEAM CAR INTO THE U.S.A.
This detailed document, initially written for Amenican our dealers, explains step-by-step what one must do to bring a car into the U.S. It includes DOT? PPA conversion addresses, custom dearrance & singuing procedures as well as legal tips. You on some up to USS1, 3000 when buying a Mercedee or BMW in Europe & supporting it to the Stones. To receive this manual, send USS18,50 [add USS1.50 for postage], or equivalent currency for P. Schmadt, Postfach 3131 7000 Switger 1, West Germany MINERVE SEEKS for AMERICAN FIRMS in PARIS.
English, Belgan, Dutch or German secretories, knowledge of French required, English shorthand. Bilingual televists. Write or phone: 138 Avenue Victor Huga, 75116 Paris, France, Tel. 727 61 69.

Don't miss INTERNATIONAL SECRETARIAL POSITIONS TUESDAYS in the UST Classified Section. DOMESTIC

SCOPE have available Nannes, Nurse, Houselgepers, Butlers, Grauf-taurs, au Parrs for all Europeen Coun-rea. 116 Brompton Road, London Sw3 1,11, Tel. 01-387-3978 · Vanessa Banaraft.

POSITIONS AVAILABLE

TRANSCO AU PAIR-LIVE IN. Fother and 9 year old son need assistance with house-tenging and cooking. Our small horse form is located 30 minutes from Son Françaco Abstry to drive necessary. English specialing, References essential. Forms for multiral discussion. Send resume and photograph to Robert D. Stratinore, P.O. Box 348, Walnut Creek, Cold. 94596 USA. TAX FREE CARS We keep a constant stack of mane than one hundred brand new cars, compatitively priced.

Send for free conticious & stock les. Transco SA, 95 Noordescon, 2000 Artiverp, Belgisten Tel 03/542 62 40 (10 Free), Tix, 3520 TRANS B.

FRANKFURT/MAIN-W, Germany, H Isermann Gmbhl, Tel. (611-44807) Fick-up of over Europe *ro/ro-ships.

TRANSCAR 20 rue Le Sueur, 75116 Paris. Tel: 500 03 04. Nice: 83 95 33 Antwerp:233 99 85. Connes 39 43 44

AUTOS TAX FREE

Get the big picture on Economic

LEGAL SERVICES:

U.S. IMMIGRATION LAW Fighters of conscious to be transferred to a U.S. Franch o stilled professional offering captor ment in the U.S. o student entering a US unwesty intending to established business in U.S.

Sand resume to Low Offices of Staglor J. Gross, 2049 Century Rock Soit, Sills 1200, Los Angelos, Co 90067 USA Tel-ex 677109 Burx-LSA

SERVICES.

YOUNG LADY

PARIS

562 05 87

NEW YORK

U.S.A. Tourist Guides, Travel Companions. All Nationalities Credit Cards Accepted Tel: 212765-7896 or 212765-7754.

PARIS PR

BILINGUAL YOUNG LADY

PARIS: 520 97 95

PAT'S PR & TOURIST GUIDE to call you Puris & girparts, 527 90 95.

Geneva Travel Companion Multilingual. Tel. 295 395.

PARIS 563 62 62 - POR A V.LP. P.R. Multilingual young lady, your all travel companion.

HONG KONG / KOWLOON, Tel (4) 7243301 looky interpreter

LADY INTERPRETER travel composion Tel: Paris 633 68 09

PARIS BILDACETAL ASSISTANT to business executive, 500 58 17 fors

YOUNG LADY, linguist, chart will travel London 747 3304.

LADY COMPANION 01-971 4879 London/Hastrow/troveling

MUNICHLADY, PR, troval comps ion. Tel: 66 94 69.

TOKYO LADY COMPANION R 1 personal assistant, 03-454-6652.

YOUNG LADDY, Interpreter, Paris 633-2464

PAGES 20 & 19

FOR MORE

CLASSIFIEDS

AUTOS TAX FREE ROLLS-ROYCE BENTLEY BRITISH MOTORS WRIGHT BROTHERS MONTE CARLO
Principality of Memoco
Tel: (93) 50 64 84
Taleo: 469475 MC
Ricial Direct Factory Declar
Can Supply Wardstride
Established since 1925

TAX FREE CARS P.C.T. EXPORT INTERNATIONAL LTD Largest Showroom & Investory Free policip of the cirport From stock 500 SE, 300 SEC, Ferror GTS, R.R. Sheer Spirit, Joguer XJ6 (zericon 1, 2000 Antwerp, Belgium Tel, 602/ 231 37 00 (10 fines) Telesc 35546 PHCAET B

TAX FREE CARS Rolls-Royce, Bensley, Moserotis, de Tontone, Joguer, Rover, Ronge Rover world write clainvertes Heaming's: Autobackfiven B.V.
P.O. Bax 45, 2730 AA de 58t
Tel 31.30.762811, Tx 47750 heam

Mercedes, Range Rover Buy for less in Europe from the leading UK company for all makes of cars & specialist convenions. Contact Symbol, 6679 Park Lune, London. Tal. 497 8845, Telesc 8813663. EXPERIENCED CAR TRADERS for Mercedes, BMW, Porscha, offer full service import / export US DOT & SPA for tourist & dealer. Observede Motors, Terstengenstr. 8, 4 Duessel-dorf, W. Germany, Tee, [0] 211 -434546, Telenc 8587374, BURDPORT TAX FREE CARS All traites. Call for free catalog. Box 12011, Rotterdom Airport, Holland. Tel: 010-823077. The 25071 SPCAR NL. HONG KONG / KOWLOOM Tel St 724 11 87 four assistant. BO'S INIT's, YOUR SPECIALIST in Mercades, BMW, Porsche, Ferrori. Honding U.S. export. Keesrie 6, 2000 Aniwers, Tec 725'0 B. Tel: 32 / 3 / 233 99 54. Tec 72950 BOSS. INT'L PR / BUSINESS Assets. Call Paris 828 79 32.

LEGAL SERVICES U.S. LAWYER - concurrer liverificity.

TION, FRANK T. HOLLAND, 6009
Richmond Ave., Suite 203, Housdon, 1 caus 77057, Tel. (713) 789-0904, No. Robert certified, 1 cause of the concurrence of the concurren

Herald Tribune

The newspaper that put the class in classified advertising

We will fi and action

"We've got

A Gui a s 13 quest column in Trecords of financial oils" - any would hope

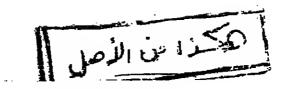

We believe shares net profits from a port

A recent guest or Times cointed out that reserves, which on the profitable, are burie along with many io less, parts." The Ne 13. 1983 •

Another guest co stated that "since the owners for whom works, it is question rent corporate stru greatest advantage proposed plan mai sense.55 (The New Yor

Royalty trusts of Gulf to companies t companies includes the the Gulf Investors Georg

ه حكذا من الأصل

GULF INVESTORS GROUP

Dear Fellow Gulf Shareholder:

The Gulf Investors Group is convinced that Gulf stock is greatly undervalued. We are dedicated to the goal of enhancing shareholder value and oppose any action that is contrary to that goal. For that reason, we are asking you to help defeat Gulf management's reincorporation proposal at the December 2 shareholders meeting. This proposal would eliminate important shareholder rights and stifle shareholder input.

In response to our legitimate opposition as shareholders to the reincorporation proposal, Gulf management has launched a vicious attack on the Gulf Investors Group and on me. In a recent interview, Harold Hammer, Gulf's executive vice-president, was quoted as saving:

"We've got to roll up our sleeves and kick him where it really smarts." (The New York Times, November 6, 1983)*

In addition. Gulf's chief executive officer recently said:

"We will fight anyone who criticizes management's motives and actions." (Pittsburgh Post Gazette, November 10, 1983)*

At Gulf, it seems that any idea that doesn't come from management will automatically be opposed. Based on Gulf's record—described in a November 13 guest column in The New York Times* as "one of the most lackluster records of financial and operating performance of the major integrated oils"—one would hope Gulf management would welcome new ideas.

WE'RE IN THIS TOGETHER

Gulf management has questioned our objectives and has attempted to persuade you that our interests are contrary to yours.

Do not be misled: Our sole objective is to participate in the enhancement of the value of Gulf stock on an equal basis with all Gulf shareholders. We will not sell one share of our Gulf stock back to Gulf unless all shareholders have the same opportunity.

Before we began our purchases, the price of Gulf stock was in the mid-30s. Gulf stock now trades at about $44. Ask yourself what Gulf stock will sell for if we do not defeat management's reincorporation proposal.

Remember:

Our Gain is Your Gain. Our Loss is Your Loss.

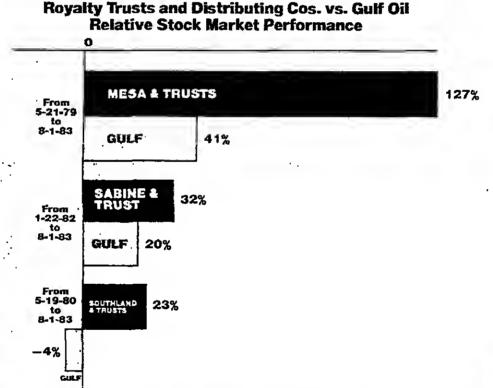

According to management's proxy materials, Gulf directors and officers as a group own only 324,693 shares. The Gulf Investors Group owns 17,932,700 shares—an investment of nearly $800 million—purchased at an average cost of about $44 per share. Ask yourself which group is more interested in maximizing the value of Gulf stock.

A GULF ROYALTY TRUST

We believe shareholder value would be increased by the creation of a royalty trust. A Gulf royalty trust would provide shareholders, in addition to their Gulf shares, with publicly traded securities entitling them to a direct interest in the net profits from a portion of Gulf's oil and gas properties.

A recent guest column in The New York Times pointed out that Gulf's "rich oil and gas reserves, which on their own could be highly profitable, are buried in a corporate body along with many low-value, even worth-less, parts." (The New York Times, November 13, 1983)*

Another guest column on the same date stated that "since the shareholders are the owners for whom (Gulf) management works, it is questionable whether the current corporate structure works to their greatest advantage. Thus, Mr. Pickens's proposed plan makes good investment sense." (The New York Times, November 13, 1983)*

% Increase (Decrease) in Market Value

Even after creating a royalty trust covering 50% of Gulf's U.S. reserves. we believe Gulf would remain a very substantial major integrated oil company with sufficient cash flow to conduct an aggressive exploration program and carry out its other corporate objectives. Gulf would also continue to control the use of the oil and gas produced from the properties subject to the trust.

Gulf management opposes creation of a royalty trust because certain shareholders would have to pay taxes on the distribution of the trust interests and the distribution would not be accompanied by cash with which to pay taxes. Although there can be no assurance, we believe the enhancement in the value of the shareholder's investment which could be achieved by a trust would substantially exceed the related tax liability.

Personally, i'd rather make some money and pay some taxes than not make money at all.

Royalty trusts have a strong record of enhancing shareholder value over the near and longer term. The above chart compares the stock market performance of Gulf to companies that have distributed 25% or more of their U.S. oil and gas reserves in the form of royalty trusts. Stock market performance of the distributing companies includes the price of the distributed trusts and is measured from a date one month prior to announcement of each trust to August 1, 1983 (shortly before the Gulf Investors Group began its purchases of Gulf stock).

Vote AGAINST management's reincorporation proposal

 Don't give up the right of a 10% shareholder to propose a charter amendment and cause it to be voted on by all shareholders.

- 47

- Don't give up the right of a 20% shareholder to call a special meeting of shareholders.
- Don't give up the right of all shareholders to cumulative voting in the election of directors.

IMPORTANT: Through the reincorporation proposal, Gulf management is trying to insulate itself from shareholders' ideas such as a royalty trust. If we don't defeat management's reincorporation proposal, you may never even get the opportunity to vote on the royalty trust issue.

You don't have to decide whether you are FOR or AGAINST a royalty trust at this time. The most important thing for you to decide is whether you want to preserve your right to have shareholder ideas such as a royalty trust come before you at some future time.

Thank you.

On behalf of the Gulf Investors Group

T. Boone Pickens, Jr.

Sign, date and return the BLUE proxy card TODAY. Even if you have already returned a management proxy, your later dated BLUE proxy will be the only one that counts. If your shares are held at a bank or brokerage firm, and you are concerned that your vote may not reach the Gulf Investors Group in time, please call our proxy solicitor:

Toll-Free 800-221-3343 or 212-619-1100 (collect)

* Constation of the cited article is being made without the permission of either the publisher or the author. The use of such quotation does not represent the publisher's or the author's endorsement of the Gulf Investors Group or its positions. The Gulf Investors Group has not made any payment with respect to the publication or quotation of such article.

_ **

13 Can. citizen,

47 Jutlander, e.g.

optically

50 Persona non

49 Take in

S1 Quaker

54 Fragrant 57 Spot and burrerfish

59 Tuck away

61 Like tubers

64 Sherpa turf

62 Last word 63 Sen, Domenici

DOWN

1 Niche object

3 Mental lapse

2 City on the

Truckee

60 Room to swing

ACROSS 1 Where Basra is 5 Steel-plow men

10 Composer Bartůk 14 Viseyen island 15 Star 16 Prof's poser 17 "---- Clock Jump," 1938

20 Boreal 22 Flutist 23 Be affected by 24 Dickens onelegged rascal 25 Cups, saucers, pot, etc. 27 Succeeded

31 Neighbor of Que. 32 Closet lining 40 Rump

34 Income, in France 35 Bankruptcy 37 Breed of cattle 39 Judge 42 Overhau 44 Orinoco tributary
45 Underlings

O New York Times, edited by Lugene Maleska.

g D.C. V.I.P. 9 Inspirited 10 Hounded 11 Way out 12 Take life easy

4 Cites S Glum 6 Buckle down 7 Sci. for Galbraith

for one 19 Football's Staubach 21 Hic.—, hoc 24 — Secession 24 — Secess 25 Flambeau 26 Take effect 27 Self-styled expert 28 Singly 29 Alamogordo's county 30 Go-getter 33 Actor Jacobi 36 Cluster 38 Radical in a lab 41 Adjective for a £3 bill

43 Cooperative group 46 Up-10-date 48 Provonative 50 Actress Nissen S1 Commotion S2 Sprint 53 ''---- first you

54 Surmounting 55 Glimmering 56 Copper 58 Shoe part

DENNIS THE MENACE

"ARE YOU GONNA BE THERE?" WOULD YOU LIKE TO COME TO MY BIRTHDAY PARTY DENNIS?"

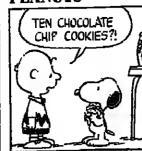

Jumbles, DUNCE GAUDY INVERT BODILY Answer: What did the bored cow say when she got up in the morning? — "JUST AN UDDER DAY"

Print answer here: HIS HIS

TOTAL A PRINTED AND WEATHER

EUROPE	ніен гом		ASIA	HIGH C F	LOW	_
Algorye Attens Amsierdam	C F C F 17 43 43 39 5 41 5 41	0 0	Bengkek Beijing Hoog Kong	25 82 25 77	24 75 3 26 19 66	#
Beigrade Berlin Brussels	5 41 —7 19 4 39 3 38	100	Alselie New Delbi Secol -	27 81 -2 28	15 57 -5 22 3 38	na fr
Bucherest Budapest Capabbasen	4 39 -9 16 7 45 1 34 3 36 -2 28	fr fr	Sbarghal Singapore Talpei	11 52 26 82 21 70	24 75 18 64	tr o cl
Costa Del Sol Dabilo Ediaburgh	20 68 13 55 10 50 6 43 7 45 5 41	C)	AFRICA	20 6B	13 54	"
Florence Frankfart Geneva	9 48 30 5 41 2 26 5 81 3 26 4 21 7 19	44.0	Aigiers Cairo Cape Town	21 70 28 62 20 68	11 52 20 45 15 59	10 1
Helsinki Istaabui Las Palmas Lisbon	7 45 2 36 22 72 19 66 16 61 12 54	ir o	Cosabionca Harare Nairobi	21 70 26 77 27 P4	16 61 13 55 17 63	ir Ir
London Madrid Milica	9 48 7 45 14 57 10 50 5 41 -2 28	0-0	LATIN AME		12 54 A	4
Moscow Munich Nice	4 39 -7 20 10 50 7 45	sn fr f	Buenos Aires Lima Mexico City	24 75 19 66 23 72	10 64 12 54 7 48	el cl pc
Oslo Peris Presen	1 34 -2 29 8 46 4 39 2 26 -3 26 5 41 5 41	tr 0 0	Rio de Janeiro Sao Pavio	27 81 24 79	22 72 22 72	Îr te
Reyklavík Rome Slockholm	11 52 8 44 -3 26 -4 25	t o	NORTH AM	_2 28	— —7 17
Versien Vienos Versien	5 41 -1 30 5 41 -1 30 1 34 -3 26 3 38 -6 21	ir d t	Detast. Culculo Boztou	8 46 15 59	5 41 -2 22 -1 22	× ×
MIDDLE E	AST	•	Detroit Honolulu Houston	5 41 31 88 25 77 22 72	-1 30 21 10 5 41 14 57	pc tr pc tr
Ankora Beirut Domescus	9 48 1 34 26 77 17 44 29 68 7 45	0	Les Angeles Allemi Minteopolis Mostresi	23 72	12 54 2 28 3 32	fr cl
Jerusolem Tel AVIV OCEANIA	22 17 12 54 27 81 15 59	d 0	Nessau New York San Francisco	27 81 7 45 15 59	22 72 4 39 17 54	e,
Auckland Sydney		ha.	Secritie Tercalo Washington	10 59 5 41 11 52	8 46 0 32 1 34	r pc
	ggy; (r-joir; b-i ow: st-stormy.	ell; e	-evercast: pc-port	ily clou	dy r-rais	i: 58-
FRIDAY'S FOI 11 (41-52). LOME Temp. 7-4 (45-37 24-15 (77-57). ZU 25-24 (52-75). AU 30-22 (86-75). S STOTOS, Temp. 1	RECAST — CHAI SON: Partly cloud. Id. NEW YORK: ). ROME: Rom. JRICH: Cloudy. JANG KONG: Foll EQUL: Snow, T 11-24 (88-75). TOK	NNE L dy. Ter Fair. Temp. Temp. Temp. Temp.	: Colm. FRANKFU mp. 10-6 (50-43). MA Temp. 8-0 (46-32). S 13-8 (55-46). TEL A 6-4 (43-37). BANGI p. 34-18 (75-44). MA -2-4 (28-21). S18 Foir. Temp. 31-7 (70	DRT: CH LDRIO: PARIS: VIV: O KOK: SI MILA: NGAPO! MGAPO!	gudy, Ter Partiv cl Partiv cl Parcast. 1 Newers. 1 Claudy. 1 RE: Thu	np. 5- oudy. oudy. fems. fems. nder-

PEANUTS

HERB, IT'S MIDNIGHT!

WHAT DO YOU WANT

BEETLE BAILEY

BATH

DAY,

OTTO

BLONDIE

CAN'T SLEEP...HOW

1, FOR A SNACK?

ABOUT JOINING ME

BOOKS

SHAME

By Salman Rushdie. 319 pp. $13.95. Alfred A. Knopf, 201 East 50th St., New York, N.Y. 10022.

Reviewed by Christopher Lehmann-Haupt

WHEN the great stampede of Salman Rushdie's new novel has passed and its hooves are no longer beating along one's syn-apses, a voice inside one's head asks timidly, What did we do to deserve all this revenge and violence? What did Rushdie's characters do? What did Pakistan do? Or not precisely Pakistan: "The country in this story is not Pakistan, or not quite," writes Rushdie. "There are two countries, real and fictional, occupying the same space, or almost the same space. My story, my fictional country exist, like myself, at a slight angle to reality. I have found this offcentering to be necessary; but its value is, of course, open to debate. My view is that I am not writing only about Pakistan."

If one had to find the realistic roots of Rushdie's narrative, one might arrive at the following aside by the narrator. In it he meditates on the news of a Pakistani father who not so long ago, in the East End of London, "murdered his only child, a daughter, because by making love to a white boy she had brought such dishonour upon her family that only her blood could wash away the stain."

"The news did not seem alien to me," the narrator ruminates. "We who have grown up on a diet of honor and shame can still grasp what must seem unthinkable to peoples living in the aftermath of the death of God and of tragedy: that men will sacrifice their dearest love on the implacable altars of their pride.

Between shame and shamelessness lies the axis upon which we turn; meteorological conditions at both these poles are of the most extreme, ferocious type. Shamelessness, shame: the roots of violence."

But this is realistic psychology, a possible subject for a treatise by Frantz Fanon. If Rushdie had followed its logic in "Shame," he would have robbed his novel of its spectral magic, its breakdown of narrative logic that allows time to rush suddenly forward and reveal the end of things, or permits characters to be reincarnated in each other. He would have robbed his novel of its truth - not precisely the truth of parable or allegory or myth, but the truth of a narrative that describes a world apart and is a system accurate and logical only unto

Most damaging of all, an adherence to real-ism would have robbed "Shame" of the character of Sufiya Zinobia Hyder, the fictional reincarnation of that Pakistani girl who was murdered by her father out of shame. Sufiya Zinobia is the tiny girl whose gender so en-raged her father, Raza Hyder, the future military dictator of his country, that even at her birth she hlushed in shame. The heat of that shame incubates a beast inside of Sufiya Zinobia, a beast that grows and takes posse the tiny girl until as an adult she must be

By Alan Truscott

OUARTER of a century

Ago, the controlled psychic made its appearance and had a brief vogue, mainly with

New York experts. The idea was to open certain very weak hands, with 3-6 points, some-response would be passed un-less the responder indicated

A modern variant of this idea known as the "anticipatory overcall" has recently been de-veloped in Washington. The originator was Jim Dunlap.

and it has been endorsed by Jim Wood, who described it in a recent issue of the magazine

The idea is to fight fire with fire when the opponents open a minor-suit bid that could be overwhelming strength.

The Bridge World.

immured in an attic to be kept from wander out at night, seducing strange men and teams off their heads. When she escapes that attic she leaves "a hole in the bricked-up window h had a head, arms, legs." At the cut she will return in the form of a white panther to topple return in the form of a white panther to topple her father's regime and destroy her sha husband with the heat of her rage. I am not giving anything away. The suspense of the story lies in its fabulous illogic.

The story of Suriya Zinobia is just one of the threads in a pattern so rich and various find a rivals the 18 shawls embroidered by Ram Rerappa to depict "The Shamelessness of Is-kander the Great," Ran's husband and Rize Hyder's rival for the dictatorship of the count try the author calls P. Follow any one of the threads and it leads to a conclusion equally phantasmagoric. Still, a reader steeped in Western rationalism wants to know what seem Rushdie's country has sewn to map such a terrifying whitewind. Is it a sin of geographic terrifying whitewind. presumption she has committed —of being palimpsest" obscuring what lies beneath? is part of it, the parrator scens to suggest: "To build Pakistan it was necessary to cover up Indian history, to deny that Indian centuries lay just beneath the surface of Pakistam Standard Time. The past was rewritten; there was nothing else to be done."

Or does the ultimate responsibility lie in character of the novel's picaresque "shams-less" hero, Omar Khayyam Shakil, who bears the name of an Eastern poet famous only in the West, who has a photia about being on the edge of things (he grows dizzy whenever he approaches the border of his country), wish embraces Western logic by becoming a mellical doctor, and who ends up marrying and being destroyed by the beast, Sufiya Zinobla? Is Omar Khayyam a Jonah in the belly of Paki-

Each of these answers has a truth; the truesdy of "Shame" lies both in the evasion of historical destiny and in embracing that destiny too violently. Yet this doesn't begin to account for the extravagantly tragicomic night-mare evoked by "Shame," which does for Paki-stan what Rushdie's equally remarkable first novel, "Midnight's Children," did for India. The narrative voice of "Shame" creates its own irresistible logic. In a postscript to his story, the author acknowledges having quoted Mills. Kindera, Franz Kafka, Nikolai Erdinann and Georg Buchner. Here and there in the text, e can't help thinking of Gabriel Garcia Mirquez. These are extraordinary writers with whom to be associated, but it's company that Salman Rushdie deserves.

Christopher Lehmann-Haupt is on the staff of The New York Times.

IBM Unit Will Aid La Scala

BRIDGE

with a weak doubleton or tripleton in the suit bid. If the overcaller is vulnerable, he will have some sort of escape suit to run to. His hope is to steal the opponents' suit, causing them to miss an eight-or-nine-ample, which has been slightly modified. When North opened one diamond, East tried an anticipatory spade. West ex-plained that his partner might well have a poor hand with two

However, this information did not enable North-South to reach four spades. Instead, they charged into three no-trump and were defeated when

West intelligently led the heart queen, guessing the location of his partner's escape suit.

or three spades.

card fit.

The Associated Press

MILAN - IBM Italia, the Italian subside iary of the multinational computer firm, as nounced Wednesday it will finance the 1983. season of the La Scala symphony orchestia. The venture will cost IBM 600 million life (about $420,000).

NORTH + A 1983 V A 5 + Q 1982 + K 5

SOUTH

◆KJ95 ∇883 ◆K104 ◆AQ7

WEST (D)

♣Q6 ♥QJ4 • ♣A75 ♣J9$63

Josh Preben Elkjaer, left, and Man San Denmark Gain

MBENS - Dear and the Lord to the final Great charter of the same of t Bee qualifying ir i.

God by Proben 138 and a line Americ and formation of the immed the year A' an Similation and allowed the Dane 19 at the finals for the first time

Demort has if you to firm it. mis mie contention.

The third Francis American properties men from lates No. Bollatia Notice of the second ---

Their Carry

Excel and prevents w

Notice and the

STETLE FALL IN

sic with a house of

Maria

HATEL STORE OF LA STANCE S The table of the second of LANGE NO ---Triber Count mini a roma TO 250 : 2 A et grinst Luxemberger, have ... asand was eluminated from the For Germany, de pile

Methem Ireland out if my house

Mothers in U.S. Put

By George Verse would then look foolish if the

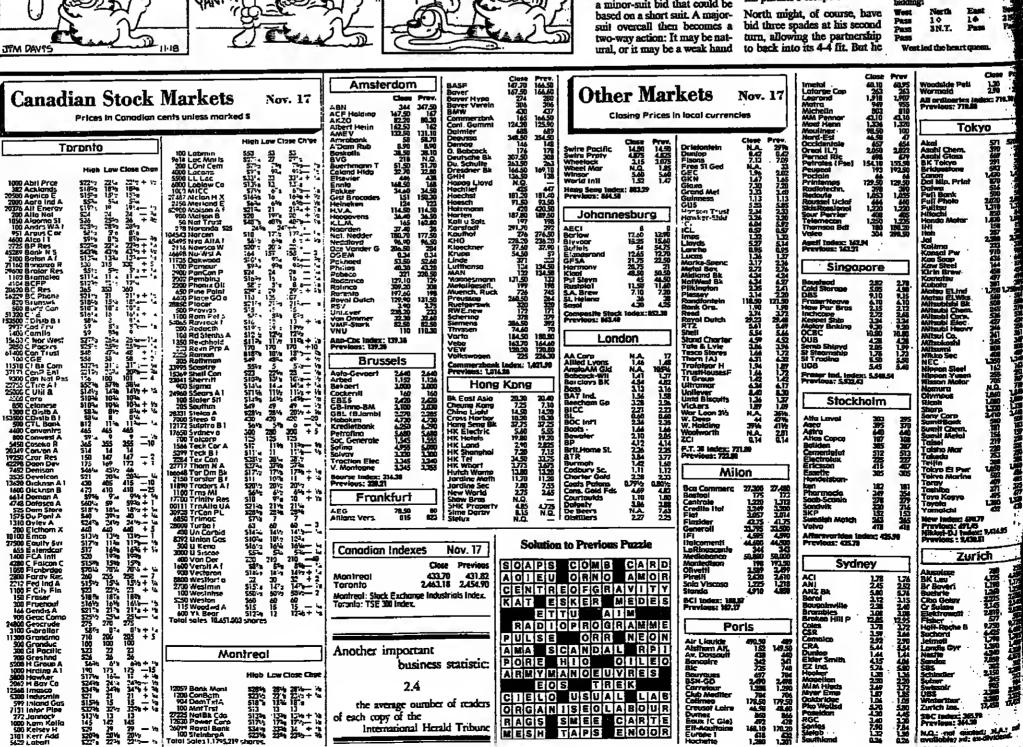

See Such Times See . . overcall was genuine.

If he had reached four spades, THE YORK — Alice Sande!

or tripleton trump queen; but the other lady was on the of-this rule seems likely to be a Sugar recalls, "and i was helpful to the opponents." It is safety I just caught it becinterate levels ಗುರಾಯ ಜರು ಡೆ ಹಿ 44 - 15 19mp 5 3. 3. If he had reached four spades, New YORK — Judge Sanger North would have made to be a round football for much tricks, for he would have the life but it wasn't until the known how to play the trouble on when she out-ranhed an-wood recommends that the mother to intercept 2 7 18% anticipatory overcall should be left the escace of the not be made with a doubleton. High to higher t pass the Jen set combach areas When server t was time to go of अंद्रेश्य के उन्हें es aprene" She represed in

International Herald Tribune

Goals by Preben Elkjaer, left, and Alian Simonsen propelled Denmark into the finals of the European soccer championship

Denmark Gains a Berth in Soccer Finals

ATHENS - Denmark advanced to the finals of next year's European soccer championship by defeating Greece, 2-0, in a Group Three qualifying match here

Goals by Preben Elkjaer in the 16th minute and former European player of the year Allan Simonsen in the 47th allowed the Danes to reach the finals for the first time

Denmark has 13 points from its completed eight-match schedule. England, which won a 4-0 away match against Luxembourg, has 12 points and was eliminated from the group's title contention.

West Germany, despite a 1-0 loss to Northern Ireland (its first home loss to a European team in nine eliminated, defeated Malta, 8-0, from the European soccer champiyears), is on the verge of a finals spot from Group Six, as is the Netherlands, which defeated dued Scotland, 2-1, in Group One,

West Germany must defeat Albania at home Sunday to qualify on goal difference ahead of Northern Ireland; should the West Germans draw or lose, Northern Ireland will advance.

In other Group Six play, Turkey ended Austria's faint hopes with a 3-1 triumph in Ankara.

Their victory puts the Dutch even on points with Spain, but the Netherlands has a better goal difference. Each closes out its schedule with a home-field match against Spain, 2-1, in Amsterdam in Group and Bulgaria uipped Wales, 1-0, to keep Group Four wide open.

Nine qualifying matches were played Wednesday in the seven groups, and the only other issue decided was the elimination of Sweden from Group Five thanks to Czechoslovakia's 2-0 victory over Italy in Prague.

Czechoslovakia will meet Romania Nov. 30 to determine which gains the finals.

■ Hooliganism in Laxembourg Hundreds of Britons rampaged through the streets of Luxembourg The Repoblic of Ireland, already after England had been eliminated onships on Wednesdy, The Associated Press reported. Security forces reported finding axes, chains and aerosol cans filled with tear gas as the visitors smashed bars, looted shops and assaulted pedestrians, officials said. Army troops were summoned after the rioters threatened to overwhelm a contingent of about 500 policemen. Soldiers from neighboring West Germany were finally called in to help bring the simation

The English fans had been heavily guarded by soldiers and police inside the stadium, but became uncontroliable outside after the match. Dozens were arrested and the vandalism continued into the night, authorities said

USOC Using Science in the Service of Sport

By Nail Amdur New York Times Service

NEW YORK - In two previous Pan American Games, Peter Westbrook had seen his hopes for a gold medal in fencing ended by the same rival, Manuel Ortiz of Cuba.

So after qualifying for the U.S. Pan American team in June. Westbrook committed himself to a seven-day-a-week regimen, including a rigorous training camp in Prince-ton, New Jersey, that was funded through grants from the U.S. Olympic Committee under its clite athlete" project.

A key element in Westbrook's training became lengthy sessions with a sports psychologist, Dr. Herbert Fensterheim

We had three or four sessions." says Westbrook, 31. "I talked bout myself and my goals, and he had me speaking into a mike saying positive things about myself and the competition. He told me to liaten to it once in the morning and once at night. It was a form of reinforcement, something I had known about before, but this time helped - tremendously."

Westbrook won a gold medal in the sabre class, defeating Ortiz in the final at Caracas last August. "It was a major step forward for fencing," said Irwin Bernstein, a past president of the U.S. Fencing Association and project coordinator of time z fencing's "elite athlete" program.

Fencing is one of nine sports involved in USOC project. Directed by Dr. Irving Dardik, chairman of the sports medicine council, the program has already awarded $500,000 in grants to national governing bodies, with the idea of rific procedures.

Discovering new ways and means of linking world-class ath-letes with researchers has become a effect certain elements are having major priority with the USOC in on the physiological functioning of recent years. Within the last two athletes. It's signifiant because weeks, an environmental scheduling you're dealing in an area where facility was opened at the Brigham research has oever been systemati-Medical School.

One of the first projects there "By understanding athletes' pro-will be a chronobiological hospital cesses from one week to the next," study that will focus on daily varia- Dardik explained, "we can apply tions in an athlete's performance physiological testing over a period and whether such elements as of time. In that way, we can learn crossing time zones and the use of how and when the athletes peak in anabolic steroids can affect his tim- terms of their performances. By un-world-class athletes will be moni- on a regular basis."

ESCORTS & GUIDES

INTERNATIONAL

escort

SERVICE

NEW YORK

CALIFORNIA

steroids "I don't think we can administer research team from the State University of New York at Bingham-ton. "We're hoping to get world-class athletes who have been taking

Sulzman will direct another phase of the project, a field study of 20 to 30 athletes who will wear portable ambulatory monitors to test heart rate and body tempera tures while eating, sleeping and what certain effects can be on their

A third phase will be a confidential questionnaire that will ask a larger sampling of athletes for candid disclosures of training secrets. Among the queries will be when they practice, when they perform best, how they prepare for crossing time zones and their steroid usage

"I'm very excited at the prospects," said Dr. Charles A. Czeisler, a Harvard Medical School professor who will head the hospital study. The purpose is not to see if anabolic steroids will enhance athletic performance and not to see assisting athletes and teams when you can drop anabolic stethrough the use of advanced scien- roids so it's not picked up in any

"The purpose is to gather pilot Women's Hospital of the Harvard cally carried off because it's not derstanding that, we can then work In the study, a group of about 10 with the athlete and monitor them

The U.S. Olympic training center in Colorado Springs.

tored closely for a 40-hour period A USOC grant of $225,000 will while researchers collect blood and fund the chronobiological project, urine samples every 20 minutes and An additional $50,000 grant has check numerous other body func- been awarded for research at two tions. Some of the volunteer ath-other facilities into computerized letes will have taken anabolic ste-electrical muscle stimulation and roids — synthetic male hormones its effect on athletic performance.
— in their training before they arOne study is under way at Coto de rive; others in the study, for com- Caza, California, with a group of parative purposes, will be steroid-termis professionals while the secfree. Many athletes believe they and is scheduled for Colorado improve their strength by taking Springs next month with weight-

The allocation of $4.7 million of steroids to athletes," said Dr. the USOCs $80.1 million budget to Frank Sulzman, a member of the sports medicine has come in respoose to athletes' complaints about the extensive research advances and commitments made by Eastern European countries. The drugs on their own and are willing need to close these gaps was reflect-to volunteer anonymously to see ed in the release of a detailed 102page USOC study last July that chronicled serious equipment defi-ciencies in so-called "high-technology" sports such as bobsled, luge, canoeing and kayaking and biath-

"The U.S. appears to be behind several countries in athletic areas that are based on a high degree of equipment technology," the report summarized. "Though correlation does not occessarily mean causation, the fact remains that U.S. performance in sports with considerable equipment technology involved is far below that for sports with minimal technological involvement " The first significant steps to upgrade some of the equipment prob-lems in the high-tech sports began last spring. Donald E. Schuele, vice president for graduate and under-graduate studies at Case Western Reserve University and a member of the USOC sports equipment and technology committee, wrote let-ters to 260 deans of U.S. engineering schools, asking each to list faculty members who were involved in sports projects.

Schnele said he got about 90 replies. Last month, a follow-up letter was sent to the 90 respondents for more specific information on their work, with the hope of matchng up researchers and athletes.

The key element is that a piece of equipment is as much psycholo-gical as physical." Schnele said last week. "To develop it without the super athlete, you may have trouble getting them. They don't know why. Our job is to show them why." Schnele said he has already received 15 replies from faculty re-

Peter Westbrook . It helped — tremendously.

ies ranging from cycling mechanics (Dr. L. Metz, University of Illinois) to aerodynamic performance design (J.R. George, Cornell Univer-

What we want is a three-prong approach," Schuele said. raise money, then survey the athletes and identify the technical problems and survey the faculty and look for high-priority items where we can match them. Finally, we have to get the groups together and set up the research project.

We're the catalyst." Schuele said he hopes to have the first meetings between the athletes and faculty next spring. The project is not likely to help athletes for the 1984 Winter and Summer Olympics, but Schnele sees a beneficial long-range marriage that could also extend to equipment manufacturers and corporations.

With a $100 million budget planned for the 1984-1988 quadrennial, the USOC hopes to develop more regional training centers and expand existing training centers at Colorado Springs and Lake Placid, New York. An average of 325 athletes a day pass through the Colorado Springs facility, up significantly from the figure of 77 per day when the center opened in 1977. Included in the expansion there would be a conference center, new dining hall, recreation center, additional office space and creation of a housing facility for married athletes.

"We need to provide some married quarters," said Baaron Pit-tenger, the assistant executive di-rector of the USOC.

Dardik believes the next few years are critical if the USOC hopes to maintain U.S. standing internationally and retain the faith

"Athletes are not responsive sometimes because scientists come follow up," he said. "The way to do it is to get the best scientists, incor-porate all their knowledge and then take this knowledge and give it to the athletes in a way they can apply to their training.

"We shouldn't worry about winning gold medals. Whoever knows how to scientifically apply the tech-niques of science will find the Carl Lewises and Mary Deckers.

"Right now, we're doing it on a random basis, hoping for follow-through. We've got to contralize our efforts and work toward longterm continuity. Once we put sports and science together, the athletes will see the results."

Mothers in U.S. Put Themselves in Their Sons' Cleats

By George Vecsey

New York Times Service NEW YORK - Judge Sauget as been around football for much of her life but it wasn't until this ason, when she out-reached anther mother to intercept a pass, that she felt the essence of the

"The other lady was on the ofense," Sauget recalls, "and I was playing safety. I just caught it be-fore she did. I can see why it's such a big thing to men."

Sauget's interception came dur-ing a clinic staged this fall by Glenn Schott, football coach at Althoff Catholie High School in Belleville, Illinois. He thought it would be a good idea if the mothers spent a day in their sons' shoes.

"They wash socks for their sons. but it's about time they got more involved," he said. "Also, they could relieve some of their fears and have fun.

As a result, Sauget spent an afternoon learning how her son, J.J. Klaus, plays safety, and Linda Moyer practiced at fullback and linebacker, like her oldest son, Theron. In all, 38 women went through a briefing session, took calisthenics and then performed drills at their sons' positions.

Schott says he got the idea from a friend of his who coaches at a high school in nearby St. Louis. Others in this male sport/ritual have tried to bring women into the magic circle: Tom Bass, the bearded, poetry-writing defensive coor-dinator of the San Diego Chargers, used to hold public clinics for Sauget sees football and other aspressive team sports as healthy tor their participants: "I think hat's why women are more selfish than men. They never got the team

Belleville's mothers reported to e caleteria; one was dressed in

, siak, NHL Agree In Arrangement to Appeal Suspension

The Associated Press NEW YORK — Tom Lysiak Philodelphic and the National Hockey League have worked out a deal that will washington illow the Chicago center to appeal us 20-game suspension imposed by Heree Dave Newell.

Lysiak was suspended for aliegdly tripping a linesman in a game ct. 30. Under NHL bylaws, the malty cannot be appealed; Ly-ak filed a federal lawsuit claiming e bylaw was thereby unconsitumal and has continued to play der an injunction issued against league in the case.

On Wednesday, an NFIL state- Los Angotes ot said the league, with the con-irence of Lysiak's lawyer and the yers association, had agreed to spose to the NHL's board of ernors an amendment that ald allow players to appeal refimposed suspensions.
the amendment is approved in board's Nov. 22 vote, Lysiak drop his suit, his lawyer said.

elaborate football gear. "We performed sort of a strip tease, taking off-one item at a-time and explaining it," Schott said. "Then we'd pass the item around the circle so everybody could touch it."

When Schott told the women it was time to go on the field, several asked for a short break. Admits Moyer: "I used the time to have my last cigarette."

She regretted it as soon as she got outside, because Brad Harriman, an assistant coach, shouted: "Football is a running game, mothers. Once we get on the field, we will run." On the field, the coaches put the women through jumping jacks, sit-ups and leg stretches.

"There was a lot of giggling."
Moyer said. "Some of the mothers were in great shape, but I wasn't.
He got us down in the stance and began lecturing us about the best way to run. He was talking for about five minutes until somebody shouted, 'Hey, we're 40 years old.'
That stance caused a few aches the next day."

The clinic's most dangerous moment came when Schott offered a prize for anyone who could kick an extra point. Andy Kinsella, an asholder), was only kicked in the hand once.

NBA Standings

EASTERN CONFERENCE

WESTERN CONFERENCE Midwest Division

Son Dieso
Wednesloy's Resilts
Philodelphic 102, New York 97 (Erving 28, Today 25: Cortwright 28, R. Williams 19), Datroif 122, Seattle 129 (Trioucka 21, Loim-

Print 126 comm per (D) cor 27 comm per 29 per 191 29, McHole 20).
Phoenis 115, Clevelund 184 (Davis 25, Luces, Adams 18; Shelton 24, Thompson 18).

Utch San Antonio

Deriver' Heuston Konson City

4 5 A44 3 5 305 3 6 333 2 8 280

4 6 AGG 3 5 375 3 6 338 3 7 300

After working out at their sons' more. My daughters always share a were tired. Said Moyer: "My sons that time. I really respect them af-every aspect of what they do. "My sons have never been hur nothing." Moyer says cautiously. "A mother is always leary when she hears her son is playing football or anything like that. When they play on the varsity, they're men, oot boys. They hit hard out there."

Sauget, whose second husband, Rich, played at Notre Dame in the mid-1960s, said she knew of only one mother who went into the clinic with any reservations about football -- "and she's still worried."

The camaraderie has carried through the season. "There always used to be just a couple of mothers at the scrimmages," says Moyer, "but this year the bleachers were full. At the games, I used to have to follow Theron's oumber carefully to find him, but now I usually know where he'll be."

Sauget says she can watch videotapes of her son's games and dis-cuss intelligently whether the offi-cials were right in penalizing him sistant coach (and the day's official for pass interference the other night. "A wonderful result of the clinic is that my soo and I talk

NHL Standings

WALES CONFERENCE
Putrick Division
W L T Phs GF GA
division
W L T Phs GF GA
Cofeary
Vers 13 8 2 28 85 65 Lss Appeles 6
divis 12 7 8 24 84 47 vencouver 8 who 11 7 1 23 78 43 Whenless 4 21 8 17 0 14 68 73
V 2 16 0 4 46 84
Automas Division
12 4 1 25 86 51
10 6 3 22 74 67
10 6 3 22 74 67
10 6 3 22 74 67
10 8 10 0 16 76 74
11 1 15 47 82

Description

Nervis Division
Ner

positions, the women decided they lot but boys tend to skim over the surface with their mothers. Now we . were taking triple-session drills at can talk about football."

under control.

To women anxious about their ter doing just a few minutes of sous playing football, novice safety Sauget says: "If your son wants to our children back. Maybe if my son wanted to go sky-diving. I might draw the line. But as far as football goes, there's an old saying: 'No guts, no glory.' That's how I feel."

3 Major Leaguers Ordered to Prison For Drug Offenses

KANSAS CITY, Kansas - A federal magistrate Thursday ordered three members of the Kansas City Royal baseball team to serve three months in a minimum-security prison, starting Dec. 5, for attempting to buy cocaine.

Willie Wilson, Willie Aikens and Jerry Martin all pleaded guilty to the charge last month. A fourth teammate, former Cy Young Award pitcher Vida Blue, has pleaded guilty to a misdemeanor charge of drug possession. He will be sentenced Dec. 15.

Fioing Wilson and Aikens $5,000 each and Martin $2,500, U.S. Magistrate J. Milton Sullivant sentenced them to a year at federal facility in Fort Worth, Texas, with the final nine months suspended. All will be on two years' probation following their release next spring.

Winnipes 4 11 3 14 73 72 Winnipes 4 11 3 14 73 72 N.Y. Romers 4 Weshington 1 (Ruotsolainen 13). Den Moloner (9). Hedbern (N. Caborner (8): Volentine 13)L Toronto 3, Pittsburch 2 (McCourt (4), Derlogo (8), Terrion (8): Buskon (f). Kalne (7). Chicope 4, 5. Louis 3 (D. Wilson (5), Yoremchek (3), B. Wilson (4). Several (14); Lemisus: (1), Gitmore (4), Turnbull (8). Buffalo 6 Winnipes 5, OT Housley (9), Ramson 2 (2), Cloutter 101, Petersen (2), McKenna 111; Howerchuk (41, Mullen (5), Baschmon 123. Small (6), Luitowich (41). Los Ansetes 5. Vancouver 2 (MocLellan 2 110). Diome (6), Hokanson (4), Jarvis (4); Currie (1), Refu (15). Panel Upholds Permission for Winged Keels The Associated Press

LONDON — An International Yacht Racing Union committee late Wednesday upheld a November 1982 IYRU ruling that permits fixed wings for keels. Ratification of the decision is expected Friday by the IYRU's permanent commit

Tony Watts, the IYRU's chief measurer, said the keel-boat committee endorsed the previous ruling unanimously and without controversy." The action probably means 12-meter yachts will be redesigned to look like America's Cup winner Australia II. "This decision will change the shape of 12-meter yachts," said DLYMPICS on the 14-member committee. "All USOC—Amounced that flets Mathias has resigned as head of the Coymptic training center to become executive director of the National Fitness Foundation in Indianopolis.

COLLEGES

AIR FORCE—Suspended Jody Simmons, holibook, for breaking team ruless.

BROOKLYN COLLEGE—Named Howard Cornfield sports information director-business manager and Emeric Arus tencing counters. the old drawings will be scrapped. The advantages that wings give a boat are enormous." Australia II was the focus of controversy during the America's Cup competition last summer. The New York Yacht Club unsuccessfully sought to have the Australian chal lenger disqualified because of her radical keel. In the end, the NYYC S.E. MISSOUR! ST. Announced the resigna-tion of Jim Lohr, head feetball cooch. YEKAS SOUTHERN—Antounced the res-ignation of Joe Redmand, head football cooch. lost its 132-year monopoly on the cup when Australia II beat Liberty, 4-3, in the title round.

Transition

BASKERALL

National Busketholl Association
PHOENIX—Pinced Juries Edwards, center, on the indured reserve list, activated Charles Pittman, forward.

FOOTBALL
Noticed Football Leaves
DENVER Placed quarterboth Silve De-

Berg on injured reserve.

GREEN BAY-Signed quarterback Lyran

GREEN BAY—Signed quarterback Lynn Dickey to has one-year chirteds. NEW ENGLAND—Signed Art Kuehn, certer, Cut Marshall Harris, defensive and Usited States Posteal League ARIZONA—Signed Chris Matt, center, and Anthony Saker, detensive lineman, to multipeer contracts.

JACKSONYILLE—Signed Ricky Patter and Kevin McLee, running backs, and George Collins, oftensive lineman.

MICHIGAN—Signed Dave Purelfory, defensive and.

INTERNATIONAL PRIVATE COLLECTION FRANKFURT MULTILINGUAL ESCORTS Everywhere in Europe and other U.S. Cities 212-765-7896 212-765-7754 330 W. Son St., N.Y.C. 10019 hitilingual escurts available to Iran nywhare nutionally or international invusive di Airpart pictup available MAJOR CREDIT CARDS AND BUSINESS CHECKS ACCEPTED This award-winning service has been featured as the top & mos exclusive Esser! Service by USA & international news undic including ratio and TV. CHARLY'S ANGELS NTERNATIONAL ESCORT SERVICE FRANKFURT WIESBADEN-MAINZ MUNICHLONDON ZUERICH-GENEVA . Everywhere in Europe 06190-4488 ECORTS AVAILABLE TO TRAVE

TI 0-6621-78550 LIMOUSINE & AMPORT PICK-UP MAJOR CREDIT CARDS AVAILABLE ZURICH SOFFE ESCORT & GUIDE SERVICE TEL: 01 / 202 68 93.

INTERNATIONAL STAR COLLECTION MANUTURE SCORTS TEL: 0-6192-1744. LONDON TOP GIRL TEL: 402 0004 LONDON BELGRAVIA Tel: 736 5877. N. EUROPE ESCORT SERVICE AMSTERDAM 644994 THE HAGUE 523429 ROTTERDAM 334040 LA VENTURA BECORT SERVICE NEW YORK CITY 212-988-1666 LONDON WEST LONDON HEATHROW & GATHRON TEL: 01-747 3304 LONDON KENSINGTON

ESCORTS & CUIDES

ESCORT SERVICE TO KENSHIGTON CHERCH ST, W TBL: 937 9136 OR 937 9133 LONDON ELITE Escort Service TEL: 221 8793 MADRID LOLA Escent Services, Tel: 2455209. Credit cards.

LONDON LADY + EVERYWHERE WHY NOT ESCORT SERVICE TEL: (0)89-91 46 92 ESCORT SERVICE Tel: 402 8150 LONDON Tel: 01/810 22 34 KENSINGTON ESCORT SERVICE O KENSINGTYON CHURCH ST, WI TEL: 937 9136 or 937 9133 LONDON MAYFAIR Nutbalie Escert Service Tel: 01/ 47 50 85 TEL: 01 582 2408 MESSELINA AMSTERDAM Escort Service TeL83 65 33 or 83 65 34 MADRID EVASION ESCORT & GUIDE SERVICE MRTENGUAL ADRIO 261 41 42 - 261 43 35 LONDON - CHELSEA GIRL Excert Service. 51 Beauchomp Phase, Loador SW3 Tel: 01 584 6513/2749. (4-12 pm NEW YORK CACHET II LID ESCORT SERVICE 212-724-4545 MURRICH Ellie Excert Agency TEL: 089/583424, 10 cm - midnight

INTERNATIONAL CLASSIFIED

(Continued From Page 16)

ESCORTS & GUIDES

ESCORTS & GUIDES

ZURICH

ZURICH

GENEVA-EXCLUSIVE Servica, Afternoon & 1 Tel: 22 / 21 79 29.

ROME CLIB EUROPE ESCORT Guide Service, Tel: 06/307 2004-3 1146 from 10 cm to 10 pm

Geneva V.I.P. Escart Service Travel/Weekend, Tel. 41 20 36

VIENNA HARMONY VIP Escort Service. Dolly, noon till midnight, Vienna 35 41 30 and 54 29 43, multilingsol.

VIERINA - GENEVA, special excert service, Tel: (Vierna) 654158. BRUSSELS, AMANDINE ESCORT Ser-vice, Tel: 267 45 29.

WICE TALSED 23 65.

NEW YORK: RENEPS Y.L.P. Excert Service, Tel: 272-881-1948.

REGANTE ISCORT SERVICE London 761 5014/653 0185.

PRANKFURT MECHA'S ESCORT Ser-vice. (0) 611 / 819811.

FRANCPJET SONIA Excert Sareion Tel: 0611/686562 or 06103-44317

GENEVA JADE DOMBIA Successiving, Tel: 022/31 95.09.

AMSTERDAM ESCORT GUIDE SERVICE SINCE 1973 Tel: 247731 ARISTOCATS

Landon Escort Service Tel: 437 47 41 / 4742 12 room - midnight

LONDON PARK LANE BECORT AGENCY. TEL: 582 2408. MAYFAR CLUB

ROTTEDAM 101 10-25 41 35 THE HAGEE (0) 70 - 60 79 ZURICH CHOES INTERNATIONAL ESCORT & GLEDE SERVICE INTERNATIONAL Tel: 01 2521843

ZURICH-GENEYA

ESCORTS & GUIDES CAPRICE ESCORT SERVICE IN NEW YORK

TEL: 212-737 3291. 305.945.3650 or 305.625.1772. MUNICH - MONIKA Private Escort-Service, Tel: (089) 311 79 00. NEW YORK'S BYRON'S ESCORT Service 212-254-1577 VIENNA ETORE ESCORT SERVICE. Tol. 56 78 55. TENNA - EXCLUSIVE Excert Service. Tel: 47 - 74 - 61. FRANKRUKT - PETRA Excert 2 Travel Service, Tel. 0611 / 68 24 05 FRANKFURT - ANITA Excert Service. Tel: 0611 / 43 59 LL. KAREN ESCORT SERVICE Frankfurk Tol: 0611 681 662 IONDON GENE ESCORT Service. TONDON DIANE ESCORT SERVICE CNDON NEWGIEL ESCORT agency 01-579 7556 STUTTGART, GENF, MILANO 5-cort Service Tel. (1989-97 46 93 VENNA DE ESCORT SERVICE Tel: 4283 46 from 10 on. COLOGNE - BONN - DUESSE DORF Escort Service 0221-124601. DUESSELDORF COLOGNE DOMINA English Escort Service. 0211 383141. LONDON YIVEN private Escort Service. Tel. 244.7671. PETER MALE Excert + Travel service Fronkfurt 0611/386441 FRANKRIET GRIKA Except & Troval Service. Tel: 0611/558824. 20-222785/30-944530/2977-3685 Tel: 935 5339. LONDON ESCORT SERVICE. Tel: 937 CONDON. MILET ESCORT Service. NEW YORK CITY, MONIQUE Chris-tine-Both Excert Service. 212-807-1756 COPPNHAGEN ESCORT SERVICE. VIENNA ESCORT SERVICE THE Vienno 267] 04, MADRID, MARIA ESCORT Service.

> PAGE 20 & 16 FOR MORE CLASSIFIEDS

مكذات الأصل

OBSERVER

A Slight Case of Nynex

By Russell Baker

N EW YORK — It was inevita-ble that Ma Bell would someday pass away, but I wasn't aware of her decline until a few years ago when she began saying, "Have a

I spoke to the family about it. "I think we'd better prepare ourselves for the worst," I said. "Ma Bell has started saying. Have a nice day every time I talk to her about a long-distance phone problem."

The children were distraught. "How will we make collect calls home to get money if there's no more Ma Bell?" asked anxious little

There, there. I'm sure Ma has provided," I said. "She's probably arranged to pass everything on to Uncle Holdbutton or Cousin Touchtone, or maybe one of her boys like young Coinslot or her little daughter, Princess."

Not long afterward while I was in New England fussing over a long-distance call, she asked for my name, straightened everything out as usual and, after I thanked her, replied, "Thank you, Russell." "I think it's just about over," I told the family. "Ma has lost her sense of decorum. She is now calling me by my first name." l immediately picked up the telephone. "Uncle Holdbutton?" I

"Uncle Holdbutton has been spun off," said a voice. "So has Cousin Touchtone, young Coinslot and charming little Princess. Can I help you?"

"You are —?" "Nynex," said the voice.
I recalled a Secret Agent X-9 in ancient comic strips.

"I'm trying to reach Ma Bell's heir, old fellow." "Ma Bell has many heirs, and I am one of them," said the voice.

"You are the phone company?"
"I am Nynex," it said, serving the newly created New York regional telephone system."

I hung up in dismay and assem-bled the family, "Ma has gone, and Uncle Holdbutton, Cousin Touchtone, young Coinslot and little Princess have been spun off," I reported. "I'm afraid we're now in the hands of something called Nynex."

"Maybe it's Pa Nynex," a child

Of course. Ma wouldn't have left us in the cold metallic clasp of something as inhuman as Nynex. I picked up the phone. "You're really Pa Nynex, aren't you?" "You're living in the age of tele-communications," said the voice. "The age of the Ma and Pa phone company is dead. I am not Pa Nynex. I am Nynex. Dynamic, vital, electronically sizzling and technologically out of sight.

I hung up and didn't use the phone again for a day. Though it may have been a dynamic and vital name, to me Nynex sounded more like a new laxative or an acne oint-

I picked up the phone next day.
"Psychologically," I explained, "I can't really enjoy reaching out and touching somebody when the telephone starts me thinking about laxatives and pimples," I said.

"Count your blessings," said.
Nynex. "If you lived in the Middle West your new regional phone company would be Ameritech. Sounds like a school of engineering, doesn't it? Every time you hed out to touch someb you'd be reminded that you failed rigonometry, can't rewire a lamp and are so mechanically inept you can't even pump your own gaso-

How did Nynex know all that? "People who want to call the phone company 'Ma' and think of laxa-tives and pimples when they see a dynamic name like Nynex never keep step with progress," said the Angered, I cried, "All right, I'll move to California." Nynex cackled with joy. "Go ahead," it said. "You know what your new regional phone company is called out there? I didn't. "Pacific Telesis," said Nynex.

I shuddered at the prospect of never again picking up a telephone without being reminded of the tertiary stage of some revolting social disease peculiar to the Pacific Basin. It wasn't like this with Ma Bell. Even at the end she spoke only of nice days, never of pimples, your own stupidity or hideous telesis.

New York Times Service

Jonestown Plus 5

By Cynthia Gorney Washington Post Service

OAKLAND, California toral rest at the Evergreen Cemetery in central Oakland; it is a simple mound of granite-flecked lawn rising from a busy urban patchwork of stucco and telephone wires. But one slope, alone among the crowded rows of markers, stretches open and green below the encalyptus trees. The un-claimed Peoples Temple dead, 270 bodies that lay unidentified or unwanted after U.S. military men flew them back from Jonestown, Guyana, are buried there in a mass grave topped by a single gray tombstone:

IN MEMORY OF THE VICTIMS OF THE JONESTOWN TRAGEDY NOV. 18, 1978

Every year, on the anniversary of the 913 murders and suicides, a small group of men and women circle the headstone for a brief and quiet ceremony. About 350 Peoples Temple members survived the mass poisonings — several dozen either fled into the jungle or happened to be away in Georgetown, the Guyanese capi-tal, and the rest were affiliated with the Los Angeles and San Francisco chapters of the church. But Nov. 18 is said to be a time of such intolerable pain for many of these people that they cannot bear to remember it publicly.

"Almost none of them go to the memorial service every year," says Chris Hatcher, the San Francisco psychologist who chaired a committee formed five years ago to help counsel and resettle Peoples Temple relatives and survivors. Hatcher has remained in contact with many of the survivors, and he says they ask him about the ceremony — it seems important to them that it be held, even if they cannot bring themselves to go.

As a group, according to Hatcher and a San Francisco woman who has also kept in touch with many of the survivors, they are coping pretty well. There was a very bad time just after November 1978, when prospective employers shoved them from offices, and counselors and social workers sometimes refused to work with them, calling them "baby killers" or "crazy cult members." " Undeserving leeches' sticks out in my mind," Hatcher says.

But most of them are now working. They live mostly in the West — many settled in Oregon — and the majority of them, Hatcher says, seem to have adjusted to daily life without Jim Jones, the leader of the church. "About 5 percent have needed serious types of support," he says. He said that very few former members of the Peoples Temple have joined another religious

The murders last month of Paula Jean Neustel and her 18month-old son brought to five the number of former Peoples Tem-ple members known to have died violently since 1978. Nenstel, who was known as Paula Adams when she worked as the church's spokesman in Guyana (she was stationed in Georgetown at the time of the mass deaths), was slain by her son's father, who killed the boy then committed suicide, according to police. Jeannie and Al Mills, defectors from the church who had formed a center in Berkeley for other people ahandoning or working against cults, were shot to death in 1980, along with their teen-age daughter. No charges have been brought. Michael Prokes, who for many years worked as Jim Jones's press aide, survived the Jonestown deaths, but several months later called a California news conference in which he issued a pro-Jones statement, then stepped into the bathroom and killed him-

The court-appointed receiver for the Peoples Temple, Robert H. Fabian, a San Francisco attorney, believes he is about to finish dividing the church's assets among the survivors and relatives who filed claims against the Peoples Temple. Fabian says the church had accumulated almost $10 million in international bank accounts, real estate and personal property (most of the money and property was donated by temple members), and that most of that was split to settle each claim.

The one trial to emerge from the deaths in Guyana ended in September 1981 with a hung jury.

Stephan Jones

Larry Layton, a close associate of Jim Jones, was tried in San Francisco on charges that included conspiracy to kill Representative Leo J. Ryan, a California Demo-crat, and a U.S. diplomat, Richard Dwyer. After a mistrial was declared, the government ap-pealed a judicial ruling that had prevented the jury from hearing certain evidence. The 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals ruled that the evidence was admissible. and Layton has asked the court to reconsider its decision.

Patricia Ryan, Leo Ryan's aughter, has helped lead a fiveyear effort to investigate the role of the State Department in the events that led to her father's death. Although State Department officials maintain they did all they could, Ryan believes the department may have declined to give her father information about stown that might have saved

Hatcher, the psychologist, says he has tried without success to obtain foundation or federal funding for a careful psychologi-cal study of Jim Jones's followers and the deaths in Guyana. No one seems ready to imagine that Jonestown was anything but a monstrous aberration, he says, despite the evidence he has gathered of other mass suicides in wartime Japan and turn-of-the-century Brazil. People simply avert their eyes from Jonestown, Hatcher says — as though "This is just incomprehensible. . . . It's not something we're going to figure out, so why try?"

A Son's Nightmares

SAN FRANCISCO — The and there was a need for change. I dreams have never left him. would have been doing more than Toward Nov. 18 they crowd up faster and closer.

He dreams he is arguing with his father, arguing passionately, and although he knows his arguments are better, his father always wins. When he wakes, it takes him some time to come back. "It's like you went to a vacation in Europe and found out the United States had sunk," he says.

Stephan Gandhi Jones and the basketball team from the Peoples Temple settlement at Jonestown, Guyana, were at a tournament five years ago when the congressman and the reporters came to

"Right off the bat," he says, he explains to strangers "that my father was nuts, that be was a drug addict," he says. "I always explain to them that it's not what people think - it wasn't a bunch of starry-eyed people in line waiting to take the potion. . . No one could ever relate to it unless they were in the same situation, or they were in the atmosphere my father created. . . . I certainly don't mean to say that what happened was a same act or that it was a good act, but . . . it was not bad people who did it," be says. "And it could happen to any-Stephan fought his father, swore at him, obeyed him, con-templated killing him, argued with his mother about how to bring Jim Jones under control. "I say, "Mom," "Stephan Jones says, recalling a desperate huddle toward the end, "We're talking about a man who think's he's God. You don't tell God, You're not going out of the house. You're not taking any more drugs. You don't tell God he needs help. It won't work." By the time Stephan Jones was 16, his father had moved the fam-ily to the Peoples Temple building in a black neighborhood of San Francisco, where politicians and black leaders had begun paying attention to Jim Jones's racially mixed congregation. He does not think he loved his father even a little by then, but leaving was unimaginable. "I would have been a traitor to the greatest cause there ever was. . . . I believed there was too much racism. would have been doing more than just leaving a family. It would have been like I was a counterrevolutionary, in some sense."

Stephan Jones was a nearly full-grown teen-ager when his father sent him to the Peoples Temple agricultural mission in the small South American coastal country of Guyana. He loved it. He saw that the jungle would make him a man. He would rise before dawn, pick his way into the bush, and sit without moving as the quiet around him split slowly into bird cries and insect buzzing and the scuffling and calling o unseen creatures.

Jim Jones moved to Guyana in 1977, just as New West magazine was preparing to publish a lengthy account of defectors' allegations about the Peoples Tem-ple. By the fall of that year, al-most 1,000 church members emigrated to Jonestown, but for Stephan Jones, the pleasure crumbled when his father arrived. "By that time, I know, he was way off into drugs, and his perspective was so warped," Stephan Jones says. But the boy was still a child of the temple. He did what was expected of him: he carried a gun, watched over temple members and planned group escape routes. Toward the end, as the barbiturates, amphetamines and tranquilizers shurred his father's speech and sometimes left him unable to leave the house, Stephan Jones says murder seemed almost redundant. "When it really came down to it, I thought there wasn't any need, because I thought he'd be dead in a couple months anyway," he says.

"I still get very angry," Stephan Jones says. "But there's a sadness. . . . There was something there. He was a genius, and he was unique. And he just went unchecked. With those people surrounding him, constantly doing the right thing, and doing what he says, and you're surrounded by a combination of them and those people who don't necessarily agree, but are acting like they agree. . . I mean, here are hundreds and hundreds of people who feel differently than I do -

who's right?" - CYNTHIA GORNEY

PEOPLE

Canadian's Plan Picked For Paris Opera House

A project by the Canadian architect Carlos Ott, 37, of Toronto has been chosen by President François Mitterrand for the opera complex to be built at the Place de la Bastille in Paris. The announcement said, however, that "the importance and the novelty of the project necessi-tate more detailed work by the architect on his current sketches." Ou was one of three finalists from 744 projects entered for an international competition. Ott's project includes two major halls, a large rehearsal stage and workshops. The project is scheduled to start with demolition work next year and be completed in 1988.

A portrait of an emaciated young man by the Austrian painter Egon Schiele sold for $2.4 million at a Sotheby Parke Bernet auctiou in New York Wednesday. "Portrait of the Painter Karl Zakovsek," painted in 1910, was bought by a New York art dealer. The portrait was sold by Dr. Albert Grokoest, a professor at the Columbia University Medical School, who told reporters he bought the painting in 1959 for $5,000. The auction of 90 lots raised a total of $16.8 million.

The Hunter's Return," a landscape by Thomas Cole, an early 19th-century American artist, was sold for nearly $2.75 million to the Amon Carter Museum in Fort Worth, said Ted Cooper, a dealer for the Adams Davidson Gallery in Washington. Exhibited only once —in 1848 — the painting has never been reproduced and scholars have long thought it was lost or destroyed, Cooper said the painting was discovered after he was called to the home of a prominent Washington family to appraise it. .

Margaret Trudeau has filed for divorce from Prime Minister Pierre. Eliott Trudesu, her attorney said Wednesday. Married in March 1971, the Trudeaus announced their separation on May 27, 1977. Trudeau retained custody of their three sons, Justin, Sacha and Mi-

The former Secretary of State . Edmund Muskie, 69, is undergoing additional tests to determine the extent of the damage caused by a mild heart attack and will remain hospitalized in Biddeford, Maine.

for at least two weeks, doctors say,

Place Your Classified Ad Quickly and Easily INTERNATIONAL HERALD TRIBUNE

By Phone: Coll your local lift representative with your text. You will be informed of the cost immediately, and once prepayment is made your od will appear within 48 hours.

Cost: The basic rate is $8.60 per line per day 4- local texts. There are 25 letters, signs and spaces in the first line and 36 in the following lines. Minimum spaces is 2 fines. No obbetwictions conspiled, Credit Cards: American Express, Diner's Club, Eurocard, Master Card, Access and Visa.

HEAD OFFICE

Paris: 747-12-65.

Amsterdam; 26-36-15. Athens: 361-8397/360-2421. Brussels: 343-1899. Freeddorn: (0611) 72-67-55. Louveanne: 29-58-94.

Liebon: 67-27-93/66-25-44 London: [01] 836-4802. Madrid: 455-2871/455-3306. Rome: 679-3437.

New York: (212) 752-3890. OTHERS Copatown: 616-020. Tel Aviv: 03-455-559

na: Contact Frankfurt ANNOUNCEMENTS

SUBSCRIBE to the INTERNATIONAL HERALD

TRIBUNE AND SAVE.

As a new subscriber to the international Herald Tribune, you can save up to 42% of the newstand price, depends on your country of residence.

For details on this special introductory offer,

HT Subscriptions Department, 11, Avenue Charles-de-Geule, 200 Neully-sur-Seine, France. tel: Paris 747-12-65 ext. 305 IN ASIA AND PACIFIC ntact our local distributor ar:

CONWAY'S THANKSGIVING

DINNER
24th NOVEMBER - F120
COCICAL
3-COURSE TURKEY DINNER LIVE MUSIC
Reservations: 233 22 86
73 ree St Danis, Raris 1st BENEFIT BAZAAR Nov 18 3-7 pm / Nov 19 oil day arshing Holl, 49 r. P. Charron, Paris I VPW AUXELIARY BENEFIT

PECIAL PASTRY CLASSES Nov 22 -Dec 8, 5:30 - 8:30 pm. Lo Varenne Cooking School 705 10 16 Paris ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS in English deally. Paris: 634 59 65 UN N.Y. TIMES jet Euro-delivery. Kerzer: POB 2, 1000 Brussels, Belgum. AMERICA CALLING

MESSAGES FOR TRAVELERS .... PERSONALS

For the past 15 years

Propinter

Restores and Builds

Provence - Côte d'Azur : Bruno LAFOURCADE 8. bd Mirabeau - 13210 St Rémy Tél (90) 92.11.73

Périgord - Lot - Limousin : J.L. GIBON 10, rue des Cordeliers, B.P. 33 24103 Bergerac - Tél. (53) 57.53.75

: .. -

MOVING REAL ESTATE FOR SALE ANDORRA

ALLIED VAN LINES INTERNATIONAL

MIDDLE EAST OVER 1100 AGENTS IN 125 COUNTRIES Beirot: Honry 341457. FAR EAST PARIS Desbordes Interne Hong Kong: 5-420906. Singapore: 222-2725. Tokyo: 504-1925. GERMANY FRANKOURT Int'l Moving Services (0611) 250066 LM.S. DURSTRIDORF RATINGEN LM.S. (02102) 45023 MERRICH LASS. LM.S. LM.S.

UNITED STATES LMS Americans in Moving (OI) 953 3636 (089) 142244 LONDON HOLLAND OLLAND Nymon int'l BY (O10) 372255 Tony Bootin ANNOUNCEMENTS

GENEVA Veron, Grover S.A. (022) 32 64 40 CAIRO, Egypt Africa 631556 GENEVA U.S.A. Albed Von Lines Inf T Corp (0101) 312-681-8100

> INTERDEAN WHO ELSE FOR YOUR NEXT INTERNATIONAL MOVE

FOR A FREE ESTIMATE CALL (071) 89.92.24 872.18.58 462.31.11. (07241)46062 21.05.91 269.54.00 86.21.44. (06190)2001 43.85.30 961.41.41 471.24.30 (061)7072016 141.507.2016 141.507.2016 742.85.11 475.84.32 96.85.20 96.85.20 ATHENS: BARCELONA: BONN: BREMEN; BRUSSELS: ENEVA: ONDON-NADED SEDEL INTERNATIONAL MOVES ince 1850. Al Rossum 834 91 60 Ports ALPHA - TRANSIT - Flog. St. Honore -PARIS. Tel: 266 90 75. Sea and ar moving - Baggage to all countries.

REAL ESTATE POR MORE REAL ESTATE OPPORTUNITIES SEE PAGE 3

AUSTRIA AUSTRIA - VIENNA Lassury 2-bed room condo en historic center old city US$120,000. Precipals only, Somen feligrasse 17 / 11, tel: 52 64 17

BRAZIL MAGNIFICENT RUBAL MANSION FOR SALE

Magnificent rural monsion built in the XVIII century and forms with $1.60 sq.m., crossed by a brook and consected by powed way to Rio de Janeiro - two hours by cz. Dry chimato. Alfinche 550 meters. The main house hos 2242 sq.m. and is devided by a chappol. There is a sugar mill with 2400 sq.m. and other constructions measuring 1095 sq.m. It can be used as country house or adopted for hotel, motel or heres. The land is excellent for cultivation. Particuly familiar with XVIII centuries Brooked with XVIII centuries Brooked in 14 books on Brooking historic forms including the one by Saint Histor. State of conservation is good, requiring reforms and adoptations.

FOR SALE ANDORRA - PAS DE LA CASA furnished opartments for sole, all con-lions, 50m from slopes, from F 4000 per quru. SELING WHOLE BUILDING, new under construction, for 23 apart-ments or hotel. Conditions: 50% in 3 months, 50 % in 9 months, no interest, 4 years with interest. Seasonal rantols, fromocoars Consuegro, Corres Bearn, Pas De La Casa. Tel:16/07855007

SAINT TROPEZ Tel: morning (93) 50 23 40

GRAND CAYMAN ISLAND, BWIL [I hour flight from Mismal, Villa on fotbulous 7 mile beach, 2 bedroom with own both coch, modern listner, longe living room, oil airconditioned, completely furnished & fitted, tropical garden, Witshire, Singing Woods Rd., Norwolk, CT 06590 USA. Or telephone 203-846-4038, CORSICA CORSICA - "le de Beoute". Lorge villa, Two 135 sq.m. levels on 135 sq.m. levels on 135 sq.m. gerage. 2 bothstroms, 3 termoss. 1800 sq.m. glowded lond, outomosic well-ted sprinkter system. Private 12m X 6m pool. FI. J000,000. Telsmornings (59) 36 03 36 or write to Box. 787, Herald Tribune, 92521 Neuilly Cedex, France

FRENCH PROVINCES COTE D'AZUR

COTE D'AZUR
VERY NEAR THE OLD VILLAGE OF MOULANS SARTOUX
15 mins, from Comes, An difrocive and confortable modelm house, excellent reception rooms, 5 bedrooms, hoosted pool, should gorden and large parking, Fighly recommended and very restondably priced of F1,500,000 for freshold. Ref 1529, 50e opentix
JOHN TAYLOR S.A.
55 La Cronette
06400 CANNES
Tel: [573] 38 00 66. Telese 470921 F.

COTE D'AZUR BETWEEN NICE & CANNES, 15 mins from sea, spondous family villa on three levels high quotify modern construction with 2 reception rooms, 6 bedrooms of which 2 with private ferroce, 4 barhrooms, Lovely garden with large heated pool. Jocuszy, barbacas, bar, pizza oven etc., scane, Awat sel US 3315,000. Information from the English Estate Agents, SAF, 10 Ave de la Laberction, 06600 Antibes, France. Tel: [73] 33 60 33 Talest 970926.

RERNAY 27 1 hour 8.25 mins. from Soint-Lossons, 5 mins. SNCF station. Beguirful residence in 1.5ha park. Two 30 sq.m. solons, large country leident, 6 bedrooms, 3 behir cons, 2 WCs, study, laundry rooms, fuel central heating, criticallor, Possibility 12.5% credit. Price: F7,300,000. Tek [16-32] 43-45-32.

CANNES, SPLENDED PENTHOUSE
7 rooms, 220 sp.m., 70 sp.m., terroon.
Pongramic sea view. Terris, pool.
F4,500,000.
30 MINUTES CANNES
Charming Milope house, 200 sp.m., large living, 3 bedrooms, 2 boths. Spechaellar view. F1,000,000
ELIOTT - IMMOBILIER CANNES
[93]-43 12 37 France

SUPER CANNES Most attractive villa, set in beaufiful park, 300 sam, large reception, diring room, library, 8 moin bedraces with betwome an suite, staff quarters, tealed pool house, garaging facilities, all losterably decorated. Archic. Engistrative of Commes, 47 to Crosette, 104400 Connes. Tel: 673 38 19 19. COTIONAC (VAR), picturesque 17th century village, 70 km northwest of 51 Tropac. Delightful renovated 3rd floor, 3-room flat (70 sq.m.), original titled floor, Romantic roof terrors (20 sq.m.) with magaziners views. Large offic, half convented into spare from Estremely proceeds. Rore offer, F350,000. Tel: (2) 954 70 84 and 301 or Till (2) 28 94.

MRVATE TO PRIVATE, 11 hrs. center Toulouse in beautiful 8500 sq.m. park beautiful residence, well constructed 280 sq.m. 1-level house over cellor, 120 sq.m. Rited bosement. Garage. Perfect condition, Tel. (61) 85 20 25 Francis or write Box 813, Hered Tribune, 29221 Newley Cades, France SOUTHERN PLANCE Stone and Tile House, /4 acre, 3 bedracins, 3 bath-rooms, beautilul view, 5 miles from genera, 1910,000. Coll in Paris Mile, Ecot 561-95-42.

INTERNATIONAL CLASSIFIED REAL ESTATE REAL ESTATE FOR SALE CREAT BRITAIN FRENCH PROVINCES MODERN TRADITIONAL STONE bouse in 2 DOEs, 15 miles inlend St. Tropez, 4 double bedrooms, lorge solon/damp toom, limed latchen, po-roge, $133,000 or equivolent, Tel-UK (0965 77072 evenings, or write: Li-lle, All Souls College, Oxford, FARIAHOUSE & OUTBUILDINGS plus 3,88 payes in beautiful Welsh hills, yet close to Chester, £66,000. Tel-(097888) 286 UK, Lucurious villa, 300 sq.m. Exotic garden, 2000 sq.m. winaming pool, near beaches. pine tree clotted piece of land 2,300 sq.m. Contact Box 48244, IHT, 63 Long Acre, London WCZ. ATTRACTIVE PRICE in residential orea North of Alhers. Lixurious villa, 7 bedrooms, large receptions, veran-dus, garden, Mrs Parthers, 143 BM Michel, 75005 Pare, Tet, 747 05 43

BETWEEN NICE ARPORT 8 Rose track, superb 2 bedroom apartment sea, front, double exposition, equapped intone, private parting $75,000. Calle (93) 20 71 03. ATHENS, Studio flat, centrally locar-ed. Tel-Landon B41 55 03 ofter 6pm. GRAND CORNECTE, 7 km Nice and 15 km Monoco, 400m afritude, 300 sp.m. villa, 25m long pool, 2 stubles, 1 grotto, 5000 sp.m. park, Writes B.P. 18, Orop 06680 France, In, Drop Good France,
FINE COLLECTION. 5000 sq.m., in few properties, 32 hg, by owner, fundation verw, on 51 Tropez goff to be con-structed, Write to: S.A.G. 32, rue Cepoun de 5t Morrin 83970 St Tropez

GREAT BRITAIN CONDON - USUAL TYPE oportment 30 minutes cirport, 20 minutes Wes End, fontosits views over Thomes from private terrace and gardens, bads, 2 bothrooms, indoor swimming pool and surva, portion, Private soil 595,000, Tel 01-385 SZES, Th. 99435 PIBSTIGIOUS PERIOD residence with office fucilities, freehold, central Lor-don, deal as a London base for over-seus company, 597,502. Contact Barri-ley 8, Partners, 138 Bromaton Rd., London SW3. Tak 01-581 8977.

INVESTMENTS

to import-export any product in any part of the world. Latters of credit issued from mojor banks. Call us: 301-8651577 Telex (Arhens): 221187 DEMO GR

BUSINESS

OPPORTUNITIES

16%

PER ANNUM AND MORE GUARANTEED 5 YEARS YOUR BEST INFLATION HEDGE III BROCHINES TO INCURRES WITH PHONE NUMBERS ONLY

LANDLESS

CONTAINERS LTD Comberley GU15 38Y England Tel: 0276-682011 (24 hove) Yelaxx 858997 LANCON G

GLIARANTEED OIL ROYALTY $5,000,000 to $5,000,000

BISLAND, the embantment pub, Duti-lin, Internationally renowned for its neutral and theorical entertainment, retaining buildings, 21,500 syft, on 8% acres, Francisco potential, auction Tues. 29 November, Further details Allen & Townsend, 10 St. Stephens Green, Dublin, Tel-710033. ITALY TUSCAN RETREAT. Converted 15th costury chapse and presbytary, 6/7 rooms, central heat, 15 mas, from Rorance in Chiant, For details write Signore Gionnetti, P.O. Box 9, Merco-

PARIS & SUBURBS

SUMPTUOUS 340 Sq.M. DELCASSE 359 99 50 MARAIS. Heart of Ports. 2 to 5 bed-room operments for sole in a special XVIIIn century townhouse. Completely renovated, from $150,000. Signific, 231 rus $1 Honore, Ports 75001, Tel-296 63 33. ST GERMAIN BN LAYE. Center, own or sets levely villa on 1700 sam Living space - 200 sam., oil comforts Tel. 724 59 97 (other 8pm) so,m., both, kitchen, Superb 326 1341 cm., No ogencies.

COURSEVOIE (NEXILLY): Superb BOULOGNE (AVE V. HUGO): Small studio overlooking garden, 647 52 82. F1,300,000. Call 788 92 60. International Business Message Center ATTENTION BUSINESSMEN: Publish your business message in the International Herald Tribune, where more than a third of a million readers worldteide, most of whom are in business and industry, will read it. Just telex us (Paris 613595) before 10 a.m., ensuring that we can telex you back, and your message will appear within 48 hours. The rate is U.S. $3.60 or local equivalent per line. You must include complete and verifiable billing address.

DIAMONDS

DIAMONDS

DIAMOPRIS

Tour best buy,
Fine diamonds in any price range of lowest wholesale prices direct from Antwerp center of the discread world, Full guarantee.
For free price let write Jeachine Goldenstein diamonds uport
Established 1928
Pelikoarstroot 62, 8-2000 Antwerp
Belgium. Tel; $2, 3, 234 07 5)
The 71777 syl b. At the Diamond Outs.
Heart of the Antwerp Diamond industry

OFFICE SERVICES

HAVE YOUR OWN OFFICE IN W. GERMANY by moking use of our office service
Hartmann Representative Genich
Tel: (0) 6196-481709. The 417739

YOUR OFFICE IN PARES: TELEX ANSWERING SERVICE, secretary, errords, molitour, live 241/day, Yel, PAT: 609 95 95.

PARIS ADDRESS, Champs-Bysess. Since 1957 I.S.P. provides mail, prome, tales, meeting rooms. 5 R. d'Artois, Be. Tel 359 4704 Th. 642504.

PHONE/TELEX. Execution, Sales 66, 87 Regent St., W1. Tel.: 459 7094.

BUSINESS SERVICES OPPORTUNITIES WELCOME TO GERMANY
ALL-ROUND SERVICE GROUP
Can made you prove to the Franklart ones the smoothest over through their
Real Estate Service
Relocation Service
Relocation Service
Temporary Housing
Temporary Housing
Temporary Office Service
ESTAL LANGENBACH
Lindensies 2, 6380 Bod Homburg
GERMANY, TBL: (0) 6172-33764 DUNN & HARGITT Experts in International Portfolio Management INVESTMENT OPPORTUNITIES COMMODITIES,

Proven track record of high record mack record or lagra-capital growth.

Clients accounts audited.

All casets deposited with major international investment banks.

Over 20 years experience.

Monthly performance statement ACT NOW Write for free brochure to Dunn 8. Harget Research S.A. Dept. A8346 Ave Loyd George 6, Bre 5 1050 Brussels, Belgium. Tel: (02) 640 32 80 Telso: 64978 DUNN-8

CURRENCIES & GOLD

Restricted in Belgium. HORIZON HOLDINGS LTD A unique open-ended commodity fund will hold seminors at the SHERATON HOTEL in the following places of 10cm Moundeer December 20 Frankfurt December 2 Anasterium December 5 HORIZONS 2000 is seeing BROWES

so offer a unique investment opportunity in provious present opportunity in provious contactifure with exceptional growth over the medium and long term, Projections forses on income progressing story and aventually exceeding 50% per commin. It continues for decodes. First investment phase of encody completed on schedule. Minimum investment 512,500. Medium of covalidable in this plant, French, German, or Antalic. Write: GLOBE PLAN SA,

24 Are Mon Rippox,

1005 Lausonne, Switzerland,

Tel. (21) 22 35 12. Telesc 25185. Contact Globe Plan SA, Av. Mon-Repos 24, 1005 Lautonne, Switzerland Tal (21) 22 35 12 Tix 25185 Mails CH

$300,000 to $5,000,000
Overnicing poyely under development of walls to be drilled. Each unit comiss from option to resell reyally to company or full purchase price withing 48 manitus, Secured by irrevocable latter of credit. Additional capital never required, Full details upon recuest, Non-Usand, Full details upon recuest. Non-Usand Full details upon recuest. ATTENTION INVESTORS. Discover the best investreants in two dops volstile economic directs. These twest-ment opportunities have better necords then gold, sourniles, or ned estate. Write: The Research Institute, 2527 North Conton St, Carson Gy, Nevode, USA 89701, Send US$50 for full information.

REAL ESTATE REAL ESTATE FOR SALE FOR SALE PARIS & SUBURBS SPAIN B'ARCELONA-NORTH ILE ST LOUIS In historic building, 140 sq.m., 2 bedrooms, goroge, view on Saint SANTANDREA, 20 Pl. VENDOM PARIS 1st, TEL: 260 67 36 COAST mphous California mansion with Sompanous Contor that managery was sup-perb views of mediterranean yeart dub and modusive golf course, 600 sq.m., includes 6 spacous bedrooms, 7 bath-rooms, family room and 2 level marble living room with irreplace, Servonts secritors, twimming a book, horner and ke ground. Completely in FINCAS INITER KATHY NUNEZ Copino America 22.24 Tal: (34.3) 203 13 04 Barcelona - Spain bedrooms, 2 boths, 2-car garage. Call (1) 736 33 92. SCHARE LAMARTINE

JAVEA, SPAIN. SUPERS HOUSE of 280 sq.m. with flot, swimming pool, secleded gorden. £63,000, flut Broch. 12 Sandford St, Chellenham, England. $74,000. Pecitiouse $37,000. Bo 360% Modrid. Tel 2707081 SWITZERLAND

MORGENS, PORTES DU SOLEIL. Aportments, 2% and 3½ rooms, for sole to non-residents in top condominism, in heart of world's greatest sld domaine. Borgain prices, mortgages evolichte of two Swiss rotes. Costad Ed Evol., Mer-co Assoc. Hendersonville, N.C. 28739 U.S. or Jouns Philippar, CH-1162 Sonti-Pres. Tek (921) 76 17 28.

NEAR MONTREUX, FOREIGNESS can buy lots of 800 sq.m. from $548,000. Choide from $7510,000. Apartments from about $7100,000. Mortgages 70% of 60% interest. Ade. FC-IMM/CBILER-SA, Tour Grose 6, 1007 Lausanne. Tel-21/25 26 11

LAUSANNE-CHARLY
An exceptional opportunity for Swiss resident to ecquire lecentres flet, 164 sq.m., plus 25 sq.m. ferroce, 3 bad-rooms, as built-in closets, safe, specious living room, dining room, 25 botts, fally equipped littices, carpets, dropes, 2 telephone lines, heated garage, cellor and leandry room. Record to move in, Price $556,000. Montgage if required avoidable, for inquires, please write to:

CP. 231, 1000 Lausanne-Chaily 12.

VAL PROMOTION S.A. 10 Ave du Midi CH-1990 Sian, Switzerland Tek 01041/22/23 34 95.

THE SWISS SPECIALISTS. We have a complete range of vilias, choicts and apartments in over 50 locations throughout Switzerland, including lugane, Location, St Martiz, Montroux, Viliars, Crans Hontona, Verbiar, Champes-Loc & Leysia, Contact Hilary Scott Ltd, 422 Upper Edward West, London SWIA, Tel: 01-876 6556. Taker 9734386.

N.Y.C. HOTEL BARGAIN

Tal. (212) 764-5500. Teles: 425-918 CPH.

HOLIDAYS and TRAVEL

HOTELS LOW COST FLIGHTS GREAT BRITAIN GORE HOTE, LONDON, a great fo-vorite with the decriminating invester, 10 minutes West End. All rooms with color TV, barrhoon, radio, direct did telephone. Singles from £33. Twins from £36. Telephone 01 584 6601. Telex. 296244 prefix Gore, 189 Guesn's Gots, Landon SW7. ARIS-NEW YORK

1 way F1890 ($240)
return F2990 ($375)
twery Solvedry extension is LA.
and Frices. TRANS ARI
Tel: Puris 522 20 20. FROM PAIRS TO THE USA: New York round trip F2570, 1 way F1870; West Coast round trip F6570, 1 way firom sessel F7750, Also deporture from London, Brussels 8. Lovembourg, HS-TOUR: 274 24 44 Poris. PHILIPPINES ADMIRAL HOTEL, 2138 Rosos Blvd., Malche, Marillo, Philippines, Taleo. 74240488 ADHOTEL PM. Cable AD-MTEL Manilla. 110 rooms, Facing Ma-nilla Buy and its surests. Tel: 572081/95.

DARLY FUGHTS to New York, From US$325 return. Chicogo, US$380 re-turn. Colf Antwerp 2339800. Telesco 72680. VEW YORK one way $220, LA $30 confirmed seats from Landan. Te Landon 734 8100. THIS AD + $21,00 per person, double occupancy, entitles you to red value in New York, Next been by CBNUEY, PABAMCUNT HOTEL, 255 West 46th Sinest, N.Y.C. 10036, convenient Theorems, everything, 650 rooms with both, IV, oir conditioning, Singles, $38, Reserve now. This is a "sleeper" in every series. HOLIDAYS & TRAVEL

CHARTER A YACHT IN GREECE. Direct from owner of longer finet. American mongement. Beatlens crews, govt. bonded. Volet Yock, Aldi Therestoldsous 22C. Froses, Greece. Tel. 4529571, 4529485. The 27-2000, USA offices for Road, Ambler, PA 19002. Tel. 215, 641 1624. FOR MORE HOLDAY & TRAVEL PLEASE TURN TO PAGE 8W IN THE WEEKIND SECTION HELLAS YACHTING. Yecht Charter Academics 25, Athens 134, Greece.

HOTELS AUSTRIA INT'L STYLING & COSMETICS. Hotel Interconfinential, tel: Yienna 72 81 22. Hotel Hillan, tel: Vienna 75 41 21. FRANCE

NEW, 15TH, Porte de Versoilles. Sociol introduction offer until April 30, 1983. Studies 263 recome. Publy equipped librides. 30% discount for one week and up, 30% for one month and up. Potoble 46, r. d'Oradour-tur-Glone 15th. Telc554 97 56.

. 1

REAL ESTATE REAL ESTATE FOR SALE FOR SALE SWITZERLAND NEW RESIDENTIAL PROPERTY HUM government subsidized Left Bank Canton Genera foreign investors per-mitted tosh Sfr 2.1 million Yield 4.2% SUNNY SWITZERLAND LAKE LUGANO Lefeside opertments in the widdle of beoutiful park with swimming pool, ow landing stoges. First quality equipment liber freighous, dayer terrones, build-likhers, etc. Prices from SF4S3900 GOV troritgages with leading Swis benics at low interest rates, Please as for our color leaffest.

EMERALD HOME LTD.

Vio G, Cattori 3
CH-6900 Lugano-Paradiso
Tel: Switzerland 91-542913. net agents obstain. Write under R 18-115520 P.O.S. Publicites, CH-1211 Various oportments to sell to non-Swiss, 1 to 4 bedrooms. Splender, view, Prios from S74,000. Ask for information, Tel; 0041-72 / 64 18 18. USA GENERAL PRIVATE ISLAND Crans-Montona / Thyon / Les Collons / St Luc Vos d'Annivers. Fluis and chalets 25 to 150 sq.m., 1 to 5 rooms / Cradit 60% / Internet rate & 57% / Duration 15 years. Owners-Builders / Direct sole.

PREVAILE ISLAND
The althorate retreat.
Enchanting island of 4 acres in the Florida Keys. White beaches, polms, dear Coom waters. Facturesque 5-bedroof lodge, guest bouse, authorate utilities from mainland. Location of formous movie, T-109. Retreat of two former U.S. president. Unsuccided fating, soling, dwing on coral reaf. Never a frost. Owners must sell in 1963.
Auting $1,950,000.
Contact Mrs. Wollcoe, Brudley Realtors, Box $547, Marathan, Fl. $3050. Tel: $05-743-9453.

NEW YORK, NEW YORK Quality real estate available for sale in New York City and surrounding vicinity. For further into write: ANDREW H. GOLDBERG 250 West 57th St_/C New York, N.Y. 10019, U.S.A.

PYTDE PARK, N.Y. Attention land developers & investors. Scene 487 cores with lakes, Ideal for residential development. In heart of 85M country in high-growth Durchess Country. Will sell entire or solected parcels. Seller financing available. Serious inquiries places write, P.O. Box 92219, Milwaulee, W. 53202 USA. Ine., W 53202 USA.
NORTHEASTEIN CALIFORNIA.
25,000 desded acres. Cottle and officifor ranch. Abundant water. Creaks.
Reservoirs, Barns. Shops. Good housing. Excellent wild flow! shooting. U.S.
$18,000,000. Cell or write. Pat Bernard, 1807 Martes St., San Francisco,
CA 94/103 USA. Tal: 415-863-3100

CENTRAL CALIF. ALMONDS and walnuts. 1500 acres. $11 million. 415-864-5577 or 209-439-5514. 4653 19th St., Son Francisco, CA 94114. USA RESIDENTIAL

THE MOST BEAUTIFUE, expensive ocacun-record crace in the world. 48 Been beautiful wooded cores in Southern, the world, A. A. engineering, surveys, lessing wells, first wells, legad, zoning corellation of the corporate of the core completed correlation of the corporate of the core of the c

METRO NEW YORK AREA? R. Plater Smith, PREPERED PROPERTIES? Red Estate, will be ovalidate of the Goldener Hirsch Hotel, Saldburg, Austria, Nov. 21-22 for consultation on home buying & financing in the CT. N.Y. and N.L. commister areas. Cell for information or appointment 06222-41511.

PAGES 19 &16# FOR MORE CLASSIFIEDS

SECONDARY TEACHER ELEMENTARY / PRIMARY TEACHER The Angiophone Section (110 students 6-16)

COLLEGE INTERNATIONAL DE FONTAINEBLEAU college international DE FontaineBLEAU

a) SECONDARY TEACHER (to become HEAD Of SECTION) to teach English and History to bilingual students or Secondary level, and to be responsible for the administration and development of the section a coademic programme;
b) ELEMENTARY/PRIMARY TEACHER to teach English to bilingual students, and to assist in curriculum development consideration for both posts should have considerable teaching experience (preferably in international schools), and should have coording to qualifications and experience.

Assistations Including toil Civ., phase after the according to qualifications of the arms at the according to qualifications of the arms at the according to the coording to the coordinate the coordinate coordinates and the coordinate coordinates are considered to the coordinates and the coordinates are considered to the coordinates a

Applications Inducting full CV., phate plur the names of two return should be sent by 30 Newsuber total, to the Ampleptone Section, 16 roe by Children, 77300 Pentulnableou, Pussos, Tel.; (6) 422.87.7

مكذامن الأصل

Imprimé par Offprint, 73 rue de l'Evangile, 75018 Paris.